

SECOND GAME OF WORLD'S SERIES

WITH ANTWERP TAKEN
GERMANS PLAN ADVANCE

Kaiser's Troops to Sweep Over Northern France With Object of Taking Possession of Channel Ports and Then Attack England

LONDON, Oct. 10.—Antwerp, the last and the strongest citadel of Belgium, has fallen before the rain of huge shells which the Germans began throwing into the city at midnight of last Wednesday. The civilian population of the city has in large part fled, the seat of the Belgian government has been moved to Ostend and the Germans are in occupation.

Because of the chaotic conditions during the past few days in the beleaguered city and the interruption of telegraphic communication there has been much delay in the transmission of news from Antwerp to England. Nevertheless, England has been expecting and discounting the fall of the Belgian position and newspapers are speculating on what strategic use the Germans will make of it now it is in their hands.

The battle line in France is now so long, forming as it does, a rough curve 550 miles long, from Lorraine to the Belgian frontier, that the battle line along the operations before Antwerp had become so closely knit as to be from the military viewpoint inseparable.

The hope of the allies to deliver a crushing blow against the German army in France before the occupation of Antwerp by the enemy is now a thing of the past. The German right wing under General Von Kluck apparently is still intact and the official communication given out in Paris last night recorded no change, merely stating that there was sharp fighting in the region of Ypres, nearly 100 miles south of the northern extremity of the fighting line, where opposing bodies of cavalry were almost within sight of the North sea.

Commenting on the situation in Belgium before it was known officially that Antwerp actually had fallen, English newspapers asked this morning with optimism what the conquerors were going to do with Antwerp now they had it, particularly in view of the fact that it is conceded that no fort can stand against artillery such as is used in modern warfare.

Despatches attempting to analyze the German plan of campaign with Antwerp in their hands declare that the Germans purpose is to sweep over northern France with the object of taking possession of the channel ports and thus bring the warfare nearer England. It is said here that German newspapers are predicting the use of this northern Belgian position as a base for operations against England.

All reports agreed that the Germans entered Antwerp by way of the sub-urban Berchem.

With Antwerp taken the Germans will now be able to detach the considerable force used during the siege of the city and transfer the men to their right wing, near the French-Belgian frontier, which has been so sorely pressed.

The moral effect of the fall of Antwerp is not minimized in England. The city was called by Napoleon "a pistol pointing at the heart of England." The city long has been one of the greatest seaports of Europe, resembling in a sense, Liverpool and the River Mersey.

It is estimated here there are no fewer than 100,000 Germans in Belgium today.

There is nothing new this morning in the eastern arena of the war. The reports that the Austrians fortress of Przemyśl is on fire lack confirmation. The Austrians insist that the Russians before this position are being repulsed.

GINGRAS INQUEST HELD

The inquest on the death of Charles Gingras which was scheduled for nine o'clock this morning was delayed for two hours owing to the fact that Judge Enright, senior justice of the local court, and Judge Pickman, the associate justice sitting at the inquest, wished to visit the scene of the Gingras tragedy.

The two judges went to the beam house of the American Hide and Leather Co., where Gingras was murdered and minutely inspected the premises. Every possible factor which might have entered into the Gingras case was taken into consideration by the two judges.

Shortly after eleven o'clock Judge Enright convened police court, while Judge Pickman sat on the inquest. The inquest was private and no one except the witnesses was allowed in the court room. Among those summoned to testify at the inquest are the three workmen who were in the building at the time Gingras was assaulted. The two workmen who found the dying man, Medical Examiner Meigs, Officer Crowe, Captain Brosnan, Lieut. Freeman and several others were on hand when the inquest opened. All of the witnesses were not examined today and the inquest was continued until Tuesday morning.

BRAVES CONFIDENT OF MAKING IT TWO STRAIGHT

Athletics Aver That "There Will be a Different Tale After Today's Game" Tyler May Pitch for the National League Champs—Very Cloudy and Damp in Philadelphia This Morning

Philadelphia, Oct. 10.—The weather this morning was very cloudy and damp with indications that light rain might fall during the second world's series baseball game this afternoon between the Boston Nationals and Philadelphia Athletics.

A south wind blew the haze and clouds away shortly after 10 o'clock and the sun came out to the great joy of the fans. The day promised to be warmer than yesterday. There was a greater crowd about Shibe park in the morning hours than clamored for admission to the first game.

BRAVES CONFIDENT

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 10.—With one victory safely tucked away the Boston Braves met the Philadelphia Athletics in the second game of the world's series today with added confidence and a determination to make it two straight. The Athletics although defeated in the initial struggle, were equally determined to even the series. "There will be a different tale after today's game," was the common expression of the Athletics and this seemed to be the feeling generally amongst the supporters of the present world's champions. Many of the fans backed their expressions of confidence with moderate sized wagers at odds of ten to eight that the Athletics would take the series. Before yesterday's game the prevailing odds were much higher, many bets being placed at eight to five and two to one.

Boston Supporters Happy

Boston supporters were in a happy mood last night. While they were in the minority around the hotels and cafes their enthusiasm made up for what they lacked in numbers. "Four straight," was their slogan but they would be unable to use the high priced wagers that the Braves would be the victors. "Tessie," the famous song of the Royal Rooters echoed through the downtown section of the city well into the night while groups of the rooters were noticed at many hotels discussing the individual work of each member of their favorite team, that of Rudolph and Gowdy coming in for particular praise. Others were speculating on the pitchers for today's game. The general opinion was that Manager Stallins would send the Lowell boy, Tyler, to the mound, while it was believed that Connie Mack's choice would be Eddie Plank, a veteran of several world's championship series.

Bender's Defeat Hard Blow

Philadelphia fans took the chafing flung at them by the Boston contingent good naturedly and pointed to the fact that three years ago the Athletics lost the first game to the Giants and afterward won the championship easily. Bender's defeat was especially disappointing to local fans, as they had counted on him as a sure winner. It was generally admitted, however, that even if the Indian pitcher had been at his best it would have been difficult to beat the Braves with Rudolph working as he did and the other members of the team backing him up at every stage of the game.

There seemed to be little doubt in the minds of any of the Athletics' followers that if Manager Mack saw fit to use Plank today sundown would find the series tied at one game each. Expressions of satisfaction in the showing made by Plank, a more youth, during the game, were heard. The Indians he pitched for the Mack men yesterday were heard on every side.

Youngsters to Get Chance

Bressler, another youngster who has been coached by Plank and has shown great effectiveness during the regular American league season with a cross fire delivery similar to that of his tutor, was considered a likely pitching selection for one of the contests. Shawkey, a third member of Mack's youngsters, was picked by the Athletics to secure actively in the fight for the stellar championship of 1914.

The ticket speculating fraternity won a legal victory when habeas corpus proceedings forced the release of those arrested for vending admission tickets yesterday. Few tickets for today's game, however, were in the hands of the speculators when the hour for the staging of the contest arrived. Many purchasers secured bargains in tickets yesterday when at the last moment they were unable to use the high priced tickets. Everyone who had a ticket today seemed determined to use it to see the game or had friends who would.

The builders of miniature grandstands on house-tops overlooking the grounds also started in a legal set-to with the police and building inspectors when it was discovered that they could not be forced to tear down their stands.

Stallins to Change Lineup

Interest in the series seemed accentuated, if that were possible, by the victory of the Braves. Before yesterday's game was ended a new line had been started outside the bleacher entrance in anticipation of today's game. At nightfall scores of determined fans were in the line, which increased until early today. Thousands were in the vicinity of Shibe Park anxiously awaiting the opening of the gates and an opportunity to purchase bleacher seats.

All were curious whether the batteries of Bender would be as potent when opposing the baffling cross fire of Plank, who is expected to start on the mound in an effort to even up the series. In anticipation of the slugging of Plank by Alexander Mack, however, Stallins announced a change in his lineup, putting in several hitters who are more effective against left-handed pitchers.

Most of the enthusiasm at yesterday's game was supplied by the Boston visitors. In the grand stand the greater part of the spectators looked with polite surprise at the manner in which the former cellarites hammered the offerings of the supposedly invincible Bender and when the Indian was forced to leave the game many expressions of sympathy were heard. Even supporters of the beaneaters felt for the hero of former series when Mack was forced to disregard precedent and pull him from the mound.

CHILD DROWNED THE SUN SERVICE

Louis Hionakos, Eight Years Old, Fell Into Canal From Bridge Simultaneously With Those in Shibe Park

While leaning over the railing of the Market street bridge last evening, eight-year-old Louis Hionakos, son of Mr. and Mrs. Pterros Hionakos of Dummer street, fell into the waters of the Suffolk canal and was drowned before residents of that vicinity heard of the accident. A search for the body was begun by Undertaker Albert, but it was not recovered and the search was resumed this morning.

Several children who were sailing small boats in the canal were the only witnesses of the drowning. They claim that Louis was sitting on the bridge railing watching the boats sail about when he suddenly lost his balance and fell onto the banking and then into the water. The boys did not realize the danger of the situation and failed to notify the men who were gathered about the stores in upper Market street. When he failed to appear, however, the news was spread, but it was then too late to save the boy's life. Several volunteers dragged the canal, but their efforts were fruitless.

Louis was the only child of Mr. and Mrs. Pterros Hionakos, the former a well known Market street barber.

BODY FROM RIVER

IDENTIFIED TODAY AS THAT OF WILLIAM GAUTHIER OF SWIFT STREET

The body of the unknown man found floating in the Merrimack river late yesterday afternoon has been identified as that of William Gauthier, aged 30 years of 33 Swift street, this city. Gauthier was reported missing about a week ago and all efforts on the part of the police and relatives to locate him were fruitless. A description of the man found floating in the river tallied with that of Gauthier and last night a brother of the missing man, Fred J. Gauthier of this city, identified the body at a Lawrence morgue. Deceased was a weaver by trade and was a member of Court St. Antoine, C. O. P. He is survived by three sisters and a brother.

THE R. I. PROGRESSIVES

TWO FACTIONS OF PARTY HAVE CANDIDATES—HUGHES MEN TO CARRY FIGHT TO THE COURTS

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Oct. 10.—Progressives led by Albert H. Hughes, the party candidate for governor in 1912, arranged today for state and congressional conventions tonight. Another faction of the progressives made nominations a week ago. The Hughes men planned to endorse republican candidates. They announced their intention of carrying to the courts the fight to decide which of the progressive tickets should be placed on the ballots.

MOTHERS—GET BUSY

Mothers: You can get a barrel of apples free for the family use with every boy's suit or overcoat at $5 or upwards you buy at the Merrimack Clothing Co. today. If you're not ready to buy today, visit the Merrimack and secure an option for Saturday of next week.

Hank Gowdy had hardly put his foot on second base in the second inning of yesterday's Philadelphia-Braves game in Philadelphia, when several hundred fans standing with eyes riveted on the distributing end of The Sun's big megaphone in Merrimack square, were cheering him lustily. Of course Hank couldn't hear the cheering at that distance, but he was the object of treatment from the assembled Lowell fans, as did the Rabbit a moment later when he scored Hank with his single across second. Strange as it may seem the fans in Lowell were cheering simultaneously with those in Shibe park, 350 miles away. The Sun's service on the game yesterday could not be improved upon for speed and accuracy. Within the short space of a minute the plays that occurred in Philadelphia were made known to the crowd in Merrimack square from the beginning until the last man was out, and then before the crowd had time to get away from The Sun building, the baseball extra with the full score was being circulated among them by an army of hustling newsboys.

The crowd in Merrimack square received the news of the different plays before thousands of people right in the city of Philadelphia, through the medium of The Sun, and the same excellent service will be given throughout the series. Get down to The Sun building before the game starts so as to follow each play for the megaphone artist opens up the moment the umpires announce: "The batteries for today are, etc." and he is continually on the job until the last man is out, while directly under him an energetic youth keeps you posted by means of a blackboard on the score by innings and the hits, runs and errors. Immediately after the game The Sun baseball extra comes out with a complete story in detail of the game together with interesting gossip thereof. Later this week edition comes out, with not only complete account of the game, but also the official box score. Come down and hear the returns and get a copy of The Sun's baseball extra at the conclusion of the game.

ST. MARGARET'S PARISH

WILL HOLD CONCERT AND DANCE ON MONDAY EVENING—PROGRAM OF CONCERT

St. Margaret's church will hold a concert and dance in Lincoln hall on Monday evening, Oct. 12, and from the interest being shown throughout the parish and, in fact, throughout the city, a real good time is anticipated. The concert program is as follows: Selections by the orchestra, songs by Joseph Egan, Vera Moody, Richard Donohue, Linwood Knapp and Anna Latham; piano solo by Louis N. Guitabait; character dance by Miss Ethel Howard; and an exhibition of the modern dances by Miss L. Blanche Ferrin. Following the concert, general dancing will be enjoyed until midnight. William E. Honessy will be chairman of the evening.

INJURED BY FALL

Patrick McMahon of 5 Fulton place was taken to St. John's hospital in the ambulance this forenoon suffering from a slight scalp wound which he sustained as a result of a fall in Central street, near William street. After the injury was dressed the man was removed to his home. Witnesses of the accident say that McMahon was standing against a post and suddenly fell, striking his head on the curb.

INDUSTRIAL AND STORE NEWS

Mr. H. J. Whately, agent of the Lowell Bleachery, is enjoying a few weeks' vacation.

John King of the Barry Shoe Co. has proven himself a very efficient secretary at the V. M. C. I.

Lowell Has to Bow to the Inevitable—Scores of Citizens Prove It.

After reading the public statement of this representative citizen of Lowell given below, you must come to this conclusion: A remedy which proved so beneficial years ago with the kidneys, can naturally be expected to perform the same work in similar cases. Read this:

Mrs. William Cornfield, 86 Rock St., Lowell, says: "My back troubled me so much that I could hardly do my housework. I had a dull, nagging ache across my loins and it was hard for me to dress. My kidneys were sore and the kidney secretions caused me annoyance. I finally got Doan's Kidney Pills at the Jaynes Drug Co. and they removed the backache and lameness and regulated the kidney action. I can now do my work with ease. We think highly of Doan's Kidney Pills. We may publish my former endorsement of them."

AT THE ARMORY

Notes of the Military Companies—Battalion Night Oct. 16

The local militia companies will hold a battalion night on Oct. 16. The affair will be held at the armory and all interested in military maneuvers are invited to be present. Capt. Alexander Greig, Jr., U. S. A., will give an interesting lecture on military courtesy.

Company C will give an exhibition of wagon loading, while Company G will give a demonstration of wall scaling. The battalion drill will be carried out by Company K, while Company M will also prepare a number for the program.

Tomorrow morning a tactical walk will be held by Companies C, G and K of the Sixth regiment. The men must be prepared to leave Merrimack square at 5.45 a. m. on the electric for Wilmington, where the Lowell men will be met by Company L. The men will wear their olive drab uniforms, campaign hats and overcoats, should the weather require. The men are also requested to take along notebooks and pencils. Tewksbury will be the objective point, and the theoretical defense of Lowell in case of a supposed attack will be gone into. Company M is invited to participate in the walk.

MUSICIANS ON PARADE

Some 30 or 40 local musicians, all members of the Lowell Musicians' union, held a parade in this city last night and supplied the many spectators with delightful music. A large group of small boys carrying torches, escorted the musicians through the various streets of the city. The men wore their regular regalia, and they made a fine showing.

FOR MAYOR OF SALEM

OPPOSERS OF MAYOR HURLEY INDORSE MATHIAS J. O'KEEFE—JOSEPH E. DALEY CHOSEN

SALEM, Oct. 10.—Joseph E. Daley, a shoe manufacturer of this city, was elected permanent chairman of the Better Government Association at a meeting in the Mercantile building last evening and David V. O'Keefe, a leather manufacturer, was indorsed for mayor.

The Better Government association was organized for the purpose of conducting a campaign for the recall of John F. Hurley as mayor. It has the indorsement of the Citizens' League, which was instrumental in securing the signatures of 150 voters who desire the recall of Mayor Hurley. The names of 300 additional voters must be secured before the petition is filed with the city clerk.

Mr. O'Keefe said last evening that he was not anxious to be a candidate but was willing to accept if no other could be found. "I want to impress upon the people of Salem," he said, "that I am absolutely opposed to the present condition of affairs in the city government. The salary of mayor does not appeal to me, but I am willing to lead if necessary."

MAYOR HURLEY

Officially Declare He Does Not Interfere With Appointments in Police and Fire Departments

SALEM, Oct. 10.—Mayor Hurley will continue as supervisor of the police and fire departments. This decision was made by the city council yesterday, after considering an order submitted by Director Lally that the mayor had interfered with police and fire appointments.

Patrick J. Lahan, city marshal, and William O. Arnold, chief engineer, denied emphatically that the mayor had interfered in any way in appointments made in the police and fire departments. Director Lally said among other things that Michael J. Trainor was discharged as a driver in the fire department because of objections made by Mayor Hurley and that Patrolman Osoewski was made a regular officer to satisfy the police officers, notwithstanding the other reserve officers were entitled to promotion.

Mr. Lally next cited the cases of Richard Hart, Robert J. Giffin and Terrence J. Nolan to show that they should have been considered for promotion. A man named Begley, who was a driver in the fire department, was the best fitted for the position. Robert J. Giffin informed the city council that the chief engineer would have given him the appointment had he "had the power." In reply to all questions asked by Mr. Lally regarding interference of the Mayor Chief Arnold and City Marshal Lahan replied by denials.

Lally's order was defeated, 4 to 1. Mr. Lally voting in favor of adoption and Mayor Hurley, Charles H. Danforth, Wallace L. Gifford and Patrick J. Kelley against.

Lowell Has to Bow to the Inevitable—Scores of Citizens Prove It.

After reading the public statement of this representative citizen of Lowell given below, you must come to this conclusion: A remedy which proved so beneficial years ago with the kidneys, can naturally be expected to perform the same work in similar cases. Read this:

Mrs. William Cornfield, 86 Rock St., Lowell, says: "My back troubled me so much that I could hardly do my housework. I had a dull, nagging ache across my loins and it was hard for me to dress. My kidneys were sore and the kidney secretions caused me annoyance. I finally got Doan's Kidney Pills at the Jaynes Drug Co. and they removed the backache and lameness and regulated the kidney action. I can now do my work with ease. We think highly of Doan's Kidney Pills. We may publish my former endorsement of them."

AT THE ARMORY

Notes of the Military Companies—Battalion Night Oct. 16

The local militia companies will hold a battalion night on Oct. 16. The affair will be held at the armory and all interested in military maneuvers are invited to be present. Capt. Alexander Greig, Jr., U. S. A., will give an interesting lecture on military courtesy.

Company C will give an exhibition of wagon loading, while Company G will give a demonstration of wall scaling. The battalion drill will be carried out by Company K, while Company M will also prepare a number for the program.

Tomorrow morning a tactical walk will be held by Companies C, G and K of the Sixth regiment. The men must be prepared to leave Merrimack square at 5.45 a. m. on the electric for Wilmington, where the Lowell men will be met by Company L. The men will wear their olive drab uniforms, campaign hats and overcoats, should the weather require. The men are also requested to take along notebooks and pencils. Tewksbury will be the objective point, and the theoretical defense of Lowell in case of a supposed attack will be gone into. Company M is invited to participate in the walk.

MUSICIANS ON PARADE

Some 30 or 40 local musicians, all members of the Lowell Musicians' union, held a parade in this city last night and supplied the many spectators with delightful music. A large group of small boys carrying torches, escorted the musicians through the various streets of the city. The men wore their regular regalia, and they made a fine showing.

BARREL OF APPLES FREE

Young men and all men will be given a barrel of apples free with every purchase of a suit or overcoat at the Merrimack Clothing Co. at any price today, Saturday.

FOR MAYOR OF SALEM

OPPOSERS OF MAYOR HURLEY INDORSE MATHIAS J. O'KEEFE—JOSEPH E. DALEY CHOSEN

SALEM, Oct. 10.—Joseph E. Daley, a shoe manufacturer of this city, was elected permanent chairman of the Better Government Association at a meeting in the Mercantile building last evening and David V. O'Keefe, a leather manufacturer, was indorsed for mayor.

The Better Government association was organized for the purpose of conducting a campaign for the recall of John F. Hurley as mayor. It has the indorsement of the Citizens' League, which was instrumental in securing the signatures of 150 voters who desire the recall of Mayor Hurley. The names of 300 additional voters must be secured before the petition is filed with the city clerk.

Mr. O'Keefe said last evening that he was not anxious to be a candidate but was willing to accept if no other could be found. "I want to impress upon the people of Salem," he said, "that I am absolutely opposed to the present condition of affairs in the city government. The salary of mayor does not appeal to me, but I am willing to lead if necessary."

MAYOR HURLEY

Officially Declare He Does Not Interfere With Appointments in Police and Fire Departments

SALEM, Oct. 10.—Mayor Hurley will continue as supervisor of the police and fire departments. This decision was made by the city council yesterday, after considering an order submitted by Director Lally that the mayor had interfered with police and fire appointments.

Patrick J. Lahan, city marshal, and William O. Arnold, chief engineer, denied emphatically that the mayor had interfered in any way in appointments made in the police and fire departments. Director Lally said among other things that Michael J. Trainor was discharged as a driver in the fire department because of objections made by Mayor Hurley and that Patrolman Osoewski was made a regular officer to satisfy the police officers, notwithstanding the other reserve officers were entitled to promotion.

Mr. Lally next cited the cases of Richard Hart, Robert J. Giffin and Terrence J. Nolan to show that they should have been considered for promotion. A man named Begley, who was a driver in the fire department, was the best fitted for the position. Robert J. Giffin informed the city council that the chief engineer would have given him the appointment had he "had the power." In reply to all questions asked by Mr. Lally regarding interference of the Mayor Chief Arnold and City Marshal Lahan replied by denials.

Lally's order was defeated, 4 to 1. Mr. Lally voting in favor of adoption and Mayor Hurley, Charles H. Danforth, Wallace L. Gifford and Patrick J. Kelley against.

MONDAY TO BE CIGAR DAY

Association of Cigar Dealers and Manufacturers Sets Aside Oct. 12 as First National Cigar Day

The Association of Cigar Manufacturers and Dealers, after some deliberation, has set upon Monday, October 12, as the First National Cigar Day, and "Cigar Day" will hereafter be observed each year. The day is merely one on which to boom cigars and generally increase the production of good cigars.

So in order to carry out the observance in a complete manner, every smoker should be seen on next Monday with a cigar between his teeth, enjoying "Cigar Day" to the fullest extent.

Some fine cigars are manufactured right here in Lowell, and some of the manufacturers are taking advantage of the day for "Cigar Day" and are advertising their product in today's Sun. These Lowell cigar producers are co-operating with the association in the interest of good cigars.

Mr. Fitzgerald's Observance

Mr. Fitzgerald, the well known tobacco merchant with stores at 468 Merrimack street, 562 Middlesex street and 250 Bridge street, will celebrate "Cigar Day" in a manner that will please his customers. He is going to give away a handsome nickel plated rotary razor blade cigar cutter on Monday at the stores mentioned above. This cigar cutter is a neat little article and something that every cigar smoker should have.

Scott's Smoke Shop

Three cigars of quality are made by William Scott at his factory and store, 187 Middlesex street. They are "Scott's Fresh Havana Smoker," "Scott's Royal-R," and "Scott's Level Best," the latter a 10-cent cigar and the other two selling for 5 cents. Mr. Scott has been in the business of making cigars for the past eight years, and his trade has increased remarkably. At first he was making but 50,000 cigars in a year while now he manufactures approximately 500,000 in one year. His cigars find a wide demand everywhere throughout this city, and throughout the Merrimack Valley in general. The work is all done by hand.

Mr. Harkins' Leader
Two more local leaders are made at the factory of Mr. Robert H. Harkins at 912 Gorham street. They are "Social Tea" and "Central," a ten and a five cent cigar respectively. Mr. Harkins, too, is prominent among local dealers, and his product, made under the most modern and sanitary conditions, has an exceedingly wide market. Many Lowell cigar lovers have placed the brands manufactured by Mr. Harkins at the top of their list of favorites. Like Mr. Scott, Mr. Harkins uses only the best of stock, and great care is taken with the work.

James H. Buckley—"Buck's Best"

"Buck's Best" and "Boston Terrier" are two brands of cigars that are very well known in this city and the surrounding cities throughout the district. They, too, are Lowell-made cigars, being the product of the factory of Mr. James H. Buckley at 131 Central street, another up-to-date and thriving establishment. By using fine tobacco and employing only experts, Mr. Buckley has succeeded in turning out a cigar that many particular smokers have chosen as their favorite. "Buck's Best" is a ten cent smoke that is well worth the money, while "Boston Terrier" is a five cent cigar of unusual quality. The foregoing dealers and manufacturers are among Lowell's foremost cigar men. Their "Cigar Day" advertisements appear on this page and should be read with interest. Men who remember them when purchasing their daily smokes will have no regrets for the products of all these men are of recognized high quality and have a well marked not in Lowell alone but elsewhere.

FIVE YEARS IN PRISON

JOHN H. GRONDIS SENTENCED IN PORTLAND AND APPEAL TAKEN TO LAW COURT

PORTLAND, Me., Oct. 10.—In the superior court yesterday morning Judge J. E. J. Connolly sentenced John H. Grondin of Waterville, who was convicted of an attempt to murder his wife, to state prison for not less than five or more than 10 years. Col. W. C. Eaton, his attorney, entered an appeal, and George H. Grondin and Sumner Rowe of Waterville gave $10,000 bail pending a presentation of a bill of exceptions at the December term of the law court.

SMALL FIRES EXTINGUISHED

The members of Engine 2 were summoned to the corner of Branch and Smith streets shortly after seven o'clock this morning where a fire had started from an over-heated stove. The damage was confined to the hardware shop on the ground floor of a building. Frank Lenice owns the shop.

The members of Hose 11 were called to the Lundberg street bridge at 8 o'clock last night to extinguish a small fire which probably started from a cigarette or cigar stub. Slight damage.

Union Men Discuss Civil Service With Mayor and 2 Commissioners

Timothy Bourke, president, and Charles A. Anderson, secretary of the Trades and Labor Council, and William Gordon, president of the Municipal Employees Union, and delegates William Welch, James Hickey and John Conley had a conference last night with Mayor Murphy and Commissioners Donnelly and Morse. It was an executive conference and was held in the mayor's office.

The union men wanted to learn about the operation of the civil service laws recently adopted by the municipal council at the request of the union members. They were informed by the mayor and the commissioners that the municipal council has nothing whatever to do with the operation of the civil service. The mayor told them that until John C. Gilbert, state registrar of labor, arrives, nothing will be known about the system. Mr. Gilbert will come to Lowell on Tuesday next and will proceed with the installation of his system of labor registration. It will be the same as that installed elsewhere in the state.

The union men felt that members of the municipal council should be first choice when men are selected for places, but they were informed that the civil service system makes no mention of union men.

The mayor told the union men that municipal commissioners will not have anything whatever to do with the system, nor will they interfere in the slightest with its operation after it has been installed.

EXPLOSION BURNS ROOFER

GASOLINE CAN BLOWN 50 FT. INTO AIR WHEN GUY MEADER TRIES TO FILL HEATER

ST. JOHNSBURY, Vt., Oct. 10.—Guy E. Meader, a roofer, was badly burned yesterday when a can of gasoline from which he was filling a heater exploded. The can was blown 50 ft. into the air and Meader's clothes ignited.

Before the flames were extinguished by fellow-workmen both of Meader's hands and one leg and his face were severely burned. Dr. W. B. Fitch ordered his removal to Brightwood hospital, where it is feared he may lose part of one hand.

NEW PASTOR CALLED

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH WANTS MAN FROM MISSOURI—NAME PRESENTED BY COMMITTEE

At a meeting of the First Baptist church held last evening, it was voted to extend a call to Rev. A. C. Archibald, pastor of the First Baptist church of St. Joseph, Mo. The pulpits supply committee, through its chairman, P. A. Bowen, presented the name of Rev. Mr. Archibald and after hearing statements from other members of the committee and discussing the matter for an hour it was unanimously voted to extend the call. Rev. Mr. Archibald was formerly pastor of the First Baptist church in Brockton, where he had remarkable success. He is a native of Nova Scotia. He was educated at Acadia college and at Newton Theological seminary, where he was a classmate of the late Rev. H. S. Pinkham. His father and three brothers are ministers. He has a wife and three children.

Roll Call Supper

The annual roll call and supper of the First Baptist church was held last night in the church vestry and was attended by more than 250 of the members and friends of the church. A social hour preceded the supper with an organ recital by P. R. Hill, church organist. Rev. H. B. Norris, pastor of the First Baptist church, was the speaker.

FALLS DEAD IN WIFE'S ARMS

Edmund B. Norris of Gardner, Me., Expires While Dancing in Hall on Site of His Birthplace

GARDNER, Me., Oct. 10.—Edmund B. Norris of this city, a well known commercial traveler, died suddenly at Kings Mills while attending a dance and supper given by the Whitefield Fish and Game association. While dancing with his wife he suddenly staggered and dropped dead in her arms. He had been subject to heart trouble for several years.

He died in almost the exact spot where he was born, 53 years ago, as the hall now occupies the site of his old home.

Mr. Norris had been a resident of Gardner for 30 years and was salesman for a nursery concern in New York. Besides his wife, he leaves a daughter, Ruth, 22 years old, and a son, Chester, aged 9. Mr. Norris was active in Masonry.

LEVINSKY BEATS SMITH

GUNBOAT DOWNED IN 16-ROUND BOUT AT NEW YORK—BOTH MEN SEVERELY PUNISHED

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—Batting Levinsky of this city, outpointed and out-fought Gunboat Smith of California, in a 16-round bout here last night. Levinsky weighed 172½, Smith 16 pounds heavier. Smith did all the leading in the first four rounds in each of which he had a fair margin. The fifth round was even but from the sixth on Levinsky had it all his own way.

In the early rounds, Levinsky made no attempt at leading. He avoided several of the gunner's rushes and contented himself with blocking cleverly and side-stepping. He hardly used his right in these rounds and depended on left hooks and upper cuts. Both men were severely punished about the body.

Levinsky woke up in the sixth and waded in. Smith landed occasionally but Levinsky had all the better of it in the later rounds.

CUTS CORN, DEATH RESULTS

PITTSFIELD, October 10.—Daniel Hughes died at the House of Mercy hospital yesterday after an illness of only 24 hours, death being caused by tetanus contracted through blood poisoning in his foot as a result of cutting a corn.

Mr. Hughes was employed on the Zenas Crane estate in Cranville. He served in the Civil war as a member of Co. 1, 31st regiment, Mass. Inf. He was a minute man in the Allen Guards. He was a member of Rockwell Post, G. A. R. He leaves three sons, Charles L. Hughes of Dalton, Edward J. Hughes of Beverly and Irving D. Hughes of this city, and two daughters, Miss Marietta Hughes and Mrs. James Briggs of Dalton.

LADIES' AID SOCIETY

The Ladies' Aid society of St. Patrick's church held the first meeting of the fall term last evening in the parochial school hall and made plans for the coming year. The meeting was largely attended and great enthusiasm was shown. President Helena M. O'Sullivan called the attention of those present to many phases of the work that call for unusual attention at the present time and urged all to manifest the same interest that they have shown in the past. Rev. Joseph A. Curtin, the spiritual director, was present and spoke of the importance of the program for the coming year, expressing confidence in the promising outlook.

SCHOOL OBSERVANCE OF DISCOVERER'S DAY

Pupils Honor Memory of Columbus With Essays, Recitations and Songs—Supt. Molloy Spoke at High School on the Great Navigator and His Life—Memorial Exercises at Green School in Honor of Principal

Special exercises were held this afternoon in nearly all of the public and parochial schools of the city in observance of Columbus day which falls on Monday, Oct. 12. The day is an important one in connection with school work, for it affords opportunity for valuable historical lessons. In some of the schools essays on Columbus and the discovery of America were prepared by children and the reading of these proved very interesting.

At the Green school the exercises were omitted out of respect for the late Albert L. Bacheller, principal, who passed away yesterday morning. Instead of observing the day the children held memorial exercises. At noon the boys and girls marched out of the school and gathered in the yard. A large wreath was placed near the door in memory of the late principal and while this was being done the children stood in silence. Then the forenoon individual exercises were held in all the class rooms. This afternoon the doors of the school will be closed, the yard gate will be locked and the school will not re-open until Tuesday morning. Tomorrow morning between 10 and 12 o'clock the children will be given an opportunity to take a last look upon the face of one whom they loved and respected. The flag of the school yard was placed at half-staff yesterday.

In order to be able to conduct proper exercises in observance of Columbus day at the high school, the freshmen class was yesterday afternoon released until Tuesday morning. The attendance at the school is so large that it would be impossible to gather all the students in the assembly hall and accordingly steps were taken to hold the exercises and not overtax the capacity of the hall.

At 12:15 o'clock the children of the hall and the following program was carried out:

Declamation, "The Country of the Future"..... Ireland

Music, "The Breaking Waves Dash High"..... Elliott Rundlett

Tenors: Messrs. Hillman, Martin, Campbell; Sopranos: Misses Kennedy, Davis, Maloney; Altos: Misses Field, Macey, Bass: Messrs. Dacey, Leupold, Barlett.

Recitation, "Columbus"..... Lowell

Recitation, "Press On"..... Benjamin

Address, Supt. Hugh J. Molloy

Music, "Swirl and Low"..... Barney

Reading, "The Man Without a Country"..... Hale

America, School

Bartlett School

There was no observance of the day at the Bartlett school today, for the event has been postponed until Tuesday, when individual exercises will be conducted in each room.

Immaculate Conception

The exercises at the Immaculate Conception school were held between 2 and 3 o'clock for the children of the primary grades and between 3 and 4 o'clock for those of the grammar grades. The sisters in charge of the school were forced to hold two sessions for the assembly hall is not large enough to seat all the pupils of the school at one session.

The program consisted of victrola selections, including a number of national airs, original compositions on Columbus and his work by the children, singing and recitations. Present at the exercises were the pastor, Rev.

TOWN OF BILLERICA NEWS

What the People Are Doing—Building Boom Still on—Efforts to Increase Efficiency of Schools

Garage thieves have been operating in Billerica this week and the police are now working on clues which may lead to the arrest of two or three individuals who will be charged with breaking and entering in the night time and larceny. Although no articles of great value were secured by the culprits in any place, the breaks occurred within a short space of time and the police will use every effort to run down the guilty parties.

A recently built garage, conducted by A. Plant, and located near the corner of High and Pollard streets, was broken into and several small articles taken, including a revolver, raincoat, considerable other wearing apparel and a small amount of automobile equipment. The thieves gained entrance by forcing open a window on the side of the garage and pulling themselves to the inside. The garage was ransacked and tools and other appliances were thrown about to the floor so it is evident that the visit was not made for any small purpose. The matter was reported to the police, who are now at work on important clues.

Another garage, located near River street, Billerica Centre, was visited during the night but here the parties were less successful and after making a futile attempt to break open a door or window, went away without securing any valuables.

School Complaints

Superintendent Webber of the Billerica school department has received complaints from many of the newcomers to the town, employed at the Boston & Maine repair shops, relative to the conduct of the school children on their way to and from the school building as well as in the school yard. The new residents claim that the children attending the school sessions are very disorderly and do not conduct themselves as pupils should. The superintendent is investigating the matter but as yet has found nothing to hold against any of the children.

Parents Protest

The Parent Teachers' association of Billerica held a lengthy meeting in the Talbot school yesterday afternoon. A long discussion on school work was held and suggestions for increasing the efficiency of the schools were made by many of the parents.

Brush Fires

The fire departments of both villages have been fighting brush fires almost continually for over a week, this fact being due in part to the absence of rain and the dry condition of the brush and fields. After extinguishing the fire near Sprague's bridge, which was caused by a conductor of the North Billerica department was yesterday afternoon called to Colson's field on the Lowell road, where a fire had started as a result of a flying spark from a dump fire. The flames crept all around the dump and were spreading to other nearby fields when checked by the fire fighters. The Billerica centre department has also been campaigning against brush fires, West Billerica being the scene of the greater number.

Game Laws Enforced

It is evident that local hunters and sportsmen are to take advantage of the open hunting season, beginning October 12, as an exceedingly large number of licenses have already been issued by Town Clerk Herbert King. The enforcement of the game laws, relative to each hunter carrying a license and the sort of game killed, is to be more strict than ever this year, according to reports from the state house.

Building Boom

Billerica's building boom is still in progress and will continue well into the cold weather. The greater number of the buildings are being erected in sections developed by land companies and many of these have had a very successful season while others are prepared to start next spring with a fine offering of house lots. Many of the Boston & Maine repair men, who came here from New Hampshire cities have already purchased their homes while others are expecting to build in the near future.

Billerica Roads

That Billerica's roads are being improved this year more than in any one year for over a decade is evident by the announcement that work will be started to macadamize a portion of the Concord road, which runs from Billerica to Bedford, in a very short time. The $7500 job on the Boston road is nearly completed and Highway Surveyor Twombly states that he will be ready to begin work on the Concord road next week. A state engineer is now busy surveying the part of the road that is to be macadamized and it is expected that he will turn in a report very soon.

Work of renovating the parish house at St. Anne's mission was started this week under the direction of Roger Barrington, contractor. A new cellar is to be dug and several other improvements will be made, making the cozy building up-to-date in every way.

Columbus Day

Columbus day will be observed in a quiet way in the town, there being no special program arranged to celebrate the day. The mills will have operations from Saturday noon till Tuesday morning while the doors of the repair shops will be closed from Friday night until the day following the holiday.

Chief of Police Martin Conway's candidacy for the position of deputy sheriff of Middlesex county has aroused the interest of the townspeople as the appointment of his successor would bring about a lively contest. Chief Conway has had a wide experience in county work and it is the general opinion in the town that he would make a very capable man for the position.

Assn Patten Circle, L. of G. A. R.

Assn John Patten circle, No. 29, L. of G. A. R., held a red letter day yesterday. The regular meeting was called to order at 1 o'clock in the afternoon by the acting president, Mrs. A. Annah Holden. It was the day for their annual inspection and Mrs. Mary Kimball of Springfield was the inspecting officer. Other guests were Mrs. Jennie Van Wagoner, S. V. P., Mrs. Marion Bradbury, J. V. P., of the department of Massachusetts, L. of G. A. R.; Mrs. Anna Spaulding, department president of New Hampshire, L. of G. A. R.; Mrs. Cummins, president of Circle 3 of Hudson, N. H.; Ursula Hutchins, president of Circle 8 of Lowell; Mrs. Jennie Ferguson, past department president of Massachusetts and visiting sisters from Hudson, N. H., and Lowell.

At 4 o'clock the fair was opened under the direction of the following sisters: Apron table, Mrs. Mary Wilkins, chairman; Mrs. Della Bruce, Mrs. Lydia Hunt, Candy table, Mrs. Margaret Ritchie, chairman; Mrs. Mabel Smith, Fruit and vegetables, Mrs. Sarah L. Murphy, chairman; Mrs. Lucy Moulton, Luncheon committee, Mrs. S. Annah Holden, chairman; Mrs. Sarah Dutton, Mrs. Frances Hutchins, Mrs. Lilla Duren, Mrs. Nella Bohanan, Waitresses, Misses Hazel Rollins, Bertha Barker, Amy Corkum.

The entertainment started promptly at 5 o'clock. The cantata, "Grandpas Birthday," was given by Mr. Herbert Ellis taking the part of grandpa. The following children took part: Eva Barker, Elizabeth Conway, Gladys Holden, Doris Hubbard, Marjory Kendall, Lilla Lettney, Josephine McKean, Marjory Perry, Miriam Smith, Gwendolyn Scott, Hazel Thompson, Elizabeth Wright.

Misses Miriam Smith and Elizabeth Conway sang a duet, "Awake from Thy Dreaming," and Misses Eva Barker and Elizabeth Wright also sang a duet, "Come to the Woodland and Mountain." Little Miss Gwendolyn Scott sang the "Guller Song," and Miss Gladys Holden sang, "Birdie, I Am Tired Now." Miss Doris Hubbard took the part of Mae; Miss Marjory Perry, Lily; Miss Lilla Lettney, Violet; Miss Josephine McKean, Buttercup; and Miss Marjory Kendall, Daisy; Miss Hazel Thompson, Lydia.

Between the first and second part of the cantata, Miss L. Blanche Perrin, with her pupil, Miss Greta Pickering, gave exhibitions of the new Castle dances. After the cantata a flag drill was given under the direction of Miss Perrin. The four leaders were: Miss Perrin, Miss Mary Henry, Miss Florence Ruth, Mrs. Hattie Proctor, assisted by the children.

The evening concluded with a social dance by all, and thus a very busy day's work was closed. The whole affair was under the direction of the entertainment committee, which consisted of: Mrs. Hattie Whitney, chairman; Mrs. Sarah L. Murphy, Miss Florence Ruth, Miss Mary Holly and Miss Marion Wilkins. The pianists were Miss Florence Ruth, for the cantata, and Mrs. Gertrude Tuttle for the dancing.

The regular sewing circle will meet with Mrs. Della Bruce Oct. 21.

HIGHLAND SCHOOL

Individual exercises were held in each room of the Highland school this afternoon. The exercises consisted of songs, recitations, readings and salute to the flag. The closing number was a most impressive one, consisting of a pledge of allegiance to the United States government by the numerous pupils of the school.

FALSE ALARM

A telephone alarm at 4 o'clock this afternoon called the firemen to the Chelmsford street hospital, where it was claimed, an automobile was on fire. Members of House 3 responded only to learn that there was no fire in progress. A person in the vicinity said that the fire was near the Chelmsford town farm, but investigation by the Sun failed to find any fire in that town.

BRYAN TALKING PEACE

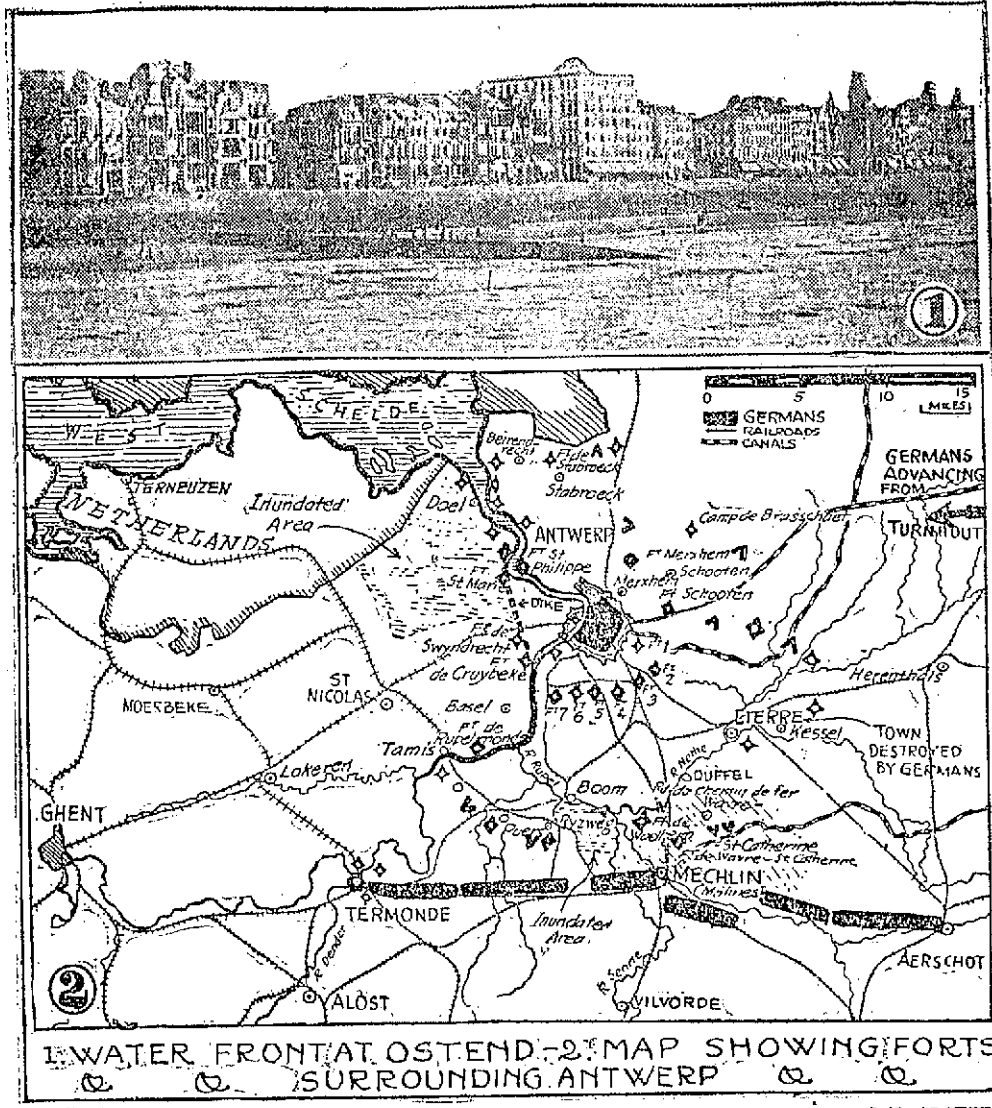

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—Secretary Bryan has sent to ambassadors in the capitals of all the warring countries of Europe a message telling of President Wilson's day of prayer for peace and the sincerity with which the people of the United States responded to it.

FUNERAL NOTICES

FLEMINGS—The funeral of John W. Flemings will take place Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the home of his sister, Mrs. Geo. W. Trull, North Tewksbury. Friends invited. Funeral arrangements in charge of Undertaker J. A. Weinbeck.

CHAMBERLAIN—Died Oct. 9th, in this city, Mrs. Louvise W. Chamberlain, aged 73 years, 4 months and 24 days, at 1068 Middlesex street. Private funeral services will be held at the home of Undertaker George W. Healey, 79 Branch street, Sunday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock.

BELGIAN GOVERNMENT HAS MOVED CAPITAL TEMPORARILY FROM ANTWERP TO OSTEND

After some of the many forts guarding Antwerp had fallen the Belgian government announced the removal of the capital to Ostend, on the coast west of Antwerp. Being a seaport, Ostend can be defended by the British naval vessels. The attack on Antwerp was made from the south, the position of the initial German invaders being indicated by heavy lines.

BUSINESS EFFICIENCY

Perhaps no term is used more commonly or more thoughtlessly in discussions of modern business than "efficiency," for efficiency in all relating to industry is the most important need of the times. Gradually the old monopolistic management of business is giving way to a new order and the days of enormous individual success are no more. In most lines competition is keen and the business that wishes to be successful must eliminate all possible waste, must continually study its losses in relation to its profits, must seek out employees suited to their work and must see to it that employees devote their energies to the best advantage during their hours of activity. All of these things are but side issues of the application of business efficiency.

As the efficient business is the most successful business so too is the efficient worker the most successful individual. He who, when he enters a trade or a profession, looks upon his term of preparation as complete will remain in the lower ranks of his class; he who will advance as the man who is never too old or too experienced to learn. There is no such word as "finished" in the language of efficiency; its students who are drawn from the ranks of the employers as well as the ranks of the employed are always learning, always striving to promote business efficiency. The man who, after being forty years in some line of business, experiments along new lines is the man who fully understands the meaning of efficiency. His rewards will be the rewards of efficiency—which are very great.

In the furtherance of efficiency among employees some of the largest manufacturing plants in the country have conceived the idea of opening practical business schools in connection with their plants and of teaching the most advanced methods of eliminating waste and making the most of raw material. This method has been adopted for years in Germany which by means of it largely captured the world trade in some lines of manufacture. The head of the local textile school recently described to a Sun representative a typical German chemical laboratory devoted to the manufacture of dye stuffs. Opening from a long corridor were several individual suites of rooms, each occupied by a dye expert, each of whom was busily experimenting towards a certain end. When anything worth while was evolved, all the experts and a large group of students were called in consultation in a common laboratory and the discovery made known. The German government encouraged this method of promoting manufacturing efficiency and then took precautions so that the German nation reaped the benefits resulting from German enterprise and invention. So far American manufacture has been negligent in the application of efficiency as a science and it is no secret that dependence on foreign sources of supply was largely due to the fact that imported chemicals and dyes could be bought in the foreign market more cheaply than they could be made at home. In this is an acknowledgment of the superiority of foreign efficiency.

That American manufacturers are realizing this more and more is apparent from the fact that some of the largest manufacturing plants in the country have recently added a corps of efficiency experts to their administrative body. Occasionally a young man on graduating from the Lowell textile school becomes an expert in the promotion of efficient methods in one of the largest mills of the country. Many men engaged in the textile industry make no secret of the fact, too, that the preponderance of cheap immigrant labor has cost more in efficiency losses than it has saved in wage payments. The waste between the looms, the poorly woven cloth and the wear and tear on textile machinery may soon eat up the wage difference of three or four dollars per employee.

One of the direct lessons of efficiency is that wage-earners should strive to become as proficient as possible in their chosen lines of activity, confident in the belief that ability must eventually win out. The time-server or place-filler is among the waste product of the wage earners. Success will crown the efforts of the searcher after efficiency. As time goes on and as the need for conservation becomes more pressing the truth of this will become still more apparent. It is an age of efficiency and the successful worker is he who feels that there is always something to learn. If he admits the truth of this at 20, he will admit it more readily at 70 when he enjoys the fruits of business efficiency.

MR. BIRD SPEAKS

Those who want to believe that the republican party is not the same old party, hiding its head, ostrich-like, in the sands of self-satisfaction and with the same old bag of tricks to delude the very elect, should carefully avoid reading the speech made by Charles Sumner Bird at the progressive convention in Faneuil hall last week. In that speech, or that part of it which refers to the old guard, Mr. Bird voices no new political belief and gives voice to no superlative wisdom, but he punctures the was bag of republican hypocrisy neatly and convincingly. Those who have read the negative, meaningless and altogether harmless platform of the Massachusetts republicans before reading Mr. Bird's speech will appreciate the full force of the progressive leader's reasoning.

In answer to the republican claim of being awake "to new truth and new duty" and acquiring "leadership among loftier paths," Mr. Bird asks if the chairman of the republican state committee, who made the claim, referred to Penrose, of whom comment is unnecessary, or to Cannon, "the embodiment of the stand-pat doctrine: the man who was defeated for the speakership by the members of his own party, and yet had the support of Mr. McCall, who once suggested him for the presidency?" He then goes on to enumerate other indications of a revival of the stand pat policy, and says of the "new" leaders of progressive republicanism: "These republican leaders . . . have, as it were, arisen from the grave and these are the men who have been selected by the republican machine to lead the republican party along 'loftier paths.'"

A little reflection on these facts and others not mentioned will convince the disinterested student of political affairs that "the republican leaders have not seen 'new light' or 'new truth.' They are still the party of special privilege; of high protection; of broken pledges." Apparently hoping that the usual political reaction has arisen against the democratic party they wear only a thin veneer of progressiveness, and march on to the fray with the old discarded policies and under the old discredited leaders. The lesson of progressive defection has been badly learned, and the things mentioned by Mr. Bird stand between his party and a return to their ancient fold. One may differ with progressive policies, but they are at least honest; where is there any honesty in the republican platform or policies?

PRETEXTS FOR WAR

The pretexts advanced to excuse the present war by those held generally responsible throughout the world are so flat and illogical that they can scarcely be believed by the apologists themselves. Despite any and all explanations there seems to be a general feeling in this country that the war is absolutely unjustifiable. Some comparatively trivial occurrences may have served as the match that set fire to the passions of the nations but underlying all is the conviction that the war is the result of long and careful plotting—the fruition of a positive preparation. On one point at least there can be little difference of opinion: that point is the tragedy of Belgium's position. Prosperous, peaceful, progressive, industrious, this splendid people dwelt in harmony and domestic virtue until an arrogant power, mad with military, invaded their neutral territory and caused them to arise in a patriotic protest. Now their fields have been devastated, the villages depopulated, their cities laid in ruins, the fruits of their culture scattered, their people plunged in sorrow, facing all manner of privation and mourning for thousands of their heroic dead. When time collects the crimes of the nations one against the other there will not be a darker blot on the whole record than the present fate of Belgium, which is weeping in vain for Louvain, Liege and Termonde and is today waiting anxiously with tearful eyes on the fate of Antwerp.

BETWEEN TWO FIRES

Like many another great man, President Wilson is blessed in his enemies. Those who opposed him on tariff grounds helped to gain popular support for the bill; those who mocked, ridiculed and calumniated him for his peaceful attitude towards Mexico killed their own cause by over-vehementness; those who at first condemned the currency bill talked themselves out of arguments and finally jumped on the Wilson wagon to save their face. At the present time he is being condemned by two groups of opponents who serve to show up the inconsistency of the criticisms in the most delightful manner. On the one hand we find some malicious critics insinuating that the president has surrendered to the trusts because of taking the personal responsibility clause from the Clayton anti-trust bill, while the critics of this region accuse him of destroying business because of the same bill. Neither side can deny, however, that as governor of New Jersey, President Wilson made his greatest reputation by his anti-trust agitation, resulting in seven bills which were accepted as models by many states in the Union. His anti-trust reputation did not prevent his going to the White House and there is no indication of business ruin in New Jersey. In this case he can be judged by results far better than by the paradoxical accusations of his opponents.

ESCAPING THE PENALTY

A Chicago committee which has been investigating the relation between crime and its punishment in that city has made some important discoveries. It finds that the proportion of those punished to those that go free—considering only those arrested—is one to thirty. Unfortunately it is not according to common sense to assume that the 29 who escape out of 30 arrested are innocent; the natural reflection is that very many who commit crimes in Chicago escape through some technicality, the skill of lawyers or lack of evidence. In this connection the following quotation from the Lynn News hits the nail on the head: "Courts in small communities stand behind the police fairly well and make their work easier by passing out quick and adequate punishment for offenses. Courts in larger cities are not always so sure. And in the cases where municipal courts do justice there is altogether too much of a chance that higher courts, removed from the scene of the offense and with crowded dockets, will be too lenient with offenders and too harsh on society. We do not half so much need new laws or even reformed laws as we need the quick and sure enforcement of the laws we have. Criminals ought to know that the chances are against them instead of with them."

THE DRY PLANK

The prohibitionists have a real live grievance, and who, knowing the reason, can blame them? Without word of warning some wily political thieves crept out in the shadows and stole the dry plank, their platform. Now the prohibitionists who had become much attached to their platform, regarding it in fact as their legitimate property, must either come before the people without any platform at all or else play second fiddle.

The possible aerial invasion of England does not sound unreal to those who imagine six Zeppelins soaring over Antwerp and raining down bombs on the distracted inhabitants, the great guns sending immense shells over the forts the while. At this formidable city the war seems to have condensed its most terrible efforts and the world may be prepared for anything hereafter. Count Zeppelin, in his well-known devotion to German ideals probably feels that the struggles of his life have been well repaid but Antwerp will forever curse his memory.

Judge Murray of the Boston municipal court condemns the present method of dealing with inebriates. It certainly is a reproach to Massachusetts—a fact which anybody will understand who sees a wretched woman sentenced to jail for the twentieth time, the judge meantime knowing that she'll be back for her twenty-first sentence in three months.

Where are all the comments of yesterday about the immorality of the new dances? Does the fact that they are no longer new make them any better?

What's this? Street car men strike in Mexico City! Sure sign of returning civilization.

There's a murderer running around loose somewhere still.

And after Antwerp?

POLITICAL ADVERTISING

A pole erected by a public service corporation should not be utilized as a billboard in this or any other city. The approach of the campaign brings to public notice many cards of candidates in more ways than one. The city, which are offensive to the eye, a contribution to the clutter of the street and a violation of tidiness which ought not to be tolerated.—Lynn News.

IN THE EAST

Germany has lost a torpedo boat destroyer, and some islands in the Pacific ocean; and the United States has lost a destroyer. The loss of the destroyer was necessary to Germany's welfare; figure it out which is the greater loss. The Marshall Islands and the Caroline Islands are small in land and small in population. The United States need not be alarmed and need not be depended on to prevent the use of the islands in a way unfriendly to this country.—Lewiston Sun.

PURE FOOD

The most practical way to bring about pure food reform is to patronize those who sell the food which is above suspicion. It is by this means, generally put, that the competition will be forced not so much in the matter of price as in that of quality; and when the final balance is struck it is quality that counts for money in more ways than one. This is a subject for every individual housewife, who is concerned, as she should be, with the good health and welfare of the family, to ponder seriously. It is a question with her whether she shall consent to be misled when she just as well avoid it—the most practical question for herself and for every member of her family.—Manchester Leader.

AUTO TAXES

Congress is having trouble in getting the war revenue bill into shape. It is now proposed not to tax automobiles and gasoline, a sensible and equitable decision. Autos are now sold with a tax on sales, and on horse power and on gasoline they would be taxed five times.—New Bedford Standard.

HARD ON HOGAN

A Boston man has asked the courts to permit his family to change their name from Hogan to Homans, and a prominent citizen of the latter name has entered the objection to such a change. The bulk of sentiment, no doubt, will be with Homans, as no one can blame him for objecting to becoming a namesake of such a person as Hogan seems to be.—Fall River Globe.

HIS MASTER'S VOICE

"I won, all right, in the progressive primaries, but was counted out," says Philip Bill Suiter. Didn't Col. Roosevelt say something to the same effect after the republican national convention in Chicago in 1912?

THE SPELLBINDER

The Complacent Citizen in the Courier-Citizen thinks that because there is a vacancy in the list of deputy sheriffs sought after by democrats, the demerits will withhold their criticism of the county clerk, and presumably elect County Commissioner Gould. Just what connected the appointment of a county commissioner with the election of a deputy sheriff is a little too hard to fathom. The sheriff, who is elected by the people, and not appointed by the county commissioners, has the appointment of the deputies and he has his own political fence to look after without taking up the cause of the county commissioner or anyone else.

By the way, are you a candidate for deputy sheriff? Most everybody else is. A day or two ago The Sun called upon Sheriff Fairbairn and asked him if he had decided upon an appointee, stating that it would take some time to get over the qualifications of the candidates. If he attempts to look into the qualifications of all of them, in detail, it will take the poor man the remainder of his natural life.

Earlier in the week I mentioned about a dozen of the candidates in this column and was subsequently "called down" by the friends of about two dozen more for not mentioning them. Thus in order to be entirely fair in this matter I shall publish all names sent in for publication, without cost.

In the second crop of candidates for the position, according to report, are: John A. Brown, a recent candidate; Alphonse Bibault; Joseph H. McGrath, custodian of the postoffice; Cornelius F. Cronin, assistant city messenger; Cornelius F. Sullivan, keeper at the Lowell jail; Constable Ezra Mansur; Martin D. Sullivan, insurance agent, and it is reported that "Former Mayor" Brown is a receptive candidate.

The position of deputy sheriff looks like a snare from the road; nothing to do but serve papers on people, backed up by some lawyer's say-so, and sit within a fine looking uniform at the sessions of court, with good money coming in, into the bargain; and that why there are so many candidates in the field. But the deputy sheriff has a great responsibility and few of them ever escape without getting in bad at some time or other, even if they do finally win out. A deputy sheriff must know some law, particularly that relative to his duties and the limitation of his authority, and for any mistakes he may make through ignorance, carelessness, or any other cause, he or his bondsmen must settle.

Mr. O'Connor Opens Headquarters. J. Joseph O'Connor has opened headquarters in Merrimack street with a popular hustler in charge in the person of Rep. John Gilchrist. Mr. O'Connor is not at all terrified over the republican majority of the district or the activity of Congressman Rogers and his press agents, and will conduct an active campaign. Mr. O'Connor believes that this district should have a congressman who is in sympathy with the administration. Mr. O'Connor believes that this is a district of working people, those people should be represented in congress. At the present time only a few financial interests, the cotton mills, are represented there, and it is in their interest that Congressman Rogers is at present making such a fight. The labor conditions that exist in the southern mills, which are the dangerous competitors of the northern cotton interests. And it seems strange to all that if the republican party is so interested in the welfare of the working people of the south it did not enact legislation aimed at the betterment of their condition long ago, as it has held undisputed sway in congress for decades and the labor conditions in the south have been in vogue for a number of years. Mr. O'Connor undoubtedly will be heard on the stump and will have some interesting material to offer in consideration of the voters of the district.

Republican City Committee

Ex-Senator Horion H. Hilton, who was ever a hustler in politics, having been given the rather empty honor of chairmanship of the republican city committee, is starting out boldly to ascertain whether or not there is any life in the state when they demand "action," for he is going to attempt to revive the republican city committee and make the machine effective in state politics, at least. "Horty" has some task on his hands but his friends wish him well. An attempt to revive the republican city committee reminds one of a meeting of the old Lowell Debating club of long ago, at which the subject of discussion was that of the resurrection. One old atheist, speaking for the negative, asked the question: "Suppose I was out on a cannibal island and was cooked up and eaten by 10,000 savages, how would I be resurrected?" The republican city committee has been cooked up and eaten by some 10,000 voters and the feast took place a couple of years ago. But "Horty" believes that by getting the old machine in working order it can do something for the governor, and he is going to try it at all events. An appropriate motto for the revived city committee would be: "Let the dead past bury its dead," with particular reference to the creditors of the old organization.

Mayor's Quiet Trip

On Wednesday, Mayor Murphy disappeared from city hall and has been reported by the members of the municipal council, from all accounts, were at a loss to account for his whereabouts. The following morning the Boston Herald solved the mystery by the publication of the following item:

"At the weekly session of the recess committee on city charter at the state house yesterday, Mayor Murphy and City Solicitor Hennessey of Lowell were the chief executives. The committee decided that the city charter of Lowell is working well in the main, but they would suggest some changes. The mayor desires more power and favors a four year term of office for the executive instead of two. They stated that the finances of Lowell are in better condition now than for some years back.

There was no need of His Honor making a secret of his trip to Boston. He had a perfect right to appear before the recess committee, as has any of the members of the municipal council, so that it can't be said that he was trying to slip anything over on them, unless some unkind critic might take his action to mean that he wanted to impress the committee with the belief that he was the city of Lowell itself, others have done, and I have seen the board of aldermen during the administration of the late Mayor Dimon, in 1907, always supported my family and paid my bills."

Among the candidates already mentioned are Andrew E. Barrett, John Dalton, Newell F. Putnam, James with the general revision of promises that has taken place of late. His Honor stated that the finances of Lowell are in better condition now than for some time past, despite the fact that the municipal council only a few weeks ago was in such financial straits that it attempted to borrow the city's trust funds, but it is not likely that he informed the committee that the present tax rate of Lowell is the highest in its history.

But relative to giving the mayor a four year term and more power, Mayor Murphy is not alone. In the opinion, while as a general proposition the present city charter is way ahead of the old form of government, as His Honor states, there is room for improvement. It is believed by many that the mayor should have more power, for at present, while he is named as the executive head of the city and as such is looked to by citizens generally, he has absolutely no executive power is but a commissioner with a little more salary and another title is all that he has, however, for the shortcomings of the government in which he is but one of the directors as it were. Cities in the south and west that have had more experience with the commission form of government are looking with favor on a new form of charter that makes the mayor a business manager with the municipal council as his cabinet. He is given great power with a four year term while he is restrained through the recall provision. In Boston a new form of charter has been adopted, executive head in fact, and with a four year term and the Boston charter appears to be working out well. Years ago republican influences had the Lowell charter amended so as to give the mayor much more executive power than he has ever had before and it was argued as the best thing for the city. Immediately after the adoption of the amendments the electorate of Lowell placed the late Hon. William F. Courtenay, a democrat, in the mayor's chair and the very republicans who had advocated the new idea firmly believing at the time that their party would be successful in the next election, ran back to the legislature and got the amendments withdrawn or revamped or amended, at any rate they took away the mayor's executive power and he had at command only a few of the heads of departments by the entire council instead of by appointment by the commissioner directly responsible for those departments. As a result we have had two instances of a clash over this section: in the case of former Mayor O'Donnell and Supt. Martin Conboy under the previous administration and the Morse-Johnson controversy of recent date. In his address before the League of American Municipalities at Buffalo, N. Y. former Mayor Connolly called attention to the weakness of the Lowell charter and the matter caused considerable discussion among the delegates some of whom came from cities that were operating under similar provisions. It was agreed that if a city which had a commission form of government for the conduct of certain departments he should be permitted to name the heads of those departments. But as I said before, with whatever faults may lurk within its 61 sections, the present Lowell charter is a big improvement over the old system of government and most of its present apparent weaknesses are not those of the instrument itself, but of the men who are attempting to apply or misapply it.

Candidate Dunn a Busy Man. Henry P. Dunn, of West Lynn, the hustling democratic candidate for senator in the seventh district was in town yesterday morning through after a tour of the country and he has never taken a trip through this district? Was the first question asked me by the candidate. Upon replying negatively, he said: "Well, it's some district to cover! It abounds in territory." And between new and old electioneers Mr. Dunn will have traversed about every inch of it. Mr. Dunn proposes to hold two hall rallies in this city, one in each of the two wards in the district while he will also make brief noonday speeches later on, at the American Hotel and at the plant of the Heine Electric company. Among his speakers at the rallies will be ex-Rep. Kelley of Lynn who made a most favorable impression in this city when he spoke here before. A few minutes' conversation with Mr. Dunn will convince one that while a resident of Lynn which seems far removed from the remainder of the district, he is quite familiar with its people and conditions, even to the most remote corners. He has an official record of a successful career in politics. Walter Creamer, of Lynn, a well known member of the democratic state committee, Mr. Creamer will cover the district for his friends. Mr. Creamer asserts that once the people of the district become acquainted with the candidate, the latter's election is assured. Mr. Dunn has sent out a campaign card on which is the following extract from a speech made by him in Lynn, before the caucus: "My platform is short: just two words—'For Home and the Laborer.' The narrow but really it covers the very heart area. I am for the common people, the 'great 99 per cent' who make the real commonwealth of Massachusetts."

Candidate Kimball of Carlisle hasn't made much of an impression in the town. Living in the same town with him is George Wilkins, a dyed-in-the-wool democrat who takes a lively interest in politics. Mr. Wilkins has expressed the opinion that despite the temptation of a local prize, the democracy of Carlisle will be with Dunn to a man. With a third candidate in the field it would seem that Mr. Dunn has an excellent chance to succeed Senator Fisher. Last year's republican candidate, Mr. Fletcher, was a much stronger man in the lower end of the district than Rep. Wilkins and this fact will offset the republican strength given Senator Fisher in this end. Furthermore it is claimed for Mr. Dunn that he will poll a considerably larger vote in the lower end of the district than Mr. Fisher. Mr. Dunn will make a much more active campaign along the lines of personal canvassing than did his predecessor, and personal canvassing always did make votes.

Joe Mullin a Candidate. Joseph Mullin, the well known coal dealer and former alderman, has announced his candidacy for municipal commissioner, with the following salutatory: "I have been in Lowell 23 years and in the coal business all of that time. I was in the board of aldermen during the administration of the late Mayor Dimon, in 1907, and have always supported my family and paid my bills."

Among the candidates already mentioned are Andrew E. Barrett, John Dalton, Newell F. Putnam, James

In the Eighth District Senator Draper is going along quietly but effectively personally soliciting support and fixing his fences where he thinks they need fixing and his chances look every bit as good as they did a year ago. In fact many prominent republicans concede his election, believing it impossible to defeat him and hence useless to make the attempt. There of the same party while believing that the republican candidate has no chance are looking forward to the election of Dr. Livingston, on the assumption that those straight-laced republicans who are not favorable to Marchand but who wouldn't vote for a democrat under any circumstances will vote for the third candidate, George F. Marchand, the republican candidate appears as smiling as if the votes had already been counted and a favorable verdict announced. He figures on a tremendous French-American vote and points to his legislative record for the support of the remainder of the party.

Another Secret Conference The spirit of the charter was flagrantly violated last evening, if never before, when the municipal council and the municipal city employees held a secret conference, from which both press and public were barred. If the municipal council has come to such a state of mind that it desires to conduct its deliberations in the open then it is time to get men at city hall who will take the taxpayers into their confidence; men who are not afraid of public criticism, men who dare to do right and do it in full view of the public.

Middlesex County Teachers
The 62nd annual meeting of the Middlesex County Teachers association will be held in Tremont Temple, Boston, on Friday, Oct. 24. This year there will be two sections for the morning program, the high school teachers meeting in Lorimer hall. In the afternoon, in addition to the meeting in Converse hall there will be a meeting in Chipman hall. This is to relieve the congestion.

The speakers secured are James L. McConaughy, Ph. D., professor of education and English, Bowdoin college; George Drayton Strayer, Ph. D., professor of educational administration, Teachers college, Columbia university; Margaret Slattery, educator and author; Mae E. Schrieber, educational lecturer; Dr. Lemuel H. Martin, president of Boston university; and Rabbi Sidney E. Goldstein, assistant to Dr. Wise, in the Free synagogue, New York city.

The Lotus quartet has been engaged to furnish the musical program. The financial support of the convention comes mainly from the annual dues which have been fixed by the association at 15 cents for each woman teacher and 25 cents for each man teacher.

Principals are requested to collect the dues from their teachers and forward the same to their superintendents not later than Oct. 23. The full program will be sent to superintendents in season for them to supply all their teachers before Oct. 30.

WOMEN KNIT SOCKS

Mrs. Morgan Assisted on White Star Liner From England—Patterns Supplied by England

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—Women passengers, including Mrs. J. P. Morgan, on the White Star liner Celtic, which arrived here yesterday from Liverpool, spent many hours on the voyage across knitting socks, jackets and mufflers for the soldiers who will endure hardships in the winter's campaigns of the European war.

Mrs. Morgan completed five pairs of socks, one jacket and two mufflers, and turned them over to the Celtic's pursers upon the ship's arrival here.

The wool was sold to her and the others who knitted after they went aboard the Celtic in England, and the patterns were supplied by the British government. Mrs. Morgan is a member of the Needlework guild organized by Queen Mary.

Among the Celtic's 1182 passengers were Judge John C. Gray of the New York court of appeals, who described London as a city of aeroguns and searchlights; Lady Spring-Rice, wife of the British ambassador to this country, and a number of actors and actresses who said there was little or no work for them in London because the women are not patronizing theatres with their men folk away to war.

PURSUERS EXCHANGE SHOTS—ONE MAN IN HOSPITAL DANGEROUSLY WOUNDED

BUZZARDS BAY, Oct. 9.—Two parties, one composed of Sheriff Harvey Hart and his brother, William, and the other of two watchmen employed at the Cape Cod Canal bridge, mistook each other for postoffice robbers, whom both were seeking, this morning and exchanged revolver shots, with the result that one man, W. A. Harbrow, is in a hospital at New Bedford with a dangerous wound in his stomach.

The robbers escaped. The town had previously been aroused by the noise of the explosion when the postoffice safe was blown, and great excitement prevailed.

The robbers forced a door at the postoffice, dynamited the safe and escaped with $130 in cash. The explosion awoke residents for half a mile around. Howard Eldredge, who resides near the postoffice, stuck his head out of the window, but seeing nothing fired a revolver in the air.

Frank Eldredge, living a short distance away, added to the general alarm by also firing out of his bedroom window and then turned his dog loose. Meanwhile some one had telephoned to Selectman B. F. Bourne, and he in turn notified Sheriff Hart.

NATIONAL LEAGUERS WIN OPENING GAME, 7 TO 1

Bender Knocked Out of Box by Stallings' Team—Rudolph Pitched Remarkable Game for the Winners, Allowing World's Champions but Five Scattered Hits—Gowdy Made Three Hits—Maranville, Schmidt and Whitted Also Shine at Bat

SHIRAZ PARK, Philadelphia, Oct. 9.—The Boston National League pennant winners easily ran away with the Philadelphia Athletics today, defeating them by a score of 7 to 1. The Bostonians drove Bender, the Athletics' star right-hander, from the mound by terrific smashes, which the Braves pieced together when his meaty arm Gowdy was the hitting star for the Bostonians, getting three safe blows in three times at the plate. One of Gowdy's smashes was a double and the other a three-bagger, his third hit being a slug.

Rudolph pitched a game of the first water for his club. The Athletics were held spellbound by his slow ball, which came up to the plate as big as a toy balloon. The Athletics' best hitters could do nothing with his delivery. The Boston rangers paraded out of the grounds after the game, led by a brass band.

An automobile was presented to Eddie Collins before the game in recognition of his being the most valuable player to his club.

Rudolph and Bender
The umpires came upon the field at 1:55. They were promptly photographed. Umpires Dineen and Hildebrand conferred with Capt. Tammie Bender and Schanz were announced as the battery for the Athletics. Rudolph and Gowdy were the battery announced for Boston.

It was announced Gowdy would bat sixth in place of Deal, who would be at eighth in place of Schmidt. Umpires Dineen and Hildebrand, behind the plate and Klem on the bases. Umpire Ryan went to left field and Hildebrand to the right meadow.

First Inning
Bender's first offering was an out-curve which cut the plate for a strike. Moran went out on a high foul to Melins. Evers sent up a high fly to Collins and walked back to the bench. Connolly took a strike and then fouled off the second. Connolly fanned, missing a slow one around the neck. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Second Inning
Bender pitched three balls and then put over two strikes on Whitted. Whitted walked. Schmidt died out to Oldring. Whitted scored on Gowdy's hard two-bagger to the left field stand. The Boston rangers cheered to the echo. Gowdy scored on Maranville's single over second. The Bostonians' hits were sharp and clean. Bender began to lose his smile. A double play followed. Barry took Deal's grounder and tossed to Collins, forcing Maranville. Collins then threw out Deal. Two runs; two hits; no errors.

Third Inning
Bender threw out Rudolph at first. Moran could not see Bender's speed and struck out. Oldring took care of Evers' hoist. No runs; no hits; no errors.

Fourth Inning
Connolly sent a liner over Collins' head for a single, after a double play strikes called on him. A double play followed. Bender took Deal's grounder and threw to Barry, forcing Connolly. Barry's throw to Melins was wide but the little fellow made a beautiful stop. Collins tossed out Schmidt at first. No runs; one hit; no errors.

Fifth Inning
Bender drove the ball to the centerfield with a mighty swat. He landed on third. It was the first pitched ball. This was the Boston catcher's second hit of the game. The umpires cautioned the Boston bench for coaching the lanky catcher. Gowdy scored on Maranville's single over Me-lins' head. This was also the second hit for the rabid. A double play followed. Bender took Deal's grounder and then pitched out Maranville at first. Deal had attempted to sacrifice. Rudolph struck out. One run; two hits; no errors.

Sixth Inning
Moran sent up a foul back of third base which Barry natted after a long sprint with his outstretched hand. The crowd shouted its approval of the skillful work. Evers shot a single past Bender. Connolly walked, when Bender began to wobble. Evers and Connolly scored on Whitted's smashing drive to right for three bases. Whitted scored on Schmidt's terrific single through Barry. A double play ended the inning. Bender was recalled from the box and Wyckoff put in. It was the first time that an Athletics pitcher has ever been batted out of the box in a world's series. Coombs was taken out of the box three years ago in a game with the Giants, but that was because of an injury. Right hits were made of Bender while he was in the box. Gowdy walked. Wyckoff took Maranville's smash, but threw to Baker too late to catch Schmidt. The bases were now filled with one out. A double play ended the inning. Baker took Deal's grounder and touched third, forcing Gowdy. and then threw to Melins, putting out Deal at first. Three runs; three hits; no errors.

Seventh Inning
Lapp catching for Philadelphia. Rudolph got an infield single which Collins was barely able to knock down. Baker took Moran's intended sacrifice and threw to Barry, forcing Rudolph. Evers struck out and Melins stole second. Melins gathered in Connolly's grounder and threw to Wyckoff, who covered the bag. No runs; one hit; no errors.

Evers fumbled Baker's grounder and the runner was safe. Melins walked on four pitched balls. Strunk grounded out to Schmidt. Strunk going to third and Melins to second. Barry struck out. Rudolph threw out Lapp at first. It was superb pitching by Rudolph. No runs; no hits; one error.

Eight Inning
Whitted sent up a high fly to Baker. Schmidt singled to left. Schmidt went to third. Maranville struck out and when Gowdy ran to second Schmidt stole home. Gowdy tried to reach third on the play, but was thrown out. Lapp to Baker. One run, two hits, no errors.

Ninth Inning
The crowd began to leave the stands when the inning opened, as it was realized Boston had all but won the game. Baker threw out to Deal. Barry threw out to Rudolph. Baker tossed out Moran. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Tenth Inning
Baker drove the sphere up against the fence for a double. Deal threw out Melins. Baker being held at second. Strunk popped out to Evers. Maranville threw out Barry. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Eleventh Inning
Whitted sent up a high fly to Baker. Schmidt singled to left. Schmidt went to third. Maranville struck out and when Gowdy ran to second Schmidt stole home. Gowdy tried to reach third on the play, but was thrown out. Lapp to Baker. One run, two hits, no errors.

Twelfth Inning
The crowd began to leave the stands when the inning opened, as it was realized Boston had all but won the game. Baker threw out to Deal. Barry threw out to Rudolph. Baker tossed out Moran. No runs, no hits, no errors.

LOVE AT FIRST SIGHT

Miner From Northwest Marries Lowell Girl After Brief Acquaintance—Touch of Romance

A romantic marriage took place yesterday at St. Joseph's rectory, when Joseph M. Lajoie of Lajoie Falls, B. C., and Miss Hedwidge Laroche of this city were united in the bonds of matrimony. The couple were married by the pastor, Rev. Dr. J. H. Macette, O. M. I., and they are now enjoying their honeymoon in Providence, R. I., whence they will sail for New York tomorrow. The honeymoon also includes a business trip on the part of the bridegroom, who came to the New England states in the interest of the Lajoie Gold Mining Co., of which he is president and general manager.

This was a case of love at first sight and a very quick affair, for the bride and bridegroom had known each other about a week, when the ceremony was performed. Mr. Lajoie who is at the head of a company which is exploring for gold in British Columbia as well as conducting an auto bus commerce in the far northwest, came to the New England states for the purpose of purchasing machinery for the mines, and also the transportation necessary for an electrical plant. He left Lajoie Falls, which is located several hundred miles beyond Vancouver three months ago, and arrived in Lowell last week.

Friday evening Mr. Lajoie communicated by telephone with Miss Laroche and that same evening he visited her at her home, 758 Moody street. Daily visits were then in order until Tuesday, when both parties decided to unite for life. There was an obstacle, however, and that was that Mr. Lajoie had to leave Thursday for Boston, Providence and New York on business, and according to the laws of the commonwealth he could not secure a marriage license until five days after the application had been filed at the city clerk's office.

Judge T. J. Enright was called upon to play an important part in this romance and after holding an interview with the sexton, he granted a special permit for the marriage license, which was secured and Tuesday afternoon Mr. Lajoie went to the cardinal in Boston for a special dispensation. Arrangements were completed and yesterday morning the couple were united in the bonds of matrimony. They left at noon for Boston and in the evening they were tendered a reception at the home of a brother of the bride, Hector G. Laroche, in Woburn. Mr. and Mrs. Lajoie left Woburn this morning for Providence and tomorrow they will sail for New York.

The couple are expected back in Lowell on Oct. 17, at which time a brother of the bride, Omer J. Laroche, a popular employee of the Billerica car shops, will be married to Miss Emma D. Chagnon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alexandre Chagnon of 44 Branch street. Mr. and Mrs. Lajoie will leave on the following day for San Francisco, Cal., where Mr. Lajoie is interested in the coming Panama exposition. From there the couple will start for Lajoie Falls, B. C., where they will make their home.

COTTON BILL HANGS FIRE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—While several features yesterday developed in Washington in the cotton relief situation, not one was of an encouraging nature to the south, and the problem of tiding the pinched planters over the period of stringency seemed no nearer to solution than it was a week ago.

To delegations of southern congressmen, President Wilson had said it is "a problem of the head and not of the heart." From present indications it looks as though it soon might become a problem for the stomach for those who are crying for help.

An part of an almost continuous daily procession of congressmen and other men from the south, the Georgia delegation yesterday called at the White House and urged President Wilson to devise some method through which the government would help the cotton planters. The president reiterated approval of the Smith-Lever warehousing bill, but deprecated suggestions for national financial legislation.

State Bond Proposal
At almost the same time, Senator Bankhead, in a speech in the senate, asserted that the south must help itself through their legislatures. He proposed that the states be allowed to issue bonds and to buy half of each farmer's cotton at 10 cents a pound carrying it until the market becomes normal. He said the state bonds would be available as a basis for federal currency up to 50 per cent of their value. "There is already a rift in the clouds," said the senator. "Conditions generally are improving. War-stricken Europe must be clothed and fed. Men and women may go hungry; they cannot go naked. The time is near when the cotton crop must move."

"If it is not manufactured in Europe it must be manufactured by our own mills. I confidently believe that every spindle and loom in the United States will be running double time within six months and that there will be a demand for a very large portion of the crop."

Cotton Bill Chloroformed
Also at the same hour the house committee on banking and currency met to consider a couple of cotton financing bills, while a committee of southern congressmen at the same time was drafting still another such measure.

Congressman Henry asked the house committee to lay over his bill for a time, and the committee "obliged" by laying it on the table and so chloroforming it effectually. This bill called for the appropriation of $500,000 of treasury funds under the cotton treasury act, to be loaned directly to the planters at 3 per cent, with cotton as collateral, on a valorization of 10 cents a pound.

Congressman Carter introduced a bill for an issue of $200,000,000 of treasury notes to be apportioned to the cotton states, and for banks in towns and villages of less than 5000 population to receive equal consideration with banks in larger towns and cities. Banks loaning this money would give a bond to the treasury and the interest rate would not be more than 6 per cent.

B. & M. OUTLOOK

No Important Step Toward Reorganization Likely for Some Time

BOSTON, Oct. 9.—The News Bureau says: There is continuous query in State street as to the financial outlook for Boston & Maine. No big move toward reorganization, however, is likely for many weeks.

Following the prospective signing of the New Haven dissolution decree, the Boston & Maine stockholders will probably elect the five proposed trustees to the road's board, and the majority ownership should then be in its new definite status.

Oct. 1 charges, which have been duly met, amounted to $970,000. There will be no very large amount of interest or rental payments maturing till Jan. 1, when about $1,000,000 come due.

For the time being the Boston & Maine is in fairly easy position as regards working capital. It not only owns about $2,200,000 five-year 5 per cent Maine Railway Co.'s notes received last spring by selling its Maine Central, but has also a substantial amount of cash. On June 30 cash on hand stood at $3,500,000. Disbursements since then have considerably reduced the total. Passenger business receipts in September jumped about $235,000 above last year's, due chiefly to sale of 2-cent mileage books in anticipation of the 24-cent rate.

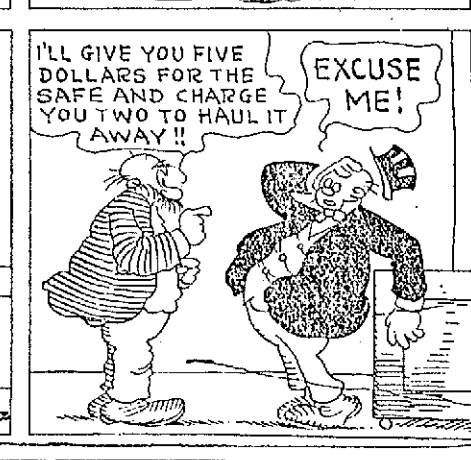

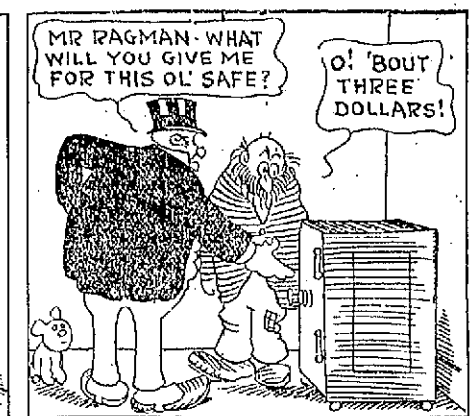

There are pending some 19 suits based on defaulted notes of $224,000 par, that have not as yet gone to judgment, and judgment has been entered in four suits involving $350,000 par of notes. On March 2 next about $23,000,000 of Boston & Maine's short term indebtedness will be payable.

SAYS HE SAW MRS. CARMAN FIRE SHOT

F. J. Farrell, so Called Tramp, Claims to Have Seen the Shot Fired Which Killed Mrs. Bailey, According to Authorities

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—That Frank J. Farrell, the so-called tramp witness against Mrs. Florence Carman, claims to have actually seen the shot fired which killed Mrs. Louise Bailey in the office of Dr. Edwin Carman at Freeport on the night of June 26, was learned yesterday.

It is the first time Farrell's true relation to the prosecution's case has been revealed. It was known that he was being relied upon heavily by District Attorney Lewis J. Smith of Nassau county to convict Mrs. Carman when she comes up for trial for murder in the first degree a week from Monday. But not until yesterday was his full importance realized. His complete story was never given out.

Revolver in Her Hand

When Farrell was arrested the morning after Mrs. Bailey was slain, it was reported that he had been going around the west side of the Carman house to beg a hand-out at the kitchen door shortly before 8 o'clock on the night of June 26. Suddenly, so the account of what he had told ran, Farrell saw a woman coming toward him from the back of the house with a revolver in her hand.

Supposing that she intended to drive him away, Farrell, the authorities gave out, started to run. A moment after, he said, he heard the crashing of glass, and then heard the report of a revolver. District Attorney Smith created the impression at the time that he did not take much stock in Farrell's story, and that he did not think the "tramp" worth using as a witness at the coroner's inquest. In the rapidly developing events that followed, all interest in him was apparently lost.

But, much to the amazement of everyone who followed the case closely, Farrell was put before the grand jury which indicted Mrs. Carman, instead of Elwood T. Barden, an insurance agent, who had occasioned the arrest of Mrs. Carman by his sensational testimony at the inquest.

Saw Her Fire

It was learned yesterday that Farrell alleged when he heard the crashing of glass he turned and witnessed the woman with the revolver thrust the weapon through the window and fire. District Attorney Smith is satisfied that Farrell is telling the truth. Farrell now assumes equal rank with Cella Coleman, the colored maid in the Carman household, in the prosecution's scheme of evidence. His testimony is expected to furnish the corroboration necessary for Cella's story concerning the movements of her mistress on the night of the murder.

Counsel for the defense, John W. Mahan, surrogate of Nassau county, and George M. Levy, are making no secret of the fact that they are preparing to train their main batteries on Farrell and Cella Coleman.

The defense is now busy delving into Farrell's past. The district attorney believes that Mrs. Carman's lawyers will not be able to break down Farrell in any essential part of his story but will seek to impeach his testimony by discrediting his character if possible. Among other things, the defense will contend that Farrell has been a strike-breaker. Whatever his record may be along that line Mrs. Carman's counsel will endeavor to find out before the trial begins.

Hasn't Seen the Diary

To offset the strength that Farrell may lend to the state's case, it was admitted yesterday by one in a position to know that the district attorney has never been able to obtain the diary alleged to have been kept by Mrs. Carman of the conversations she overheard between the doctor and his woman patients. Gaston Holtsdorff, manager of the General Acoustic company, testified at the coroner's inquest that Mrs. Carman told him on June 23, seven days before the murder, that she had kept a diary and proposed to keep notes in the future. Mrs. Carman emphatically denied she had ever possessed a diary which she heard over the telephone.

Another element of weakness in the prosecutor's case is the failure to find

GERMANS TAKE BELGIAN STRONGHOLD AFTER TEN DAYS OF BOMBARDMENT

Official Despatches Say Antwerp Fell Into Hands of Germans Yesterday —City Now in Ruins—Zeppelin Attacks and the Artillery Fire of Five Army Corps, Under Command of General Von Beseler, Forced the Belgians to Flee

LONDON, Oct. 10.—An official message from Berlin states that Antwerp has fallen, according to a Central News despatch from Amsterdam. The siege of Antwerp which culminated in its fall yesterday, began on Sept. 23, so that the Germans took just ten days to reduce the formidable fortress which surrounded the temporary capital of the Belgians. The Germans had, however, for a long time previously prepared the way for the the revolver with which Mrs. Bailey was killed. A person intimately associated with the state's side of the approaching trial, acknowledged yesterday that the pistol had not been discovered.

District Attorney Smith, it was learned for the first time, will not follow the usual procedure in a murder trial. He will present his case along an original plan, somewhat after the manner in which a newspaper story is written. He intends to depart from the custom of establishing the corpus delicti at the beginning of the case, and will plunge at once into what is alleged to have occurred in Dr. Carman's office at the time of the murder.

The psychological effect of this action is expected to grip the interest of the jurors at once, and convert into their minds on the essentials and all-important issue in the trial. The corpus delicti, although absolutely necessary, may be proved at any stage of the trial.

attack on Antwerp by taking a number of towns in its vicinity.

The first direct attack on the Antwerp fortifications was that against the forts at Waelhem and Wavre-St. Catherine. These were reduced in a couple of days by the aid of the big siege guns. Meanwhile, the forts at Liere and Koningshoeven had also been attacked and these and others of the outside line of fortifications were taken last week.

The last few days has seen the fighting advance to the inner line of forts and along the Scheldt, principally at Schoonarde. At the last named place severe fighting occurred for several days but the superior artillery of the Germans gradually forced the Belgians back until in the last day or two the fighting had reached practically to the suburbs of Antwerp.

On Wednesday, Oct. 7, came reports that the Belgian government was moving to Ostend, and that the population was fleeing in terror and panic toward the Holland frontier. Zeppelin bomb attacks which did much damage and killed scores of people added to the terror of the inhabitants.

The German forces who have taken Antwerp are said to consist of five army corps. They were under the command of Gen. Hans H. Von Beseler, a veteran of the War of 1870, who was taken from his retirement to do the work of reducing Antwerp. General De Gulse was in command of the Belgian defenders.

King Albert aided them by his personal direction almost to the last, having quit Antwerp according to reports yesterday morning, probably when the end was seen.

RICH FRENCH CITIES MARKED FOR RUIN

New Lineup of German Forces Means That Northern France is Destined to Suffer a Desolation Similar to Belgium

LONDON, Oct. 10.—The correspondent of the Express in Paris telegraphs the following:

"The immediate objective of the German army is now no longer Paris but the channel ports. To sum up the German plan—the first blow on Paris having failed—the second blow must be aimed at England.

"The new lineup of the opposing forces means that northern France is destined to suffer a desolation similar to that already visited on Belgium. All of France's rich cities in the north have been marked for certain destruction and ruin.

"The French general staff is still confident of success but it is recognized that there can be no decisive victory while the masses engaged are so enormous. It is possible to hope for the defeat of the enemy's plan only if there can be a constant stream of reinforcements."

PUBLIC AUCTION SALE OF A TWO STORY HOUSE, BARN AND ABOUT 7000 SQ. FT. OF LAND ON THE CORNER OF "C" AND POWELL STREETS, BEING NO. 7 ON "C" STREET

On Saturday, October 17, 1914, at 3 o'clock

I have instructed the auctioneer to offer at absolute auction sale my two story house and stable, situated very attractively on the corner of C and Powell streets, containing seven large rooms, besides bath, hot and cold water, sewer, gas, city water, etc. The property is in A-1 condition; the stable has a large stall and plenty of carriage room. The lot has a combined frontage on the two streets of about 170 feet, and the total area of about 7000 square feet. On the lot is an abundance of fruit of all kinds. This location is exceptionally good, the property being but three minutes' walk of the Chelmsford street line of electric, it is also close to the well known Shaw hospital, and in the heart of a quiet residential section, where about everyone owns his own home. The fact that the property lies on the corner of two wide streets makes the place present a most attractive appearance. If you are contemplating the buying of a home and wish to have a good garden spot and be in a first class locality where it will require but little money you should surely attend this sale. A most liberal mortgage can remain. Terms: $300 must be paid to the auctioneer just as soon as the property is struck off. Make all inquiries at the office of the auctioneer.

On the premises, regardless of any condition of the weather, I shall offer for absolute sale the above lot, with a frontage of 85 feet of High street and 120 feet on Sherman street, making an area of about 7800 square feet. It is high and dry. This is one of the best improved lots in this section of the city. There is ample room for a house, a high street, and also one on Sherman street, and that was the intention of the present owners. If you want to locate in Belvidere, here is your opportunity to purchase a nice lot. Terms: $200 to be paid as soon as struck off.

By virtue of a license granted to me by the Probate court, I shall offer for absolute sale on the premises, regardless of any conditions of the weather, the above property. Two tenement house, No. 38 and 40, is two and a half story, slated roof. Each tenement has six rooms, bath, pantry, set tubs, hot and cold water, cemented cellar, separate front doors and lighted throughout by gas. This house was built by the late Mr. Sullivan a few years ago and is in excellent shape inside and out. It is occupied by two first class tenants and rents for $236 a year.

HOUSE OF NO. 42—Two story cottage, with six rooms to one tenement and seven to the other. This rents for $192 a year, making a total of about $528 a year. Now, then, here is a chance for the home-seeker of the speculator, one that would prove a safe and sound investment. Tenements in this location always rent well, as there are many large industries located within 10 minutes' walk of the property.

Terms: $450 paid to the auctioneer as soon as struck off.

JAMES OPPOSES PLANK

WITH ANTWERP TAKEN GERMANS PLAN ADVANCE

Kaiser's Troops to Sweep Over Northern France With Object of Taking Possession of Channel Ports and Then Attack England

Antwerp, the one stronghold remaining to the Belgians after the loss of Liege and Namur, has fallen before the Germans under General Von Beseler. The siege occupied ten days. No details of the German occupation have been made known.

A despatch from The Hague says that the city surrendered at 2:30 o'clock Friday afternoon. A German official announcement coming via London says that the town since midday Friday "has been in our possession."

The war office announces "Antwerp was evacuated by the Belgians yesterday."

The French official statement today says that it is announced that Antwerp was taken but the conditions under which it was occupied by the Germans are not yet known.

Today's news despatches indicate that early reports of the damage done by the bombardment probably were exaggerated and that the cathedral of Notre Dame and other historic structures may have escaped injury.

It is believed in London that the final resistance was made by a small garrison which was sacrificed in order to permit the escape of the Belgian army which is now reported to be somewhere between Antwerp and Ostend trying to make its way to the lines of the allies.

German aggression at various places along the line of the field fighting is reported from Paris, which, however, declares that the battle was under satisfactory conditions. The afternoon announcement of the French war office says that the entire battlefront of the allies has been maintained unimpaired in spite of violent attacks by the Germans at several points.

Cavalry fighting on the left wing of the allies between La Bassée and Cassel continues without notable result. Progress to the north of the Oise and in the region of St. Mihiel is claimed for French arms.

Paris reports also partial successes by the Russians on the east Prussian frontier and that the siege of Przemyśl continues under conditions favorable to the Russians.

A despatch from Amsterdam asserts that Germany is expecting momentarily a declaration of war against her by Portugal.

Athens reports that a German officer has arrived at Damascus and has taken over the direction of the Syrian general staff. He is also recruiting Bedouins.

Christian refugees are reported as arriving at Cyprus from Turkish ports. They report great unrest in Turkey.

A trial of the alleged assassin of the Archduke Francis Ferdinand and his consort will be opened in Sarajevo, the capital of Bosnia, on Monday. Twenty-one Serbians and four Croatians, ten of the total being under 20 years of age, are accused of high treason.

Despatches attempting to analyze the German plan of campaign with Antwerp in their hands declare that the Germans purpose is to sweep over northern France with the object of taking possession of the channel ports and thus bring the warfare nearer England.

SECOND GAME OF WORLD'S SERIES

Boston Braves Confident of Making it Two Straight—Athletics Aver That "There Will be a Different Tale After Today's Game"

SHIBE PARK, Philadelphia, Oct. 10.—The Braves, victorious in the opening engagement of the world series campaign of 1914, gave battle upon Shibe field again today with the Athletics.

Twenty thousand persons viewed the fray and cheered the American league champions in their efforts to turn the fortunes of battle in their favor and thereby place the two contenders for the season's baseball honors on even terms.

Today's game was almost crucial for the Athletics. A defeat meant that the Braves would open their two-day home stay in Fenway park on Monday with only two more victories needed to clinch the big title in baseball, while the Athletics would be forced to struggle desperately to take four full games to take the world's series. Betting was even on the outcome of the series.

"We have looked the Athletics over; taken their measure of the first game and beaten up their big gun, Bender," said Manager Stallings of the Boston club before the game. "We will win the series. It's James today, and he will make the Athletics go home."

The Athletics looked to Eddie Plank's cross fire to crumple up the Boston onslaught today. The veteran southpaw was Manager Mack's early choice for the firing line. "We'll be out there today, fighting all the way," said Shortstop Jack Barry of the Athletics. "Our club comes back quickly after a loss and we won't look like the same team when we get to hitting."

The day was built for baseball. The sun dried up the moist clouds during the morning and shone brilliantly upon the soft greens of the in and out fields. An August temperature presaged a good workout of the players in practice and a fast fielding game.

Royal Rooters Root
The crowd came early. The last lingering spectators of the Athletics defeat had scarce turned his way homeward yesterday when the line began to form at the entrance to the unreserved stand behind left field. Fifteen minutes after the gates were opened this morning the four thousand seats were filled and the gates were closed. The reserved stands were not completely filled until game time. Behind the Boston's bench the Royal Rooters from Boston gathered in force and lent vociferous encouragement to the Boston band that battled in face of a hostile crowd.

The two teams went about their batting and field practice with a zest that promised a smart and grimly fought contest. Manager Stallings had his reversible outfield working out at the bat so he could shift his backfield in case a left hand pitcher was sent in by the Athletics. Mann was ready to replace Moran in right and Cathers to take Connolly's place in left should Manager Mack sent Plank to the box.

The Batteries
The batteries were announced as Plank and Schang for Athletics; James and Gowdy for Boston. Umpire Hildebrand gave decisions behind the plate. Byron gave decisions on bases. Klem went to left field and Dineen to right field.

The lineup for today's game follows:

Boston	Philadelphia
Mann rf	Murphy rf
Baker 2b	Oldring 2b
Whitted 1b	Collins 3b
Schmidt 1b	Baker 3b
Gowdy c	Melvin 1b
Moranville ss	Barry ss
Plank p	Schank p
James p	Plank p

BRAVES CONFIDENT

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 10.—With one victory safely tucked away the Boston Braves met the Philadelphia Athletics in the second game of the world's series today with added confidence and a determination to make it two straight. The Athletics although defeated in the initial struggle, were equally determined to even the series.

"There will be a different tale after today's game," was the common expression of the Mackmen and this seemed to be the feeling generally amongst the supporters of the present world's champions. Many fans backed their expressions of confidence with moderate sized wagers at odds of ten to eight that the Athletics would take the series. Before yesterday's game the prevailing odds were much higher, many bets being placed at eight to five and two to one.

Boston Supporters Happy
Boston supporters were in a happy mood last night. While they were in the minority around the hotels and cafes their enthusiasm made up for what they lacked in numbers. "Four straight," was their slogan but they found little difficulty in placing all wagers that the Braves would be victorious. "Tessie," the famous song of the Royal Rooters echoed through the downtown section of the city well into the night while groups of the rooters were noticed at many hotels discussing the individual work of each member of their favorite team, that of Rudolph and Gowdy coming in for particular praise. Others were speculating on the pitchers for today's game.

Bender's Defeat Hard Blow

Philadelphia took the chafing lunged at them by the Boston contingent, good naturedly and pointed to the fact that three years ago the Athletics lost the first game to the Giants and afterward won the championship easily. Bender's defeat was especially disappointing to local fans, as they had counted on him as a sure winner. It was generally admitted, however, that even if the Indian pitcher had been at his best it would have been difficult to beat the Braves with Rudolph working as he did and the other members of the team backing him up at every stage of the game.

There seemed to be little doubt in the minds of any of the Athletics' followers that if Manager Mack saw fit to use Plank today sundown would find the series tied at one game each. Expressions of satisfaction in the cheering made by Wyckoff, a mere youth, during the three and a third innings he pitched for the Mack men yesterday, were heard on every side.

Youngsters to Get Chance

Bressler, another youngster who has been coached by Plank and has showed great effectiveness during the regular American league season with a cross fire delivery similar to that of his tutor, was considered a likely pitching selection for one of the contests. Shawkey, a third member of Mack's young men pitching staff, also was picked by some to figure actively in the fight for the stellar championship of 1914.

The ticket speculating fraternity won a legal victory when habeas corpus proceedings forced the release of those arrested for vending admission tickets yesterday. Free tickets for today's game, however, were in the hands of the speculators when the hour for the staging of the contest arrived. Many purchasers secured bargains in tickets yesterday when at the last moment the holders found that they would be unable to use the high priced pasteboards. Everyone who had a ticket today seemed determined to use it to see the game or had friends who would.

The builders of miniature grandstands on houseplots overlooking the grounds also scored in a legal set-to with the police and building inspectors when it was discovered that they could not be forced to tear down their stands.

Stallings to Change Lineup

Interest in the series seemed accentuated, if that were possible, by the victory of the Braves. Before yesterday's game was ended a new line had been started outside the bleacher entrance in anticipation of today's game. At nightfall scores of determined fans were in the line, which increased until early today. Thousands were in the vicinity of Shibe Park anxiously awaiting the opening of the gates and an opportunity to purchase bleacher seats.

All were curious whether the batteries of the Boston visitors which had been so efficacious against the speed and curves of Bender would be as potent when opposing the baffling cross fire of Plank, who is expected to start on the mound in an effort to even up the series. In anticipation of the slating of Plank by Manager Mack, however, Stallings announced a change in his lineup, putting in several hitters who are more effective against left-handed pitchers.

Most of the enthusiasm at yesterday's game was supplied by the Boston visitors. In the grand stand the greater part of the spectators looked with polite surprise at the manner in which the former cellarites hammered the offerings of the supposedly invincible Bender and when the Indian was forced to leave the game many expressions of sympathy were heard. Even supporters of the beatifiers felt for the hero of former series when Mack was forced to disregard precedent and pull him from the mound.

Second Edition INQUEST HELD TODAY ON GINGRAS MURDER

Judges Enright and Pickman Visit Scene of Murder at American Hyde & Leather Co.—Many Witnesses Testified at Hearing

The inquest on the death of Charles Gingras which was scheduled for nine o'clock this morning was delayed for two hours owing to the fact that Judge Enright, senior justice of the local court, and Judge Pickman, the associate justice sitting at the inquest, wished to visit the scene of the Gingras tragedy.

The two judges went to the beam house of the American Hyde and Leather Co., where Gingras was murdered and minutely inspected the premises. Every possible factor which might have entered into the Gingras case was taken into consideration by the two judges.

Shortly after eleven o'clock Judge Enright convened police court, while Judge Pickman sat on the inquest. The inquest was private and no one except the witnesses was allowed in the courtroom. Among those summoned to testify at the inquest are the three workmen who were in the building at the time Gingras was assaulted. The two workmen who found the dying man, Medical Examiner Melvin, Officer Crowe, Captain Brosnan, Lieut. Freeman and several others were on hand when the inquest opened. All of the witnesses were not examined today and the inquest was continued until Tuesday morning.

NO CRIMINAL NEGLIGENCE

On Part of Railroad in the Death of John T. Connors, Which Occurred on Sept. 10

The report on the inquest on the death of John T. Connors, aged 17 years, who was killed on Sept. 10, by being struck by a passenger train in the railroad yard, south of the Middlesex street station, was submitted to the office of the local police court today by Judge John J. Pickman. The report explains the details of the fatality, and concluded as follows:

"I find that on Thursday, the tenth day of September last past, about four o'clock in the afternoon, that John T. Connors, who resided in Lowell, in said county, and was employed in said city by the Boston & Maine railroad, while in the discharge of his duties, walking in the passenger railroad yard of said Boston & Maine railroad, that is south of Chelmsford street bridge, was struck by a locomotive engine that was attached to a passenger train that was running in said yard, and was thereby thrown down, and run over, sustaining injuries that soon afterwards caused his death."

"I find that the death of said John T. Connors was not caused by the criminal negligence of said Boston & Maine railroad, nor of its officers, agents or servants."

John J. Pickman, Senior Special Justice of the Police Court of Lowell, and acting.

ENDED HER LIFE

Woman Took Poison in a Fit of Despondency and Died

Mrs. Valeria Millette, of 2 Montclair avenue, died last night as a result of taking a large quantity of a mixture of Paris green and creoline late Thursday night while in a fit of despondency.

The self-inflicted death of the woman is all the more sad for the reason that Judge Enright had only that day made out commitment papers for her care at the Worcester insane asylum.

For weeks Mrs. Millette had suffered from melancholia which took a dangerous turn frequently. She seemed, when in the throes of mental affliction, to think that it was her duty to kill one of her children and herself either by drowning or by poisoning. Although the members of her family kept strict watch over her night and day the demented woman eluded them Thursday night for a minute and when she was found the death producing mixture had already been swallowed. Although every effort was made to save her Mrs. Millette died last night.

Deceased is survived by a husband, Cyrille Millette; a father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Beaujoly; three sons, Armand, Ambrose and Leo; two daughters, Lillian and Annette; two sisters, Mrs. Agnes Cowell of Canada and Mrs. Hilda Bourret of this city; two brothers, Eugene Beaujoly in Canada and Hermidas Beaujoly of this city.

A large number of the day students at Rogers hall school journeyed to Concord today, where they will visit the many historic places of interest in both Concord and Lexington. The trip was made in a special electric car.

LINEN SHOWER

On Thursday evening a linen shower was tendered to Miss Minnie Sullivan, the young lady receiving many beautiful and costly gifts of linen. During the evening a most interesting musical program was given and there were readings by Miss Catherine Noonan. Games were played and refreshments served, after which the shower broke up, all wishing the bride-to-be many years of happiness.

INDUSTRIAL AND STORE NEWS

Mr. H. L. Whitely, agent of the Lowell Bleachery, is enjoying a few weeks' vacation.

John King of the Garry Shoe Co. has been himself a very efficient secretary at the Y. M. C. E.

Miss Nellie Beecher of the Blazow Carpet Co. has returned from a week's visit to relatives in Worcester, Mass.

Albert Suggen, formerly employed at the U. S. Bunting Co., is now connected with the J. L. Chaffee store in Merrimack square.

The South End vs. Lawrence Manufacturing Co. game, scheduled for this afternoon, was called off owing to inability to secure a suitable park.

Joseph Conroy of the Hines department of the A. G. Ballard Co. store will be a spectator at the world's series game in Boston, Columbus day.

The exhibition of the modern dances at Associated hall last evening were much enjoyed. The strictly modern dancing was entirely new and he was freely applauded.

Clem Barstow, manager of the A. G. Ballard Co. store, will be a spectator at the world's series game in Boston, Columbus day.

Albert Woods of the wholesale department of the A. G. Ballard Co. store is setting in Olin for the soccer football season. They do say Al is some soccer star.

Miss Shirley Brown of the Massachusetts mills has been herself a very capable promoter of social events. She will hold another party in a few weeks.

The friends of Michael A. Lee, business agent of the Carpenters union, are out hunting for his election as representative on the progressive ticket. They are confident of his success.

Dave Manning has been signed as a member of the Helene Electric company's bowling team and will act in the role of lead off man. Dave maintained a splendid average last season which he expects to better this season.

The Manufacturers Bowling League has been formed and will make the first bowling night at the Crescent alley. It promises to be a lively race this year and the team that wins the championship will be deserving of much credit.

Fred Smith of the Spaulding Shoe Co., John Jones of the Massachusetts mill, Edmund Preston of the Adams Shoe Co. and John H. Farrell of the Waterbury mill will take in the football game in Boston this afternoon and "The Football" tonight. He home in time for the banquet, boys.

Daniel McCreary and Leo Kennedy, two hustling clerks employed at the Atlantic and Pacific store in Merrimack street, are making patients for "Tuesday morning" to come when they will know the result in the selling contest. Both young men worked hard to win the beautiful prize offered the most successful clerk and the figures are bound to be close.

There will be a meeting Tuesday evening of the teams that recently got together did form the Merrimack bowling league. The following stores are now represented and more are likely to join: J. B. Cullen & Co., Washburn, Merrimack; D. J. Baker & Co., Boston; T. J. Parker Co., and Haverhill. The teams will roll off on "Joe" Boyd's alley and a large prize is being up for the team winning the championship. The officers of the league are as follows: E. Robert, president; A. R. Sully, vice president; A. M. Nelson, secretary; E. O'Loughlin, treasurer.

MONDAY TO BE CIGAR DAY

Association of Cigar Dealers and Manufacturers Sets Aside Oct. 12 as First National Cigar Day

The Association of Cigar Manufacturers and Dealers, after some deliberation, has set upon Monday, October 12, as the First National Cigar Day, and "Cigar Day" will hereafter be observed each year. The day is merely one on which to boom cigars and generally increase the production of good cigars.

So in order to carry out the observance in a complete manner, every smoker should be seen on next Monday with a cigar between his teeth, enjoying "Cigar Day" to the fullest extent.

Some fine cigars are manufactured right here in Lowell, and some of the manufacturers are taking advantage of the decree for "Cigar Day" and are advertising their product in today's Sun. These Lowell cigar producers are co-operating with the association in the interest of good cigars.

Mr. Fitzgerald's Observance

Mr. Fitzgerald, the well known tobacco merchant with stores at 466 Merrimack street, 562 Middlesex street, and 286 Bridge street, will celebrate "Cigar Day" in a manner that will please his customers. He is going to give away a handsome nickel plated rotary razor blade cigar cutter on Monday at the stores mentioned above. This cigar cutter is a neat little article and something that every cigar smoker should have.

Scott's Smoke Shop

Three cigars of quality are made by William Scott at his factory and store, 187 Middlesex street. They are "Scott's Fresh Havana Smoker," "Scott's Royal-R," and "Scott's Level Best," the latter a 10-cent cigar and the other two selling for 5 cents. Mr. Scott has been in the business of making cigars for the past eight years, and his trade has increased remarkably. At first he was making but 50,000 cigars a year while now he manufactures approximately 500,000 in one year. His cigars find a wide demand everywhere throughout this city, and throughout the Merrimack Valley in general. The work is all done by hand.

Mr. Harkins' Leader

Two more local leaders are made at the factory of Mr. Robert H. Harkins at 912 Gorham street. They are "Social Ten" and "Central," a ten and a five cent cigar respectively. Mr. Harkins, too, is prominent among local dealers, and his product, made under the most modern and sanitary conditions, has an exceedingly wide market. Many Lowell cigar lovers have placed the brands manufactured by Mr. Harkins at the top of their list of favorites. Like Mr. Scott, Mr. Harkins uses only the best of stock, and great care is taken with the work.

James H. Buckley—"Buck's Best"

"Buck's Best" and "Boston Terrier" are two brands of cigars that are very well known in this city and the surrounding cities throughout the district. They too, are Lowell-made cigars, being the product of the factory of Mr. James H. Buckley at 131 Central street, another up-to-date and thriving establishment. By using the tobacco and employing only experts, Mr. Buckley has succeeded in turning out a cigar that many particular smokers have chosen as their favorite. "Buck's Best" is a ten cent cigar that is well worth the price, while "Boston Terrier" is a five cent cigar of unusual quality.

The foregoing dealers and manufacturers are among Lowell's foremost cigar men. Their "Cigar Day" advertisements appear on this page and should be read with interest. Men who remember them when purchasing their daily smokes will have no regrets for the products of all these men are of recognized high quality and have a big market not in Lowell alone but elsewhere.

FIVE YEARS IN PRISON

JOHN H. GRONIN SENTENCED IN PORTLAND AND APPEAL TAKEN TO LAW COURT

PORTLAND, Me., Oct. 10.—In the superior court yesterday morning Judge J. E. P. Connolly sentenced John H. Gronin of Waterville, who was convicted of an attempt to murder his wife, to state prison for not less than five or more than 10 years. Col. W. C. Eaton, his attorney, entered an appeal, and George H. Gronin and Sumner Boyer of Waterville gave $10,000 bond pending a presentation of a bill of exceptions at the December term of the law court.

SMALL FIRES EXTINGUISHED

The members of Engine 2 were summoned to the corner of Branch and Smith streets shortly after seven o'clock this morning where a fire had started from an incandescent stove. The damage was confined to the barber shop on the ground floor of a building. Frank Lemiro owns the shop.

The members of those 11 were called to the Lundberg street bridge at 6 o'clock last night to extinguish a small fire which probably started from a cigarette or cigar stub. Slight damage.

Union Men Discuss Civil Service With Mayor and 2 Commissioners

Timothy Bourke, president, and Charles A. Anderson, secretary of the Trades and Labor Council, and William Gordon, president of the Municipal Employees union, and delegates William Welch, James Hickey and John Conkey had a conference last night with Mayor Murphy and Commissioners Donnelly and Morse. It was an executive conference and was held in the mayor's office.

The union men wanted to learn about the operation of the civil service laws recently adopted by the municipal council at the behest of the union members. They were informed by the mayor and the commissioners that the municipal council has nothing whatever to do with the operation of the civil service. Mr. Gilbert, state registrar of labor, arrives, nothing will be known about the system. Mr. Gilbert will come to Lowell on Tuesday next and will proceed with the installation of his system of labor registration. It will be the same as that installed elsewhere in the state.

The union men felt that members of the municipal unions should be first choice when men are selected for places, but they were informed that the civil service system makes no mention of union men.

The mayor told the union men that municipal commissioners will not have anything whatever to do with the system, nor will they interfere in the slightest with its operation after it has been installed.

EXPLOSION BURNS ROOFER

GASOLINE CAN BLOWN 60 FT. INTO AIR WHEN GUY MEADER TRIES TO FILL HEATER

ST. JOHNSBURY, Vt., Oct. 10.—Guy E. Meader, a roofer, was badly burned yesterday when a can of gasoline from which he was filling a heater exploded. The can was blown 60 ft. into the air and Meader's clothes ignited.

Before the flames were extinguished by fellow-roofers both of Meader's hands and one leg and his face were severely burned. Dr. W. B. Fitch ordered his removal to Brightlook hospital, where it is feared he may lose part of one hand.

NEW PASTOR CALLED

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH WANTS MAN FROM MISSOURI—NAME PRESENTED BY COMMITTEE

At a meeting of the First Baptist church held last evening, it was voted to extend a call to Rev. A. C. Archibald, pastor of the First Baptist church of St. Joseph, Mo. The pulpit supply committee, through its chairman, F. A. Bowen, presented the name of Rev. Mr. Archibald and after hearing statements from other members of the committee and discussing the matter for an hour it was unanimously voted to extend the call. Rev. Mr. Archibald was formerly pastor of the First Baptist church in Brockton, where he had remarkable success. He is a native of Nova Scotia. He was educated at Acadia college and at Newton Theological seminary, where he was a classmate of the late Rev. H. S. Pinkham. His father and three brothers are ministers. He has a wife and three children.

Roll Call Supper

The annual roll call and supper of the First Baptist church was held last night in the church vestry and was attended by more than 250 of the members and friends of the church. A social hour preceded the supper with an organ recital by F. B. Hill, church organist. Rev. E. R. Harris, pastor of the First Baptist church, was the speaker.

LEVINSKY BEATS SMITH

GUNBOAT DOWNED IN 10-ROUND BOUT AT NEW YORK—BOTH MEN SEVERELY PUNISHED

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—Battling Levinsky of this city, outpointed and out-fought Gunboat Smith of California, in a 10-round bout here last night. Levinsky weighed 172½, Smith 180 pounds. Levinsky did all the leading in the first four rounds in each of which he had a fair margin. The fifth round was even but from the sixth on Levinsky had it all his own way.

In the early rounds, Levinsky made no attempt at leading. He avoided several of the gunner's rushes and contented himself with blocking cleverly and side-stepping. He hardly used his right in these rounds and depended on left hooks and upper cuts. Both men were severely punished about the body.

Levinsky woke up in the sixth and waded in. Smith landed occasionally but Levinsky had all the better of it in the latter rounds.

COURT GENERAL DIMON

Court General Dimon met in regular session last night with a large attendance of members. Sub Chief Ranger Quinn presided. The report of the sick committee showed that only two members were ill. Routine business was transacted and a social hour enjoyed.

CUTS CORN, DEATH RESULTS

PITTSFIELD, October 10.—Daniel Hughes died at the House of Mercy hospital yesterday after an illness of only 24 hours, death being caused by tetanus contracted through blood poisoning in his foot as a result of cutting a corn.

Mr. Hughes was employed on the Zenas Crane estate in Cranville. He served in the Civil war as a member of Co. 1, 31st regiment, Mass. Inf. He was a minute man in the Allen Guards. He was a member of Rockwell Post, G. A. R. He leaves three sons, Charles L. Hughes of Dalton, Edward J. Hughes of Beverly and Irving Hughes of this city, and two daughters, Miss Marietta Hughes and Mrs. James Briggs of Dalton.

LADIES' AID SOCIETY

The Ladies' Aid society of St. Patrick's church held the first meeting of the fall term last evening in the parochial school hall and made plans for the coming year. The meeting was very largely attended and great enthusiasm was shown. President Helen M. O'Sullivan called the attention of those present to many phases of the work that call for unusual attention at the present time and urged all to manifest the same interest that they have shown in the past. Rev. Joseph A. Curtin, the spiritual director, was present and spoke informally on the program for the coming year, expressing confidence in the promising outlook.

That in four weeks more we shall have an election.

That business is soon going to be booming in every line.

That Dave says that John Green has been, along with being one.

That everybody is well pleased that Kelt's returned to straight vaudeville.

That a man never boasts of his will power if his wife is around.

That life is not so short but what there is time for courtesy.

That the flowery speech is not always productive of wholesome fruit.

That only the bachelors believe fools rush in where angels fear to tread.

That life insurance makes most men worth more dead than alive.

That good advice has been known to crack the cement of friendship.

That insurance is going up as a result of the great fire loss at Salem.

That it's a world serious for the players all right.

That Joseph P. Roarke will make a capable grand knight for the K. of C.

That still the police have no clue in the Gings murder.

That picture of Lawyer O'Connor makes the lawyer look quite serious.

That the action of men are the best interpreters of their thoughts.

That the pig skin business is on the rise.

That the national flags on The Sun building get them all talking.

That, anyway, the candidates will find out just how popular they are.

That the forest is a beautiful place at this season.

That the new department features in The Sun are the delight of the ladies.

That Engineer Barbour shaves close when it comes to the employment of labor.

That Jod Mullin, the coal purveyor, has entered the lists as a candidate for alderman.

That uncle Levi Gould will soon know what it means to be of a "retiring disposition."

That John Green will personally conduct a "slag" at North Chelmsford, tomorrow.

That the municipal council should go into secret session and forget to come out of it.

That the "scrench" of the switchmen in Merrimack square is getting very tiresome.

That some of the polling booths need annexes to accommodate the extra precinct officers.

That Walter Queenan is growing quite important looking as the happy day draws near.

That the comfort station is an ideal place for a certain type of local reformers to meet.

That there is nothing like a big tax bill to knock the stuffing out of the campaign falsehoods.

That it is better politics to tear up and build a new street than to keep the old one in repair.

That a man with a poor memory should keep copies of his campaign speeches for future reference.

That city governments are not established for the sole purpose of finding work for political heelers.

That Rep. Brennan will have the death of James Trudeau looked into officially, or know the reason why.

That Sheriff Fairbairn has a chance to give us a good, discreet, level-headed man of repute for deputy sheriff.

Princeton, Ill.—"I had inflammation, hard headaches in the back of my neck and a weakness all caused by female trouble, and I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound with such excellent results that I am now feeling fine. I recommend the Compound and praise it to all. I shall be glad to have you publish my letter.

There is scarcely a neighbor around me who does not use your medicine."—Mrs. J. P. JOHNSON, R. No. 4, Box 30, Princeton, Illinois.

Experience of a Nurse.
Poland, N. Y.—"In my experience as a nurse I certainly think Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a great medicine. I wish all women with female troubles would take it. I took it when passing through the Change of Life with great results and I always recommend the Compound to all my patients if I know of their condition in time. I will gladly do all I can to help others to know of this great medicine."—Mrs. HORACE NEWMAN, Poland, Herkimer Co., N. Y.

If you are ill do not drag along until an operation is necessary, but at once take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

For thirty years this famous medicine made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills.

times to have a crowd on Monday despite the great era of reform in Lowell.

That the Warren club banquet, to be held tomorrow, gives promise of being a most enjoyable affair.

That Philly Smith of Belvidere isn't the only sport listed from this city to see the world's series games.

That a certain letter carrier gets quite puffed when questioned as to his singing ability.

That Alex Rountree is hard at work enlisting his friends to join the Royal Arcanum.

That the cold weather has scattered the loafers who inhabit Fort Hill in the afternoon.

That a series of ladies' nights, which proved so popular last year will be in order at the Y. M. C. I. in a few weeks.

That those steel vaults will have to be installed at city hall, money or no money.

That the girls who remain single have themselves to blame. There's one born every minute, girls.

That some of the Boston attractions published in a morning paper for this week were concluded two weeks ago.

That according to the papers the war is still on. So a bit of prayer today can't do any harm.

That too many people spend today what they hope to earn tomorrow.

That a manufacturer is always an authority, if not on the tariff, at least on how much tariff he wants.

That Lowell will have clear drinking water some day if Commissioner Carmichael's word comes true.

That the three quickest means of communication are telephone, telegraph and tellawoman.

That Wm. H. Carey as chairman of the literary committee of the M. T. I. is a big success.

That "Tom" Delaney allows that the local K. of C. will make the usual hit in the Haverhill parade Monday.

That it now takes two men to fill the position of agent for the Bigelow Carpet Co. in this city.

That the new organist at St. Jean Baptiste church will also assume the duties of choirman.

That from this time forward until city election the candidates will endeavor to hypnotize the voters.

That Humphrey O'Sullivan is giving out some great dope on the future of business in his daily advertisements.

That the Maguire dancing exhibition Tuesday evening made a great hit.

That yesterday was "victors' day" in police court, judging from the number of out-of-towners in the dock.

That this is the season for bonfires because so many people carelessly burn leaves.

That Dr. Frank R. Brady of The Sun building is an authority on where the wild ducks and pheasants flock in Westford.

That more people have been tired this week from talking baseball than overworking.

That a widow who has neither all-mony nor a lot of either real estate or real cash, ceases to be a widow.

That because his father brags about his achievements is no infallible sign that a boy is so very smart.

That the man who wears his hair long is just as liable to be a near-laborer as a near-genius.

That neither contract labor nor convict labor are regarded very highly by a great many Lowell people.

That a local chambermaid applied to Commissioner Carmichael for the job of making the filter beds.

That some of the aspirants to office would feel happier if they knew the other fellow's dope.

That the clothespin legs look a little better in the Maxixe than legs of the wishbone type.

That a local stout lady has written to Barnum's skeleton man for the recipe.

That the red of the autumn tree is a sister of the hectic flush that whippers of early dawn.

That the membership in the Mt. Pleasant Golf club may take a do-vided jump ere another winter goes by.

That several of our wisest (?) young men are trying to settle the war when there's a crowd listening to them.

That to get the latest news of the war in Lowell you must buy each of the three editions of The Sun as they appear on the street.

That the South Lowell Improvement society means business and is bound to become a progressive and influential organization.

That under the effect of the belligerent atmosphere on four continents the "dove of peace" is sprouting rooster spurs.

That the hunter's moon is so called because by its light the veriest tyro of a hunter may see well enough to kill a guinea.

That the sidewalk along the land owned by the Lowell Textile school in Moody street is a disgrace to the institution.

That some of the most prominent citizens of Tewksbury advocate the selling of the town farm and the construction of a new town hall.

That the modern dances shorn of their objectionable features are a delight to the dancers and the onlookers.

That even the confirmed bachelor admits liking the chances of the wedding bells as they have been ringing locally the past few weeks.

That "Yeast" has collected a group of local players from whom much may be expected, collectively and individually.

That if some of our municipal heads were made to eat their campaign promises, there would be some terribly sick stomachs at city hall.

That a man never seems to connect the two. But the fellow who has a lot of bad habits is the fellow who has a lot of bad luck.

That Secretary McAdoo of the treasury department doesn't believe in individuals hoarding their money. You're all right, Mac!

That in Revere gliding dancing is in vogue four nights a week, where formerly the novel dances held full sway every night in the week.

That in the opinion of the majority of dancers, the modern dances have met their Waterloo, and as a consequence the old-fashioned glide dances will hold the boards this winter.

That the speech on the Panama canal by Louis K. Rouvree of Boston at the Matthews' smoker last Tuesday evening well repaid the members and their friends for their attendance.

That when the more wagon backs up in front of a house none of the women in the neighborhood get any work done until the wagon starts away again.

That the program maker who assures all the candidates of the club's support, as a lure to attract and add, sometimes gets away with it and sometimes doesn't.

That the municipal movies at city hall have all the elements of a thriller, including love, and hate, and hair-breadth escapes and very unpleasant

"surprises."

That despite Mayor Murphy's well advertised determination to stop Sunday work, the work on the floor of the Hildreth building went on unmolested in full view of the public last Sunday.

That quite a number of young girls have come to grief at the hands of young men who sport automobiles and make a business of picking up young girls for joy rides to the suburbs and neighboring cities.

That the death of A. L. Bacheller following that of Calvin W. Jurbank, removes two of the favorite schoolmasters in Lowell, teachers of the old school for almost a half century.

That the chances are no shade less that the candidates for deputy sheriff will be touched in Westford street.

That the only way some of our political notables will ever get any higher is by joining the Glidden Aero club. With all the hot air on tap they ought to make a new record for altitude.

That, like Moses in sight of the promised land, one candidate intends to go to the top of Fort Hill the night before and pray for success.

BUSINESS EFFICIENCY

Perhaps no term is used more commonly or more thoughtlessly in discussions of modern business than "efficiency," for efficiency in all relating to industry is the most important need of the times. Gradually the old monopolistic management of business is giving way to a new order and the days of enormous individual success are no more. In most lines competition is keen and the business that wishes to be successful must eliminate all possible waste, must continually study its losses in relation to its profits, must seek out employees suited to their work and must see to it that employees devote their energies to the best advantage during their hours of activity. All of these things are but side issues of the application of business efficiency.

As the efficient business is the most successful business so too is the efficient worker the most successful individual. He who, when he enters a trade or a profession, looks upon his term of preparation as complete will remain in the lower ranks of his class; he who will advance is the man who is never too old or too experienced to learn. There is no such word as "finished" in the language of efficiency; its students who are drawn from the ranks of the employers as well as the ranks of the employed are always learning, always striving to promote business efficiency. The man who, after being forty years in some line of business, experiments along new lines is the man who fully understands the meaning of efficiency. His rewards will be the rewards of efficiency—which are very great.

In the furtherance of efficiency among employees some of the largest manufacturing plants in the country have conceived the idea of opening practical business schools in connection with their plants and of teaching the most advanced methods of eliminating waste and making the most of raw material. This method has been adopted for years in Germany which by means of it largely captured the world trade in some lines of manufacture. The head of the local textile school recently described to a Sun representative a typical German chemical laboratory devoted to the manufacture of dye stuffs: Opening from a long corridor were several individual suites of rooms, each occupied by a dye expert, each of whom was busily experimenting towards a certain end. When anything worth while was evolved, all the experts and a large group of students were called in consultation in a common laboratory and the discovery made known. The German government encouraged this method of promoting manufacturing efficiency and then took precautions so that the German nation reaped the benefits resulting from German enterprise and invention. So far American manufacture has been negligent in the application of efficiency as a science and it is no secret that dependence on foreign sources of supply was largely due to the fact that imported chemicals and dyes could be bought in the foreign market more cheaply than they could be made at home. In this is an acknowledgment of the superiority of foreign efficiency.

That American manufacturers are realizing this more and more is apparent from the fact that some of the largest manufacturing plants in the country have recently added a corps of efficiency experts to their administrative body. Occasionally a young man on graduating from the Lowell textile school becomes an expert in the promotion of efficient methods in one of the largest mills of the country. Many men engaged in the textile industry make no secret of the fact, too, that the preponderance of cheap immigrant labor has cost more in efficiency losses than it has saved in wage payments. The waste between the looms, the poorly worn cloth and the wear and tear on textile machinery may soon eat up the wage difference of three or four dollars per employee.

One of the direct lessons of efficiency is that wage-earners should strive to become as proficient as possible in their chosen lines of activity; confident in the belief that ability must eventually win out. The time-server or place-filler is among the waste product of the wage earners. Success will crown the efforts of the searcher after efficiency. As time goes on and as the need for conservation becomes more pressing the truth of this will become still more apparent. It is an age of efficiency and the successful worker is he who feels that there is always something to learn. If he admits the truth of this at 20, he will admit it more readily at 70 when he enjoys the fruits of business efficiency.

MR. BIRD SPEAKS

Those who want to believe that the republican party is not the same old party, hiding its head, earth-like, in the sands of self-satisfaction and with the same old bag of tricks to delude the very elect, should carefully avoid reading the speech made by Charles Sumner Bird at the progressive convention in Faneuil hall last week. In that speech, or that part of it which refers to the old guard, Mr. Bird gives no new political belief and gives voice to no superlative wisdom, but he punctures the bas of republican hypocrisy, neatly and convincingly. Those who have read the negative, meaningless and altogether harmless platform of the Massachusetts republicans before reading Mr. Bird's speech will appreciate the full force of the progressive leader's reasoning.

In answer to the republican claim of being awake "to new truth and new duty" and acquiring "leadership among better paths," Mr. Bird asks if the chairman of the republican state committee, who made the claim, referred to Perrowe, on whom comment is unnecessary, or to Cannon, "the embodiment of the stand-pat doctrine: the man who was defeated for the speakership by the members of his own party, and yet had the support of Mr. McCall, who once suggested him for the presidency?" He then goes on to enumerate other indications of a revival of the stand pat policy, and says of the "new" leaders of progressive republicanism: "These republican leaders . . . have, as it were, arisen from the grave and these are the men who have been selected by the republican machine to lead the republican party along 'better paths'."

A little reflection on these facts and others not mentioned will convince the disinterested student of political affairs that "the republican leaders have not seen 'new light' or 'new truth.' They are still the party of special privilege; of high protection; of broken pledges." Apparently hoping that the usual political reaction has arisen against the democratic party they wear only a thin veneer of progressiveness and march on to the fray with the old discarded policies and under the old discredited leaders. The lesson of progressive defection has been badly learned, and the things mentioned by Mr. Bird stand between his party and a return to their ancient fold. One may differ with progressive policies, but they are at least honest; where is there any honesty in the republican platform or policies?

PRETEXTS FOR WAR

The pretexts advanced to excuse the present war by those held generally responsible throughout the world are so fat and flimsy that they can scarcely be believed by the apologists themselves. Despite any and all explanations there seems to be a general feeling in this country that the war is absolutely unjustifiable. Some comparatively trivial occurrences may have served as the match that set fire to the passions of the nations but underlying all is the conviction that the war is the result of long and careful plotting—the fruition of a positive preparation. On one point at least there can be little difference of opinion; that point is the tragedy of Belgium's position. Prosperous, peaceful, progressive, industrious, this splendid people dwelt in harmony and domestic virtue until an arrogant power, mad with militarism, invaded their neutral territory and caused them to arise in a patriotic protest. Now their fields have been devastated, the villages depopulated, their cities laid in ruins, the fruits of their culture scattered, their people plunged in sorrow, facing all manner of privation and mourning for thousands of their heroic dead. When time collects the crimes of the nations one against the other there will not be a darker blot on the whole record than the present fate of Belgium, which is weeping in vain for Louvain, Liege and Tervueren and is today waiting anxiously with fearful eyes on the fate of Antwerp.

BETWEEN TWO FIRES

Like many another great man, President Wilson is blessed in his enemies. Those who opposed him on tariff grounds helped to gain popular support for the bill; those who mocked, ridiculed and calumniated him for his powerful attitude towards Mexico killed their own cause by over-vehementness; those who at first condemned the currency bill talked themselves out of arguments and finally jumped on the Wilson wagon to save their face. At the present time he is being condemned by two groups of opponents who serve to show up the inconsistency of the criticisms in the most delightful manner. On the one hand we find some malicious critics insinuating that the president has surrendered to the trusts because of taking the personal responsibility clause from the Clayton anti-trust bill, while the critics of this region accuse him of destroying business because of the same bill. Neither side can deny, however, that as governor of New Jersey, President Wilson made his greatest reputation by his anti-trust agitation, resulting in seven bills which were accepted as models by many states in the Union. This anti-trust reputation did not prevent his going to the White House and there is no indication of business ruin in New Jersey. In this case he can be judged by results far better than by the paradoxical accusations of his opponents.

ESCAPING THE PENALTY

A Chicago committee which has been investigating the relation between crime and its punishment in that city has made some important discoveries. It finds that the proportion of those punished to those that go free—considering only those arrested—is one to thirty. Unfortunately it is not according to common sense to assume that the 29 who escape out of 30 arrested are innocent; the natural reflection is that very many who commit crimes in Chicago escape through some technicality, the skill of lawyers or lack of evidence. In this connection the following quotation from the Lynn News hits the nail on the head: "Courts in small communities stand behind the police fairly well and make their work easier by passing out quick and adequate punishment for offenses. Courts in larger cities are not always so sure. And in the cases where municipal courts do justice there is altogether too much of a chance that higher courts, removed from the scene of the offense and with crowded dockets, will be too lenient with offenders and too hush on society. We do not half so much need new laws or even reformed laws as we need the quick and sure enforcement of the laws we have. Criminals ought to know that the chances are against them instead of with them."

THE DRY PLANK

The prohibitionists have a real live grievance, and who, knowing the reason, can blame them? Without word of warning some wily political thieves crept out in the shadows and stole the dry plank, their platform. Now the prohibitionists who have become much attached to their platform, regarding it in fact as their legitimate property, must either come before the people without any platform at all or else play second fiddle.

The possible aerial invasion of England does not sound unreal to those who imagine six Zeppelins soaring over Antwerp and raining down bombs on the distracted inhabitants, the great guns sending immense shells over the water. At this formidable city the war seems to have condensed its most terrible efforts and the world may be prepared for anything henceforth. Count Zeppelin, in his well-known devotion to German ideals probably feels that the struggles of his life have been well repaid but Antwerp will forever curse his memory.

Judge Murray of the Boston municipal court condemns the present method of dealing with inebriates. It certainly is a reproach to Massachusetts—a fact which anybody will understand who sees a wretched woman sentenced to jail for the twentieth time, the judge meantime knowing that she'll be back for her twenty-first sentence in three months.

Where are all the comments of yesterday about the immorality of the new dances? Does the fact that they are no longer new make them any better?

What's this? Street car men strike in Mexico City! Sure sign of returning civilization.

There's a murderer running around loose somewhere still.

And after Antwerp?

POLITICAL ADVERTISING

A pole erected by a public service corporation should not be utilized as a billboard in this or any other city. The approach of the campaign brings to public notice many cards of candidates tucked upon the poles about the city, which are offensive to the eye, a contribution to the clutter of the street and a violation of tidiness which ought not to be tolerated. Lynn News.

IN THE EAST

Germany has lost a torpedo boat destroyer, and some islands in the Pacific ocean; neither the islands nor the destroyer was necessary to Germany's welfare; figure it out which is the greater loss.

The Marshall Islands and the Caroline Islands where the seafarers were made by Japan, are small in land and small in population.

The United States need not be alarmed. England may be depended on to prevent the use of the islands in a way unriendly to this country. Lowell Sun.

PURE FOOD

The most practical way to bring about pure food reform is to patronize those who sell the food which is above suspicion. It is by this means, generally put in effect, that competition will be forced, not so much in the matter of price as in that of quality; and when the final balance is struck it is quality that counts for economy in more ways than one.

It is a subject for every individual housewife, who is concerned, as she should be, with household economy and with the good health and welfare of the family, to consider this. It is a question with her whether she shall consent to be misled when she can just as well avoid it—a most practical question for herself and for every member of her family.—Manchester Leader.

AUTO TAXES

Congress is having trouble in getting the new revenue bill into shape. It is now proposed not to tax automobiles and gasoline, a sensible and equitable decision. Autos are now doubly taxed; with a tax on sales on horse power and on gasoline they would be taxed five times.—New Bedford Standard.

HARD ON HOGAN

A Boston man has asked the courts to permit his family to change their name from Hogan to Homans, and a prominent citizen of the latter name has entered objection to such a change. The bulk of the sentiment, no doubt, will be with Homans, as no one can blame him for objecting to becoming a namesake of such a person as Hogan seems to be.—Fall River Globe.

HIS MASTER'S VOICE

"I won, all right, in the progressive primaries, but was counted out," says Plain Bill Sulzer. Didn't Col. Roosevelt say something to the same effect after the republican national convention in Chicago in 1912?

THE SPEL BINDER

The Complacent Citizen in the Courier-Citizen thinks that because there is a vacancy in the list of deputy sheriffs sought after by democrats, the demerits will withhold their criticism of the county ring, and presumably elect County Commissioner and Justices without connection with the election of a county commissioner is a little too hard to fathom. The sheriff, who is elected by the people, and not appointed by the county commissioners, has the appointment of the deputies and he has his own political fences to look after without taking up the cause of the county commissioner or anyone else.

By the way, are you a candidate for deputy sheriff? Most everybody else is. A day or two ago The Sun called up Sheriff Fairbank and asked him if he had decided upon an appointee as yet. The sheriff replied, negatively, stating that it would take some time to make the qualifications of the candidates. If he attempts to look into the qualifications of all of them, in January, it will take the poor man the remainder of his natural life.

Earlier in the week I mentioned about a dozen of the candidates in this column and was subsequently "called down" by the friends of about two dozen more for not mentioning them. Thus in order to be entirely fair in the matter I shall publish all names sent in for publication, without cost.

In the second crop of candidates for the position, according to report, are Eugene Carville, son-in-law of the late Eugene Higgins; Joseph H. McGrath, custodian of the postoffice; Cornelius F. Cronin, assistant city messenger; Cornelius P. Sullivan, keeper at the Lowell Jail; Constable Ezra Mansur; Martin D. Sullivan, insurance agent, and it is reported that "Former Mayor" Brown is a receptive candidate.

The position of deputy sheriff looks like a glenore from the road; nothing to do but serve papers on people, backed up by some lawyer's say-so, and sit within a fine looking uniform at the sessions of court, with good money coming in, into the bargain; and that's why there are so many candidates in the field. But the deputy sheriff has a great responsibility and few of them ever escape without getting in bad at some time or other, even if they do finally win out. A deputy sheriff must know some law, particularly that relative to his duties and the limitations of his authority, and for all that he may make through ignorance, carelessness, or any other cause, he or his bondsmen must settle.

Mr. O'Connor Opens Headquarters
J. Joseph O'Connor has opened headquarters in Merrimack street with a popular hustler in charge in the person of Rep. John J. Gilbride. Mr. O'Connor is not at all certain over the republican majority of the district or the activity of Congressman Rogers and his press agents, and will conduct an active campaign. Mr. O'Connor believes that this district should have a congressman at Washington who is in sympathy with the administration, and he believes that he is going to get it. It is a district of working people, those people should be represented in congress. At the present time only a few financial interests, the cotton mills, are represented there, and it is in their interest that Congressman Rogers is at present making such a fight on the legislative conditions that exist in the cotton mills, which are the dangerous competitors of the northern cotton interests. And it seems strange to all that if the republican party is so interested in the welfare of the working people of the south it did not enact legislation aiming at the betterment of their conditions long ago, as it has held undisputed sway in congress for decades and the labor conditions in the south have been in vogue for a number of years. Mr. O'Connor undoubtedly will be heard on the stump and will have some interesting material to offer for the consideration of the voters of the district.

Republican City Committee
Ex-Senator Horton H. Hilton, who was over a hustler in politics, having been given the rather empty honor of chairmanship of the republican city committee, is starting out boldly to ascertain whether or not there is anything to the statement, "they do come out for us." He is going to attend to the subject of discussion was that of the resurrection. One old atheist, speaking for the negative, asked the question: "Suppose I was out on a cannibal island and was cooked up and eaten by 10,000 savages, how would I come back again?"

The republican city committee has been cooked up and eaten by some 10,000 voters and the feast took place a couple of years ago. But "Horty" believes that by getting the old machine in working order it can do something for McCall for governor, and he's going to try it, as even an approved motto for the revived city committee would be: "Let the dead bury their dead," with particular reference to the creditors of the old organization.

Mayor's Fact Trip
On Wednesday, Mayor Murphy disappeared from the city hall and the reporters and the other members of the municipal council, from all accounts, were at a loss to account for his whereabouts. The following morning the Boston Herald solved the mystery by the publication of the following item:

The weekly session of the recess committee on city charters at the state house yesterday, Mayor Murphy and City Solicitor Hennessey of Lowell were heard in executive session. The subject of the city charter of Lowell is working well in the main, but they would suggest some changes. The mayor desires more power and favors a term of four years for the mayor, an elective instead of two. They stated that the finances of Lowell are in better condition now than for some years past.

There was no need of His Honor making a secret of his trip to Boston. He had a perfect right to appear before the recess committee as has any of the members of the municipal council, so that it is not hard to find he was living to say anything over to them, unless some unkind critic might take his action to mean that he wanted to impress the committee with the belief that he was the city of Lowell. Itself, as others have done, and quite recently, when they were at the city hall, His Honor believes that the mayor should have a four-year term. Instead of two, may cause some to believe that he is about to revise his promise not to run for a second term, which would be only in line with the general revision of promises that has taken place of late. His Honor stated that the finances of Lowell are in better condition now than for some time past, despite the fact that the municipal council only a few weeks ago was in such financial straits that it attempted to borrow the city's trust funds, but it is not likely that he informed the committee that the present tax rate of Lowell is the highest in its history.

But relative to giving the mayor a four-year term and more power, Mayor Murphy is not alone in the opinion. While as a general proposition the present city charter is way ahead of the old form of government, as His Honor states, there is room for improvement. It is believed by many that the mayor should have more power, for at present, while he is named as the executive head of the city and as such is looked to by citizens generally, he has absolutely no executive power is but a commissioner with a little more to do, and another stick in the wheel, however, for the shortcomings of the government in which he is but one of the directors as it were. Cities in the south and west that have had more experience with the commission form of government are looking with favor on a new form of charter that makes the mayor a business manager with the municipal council as his cabinet. He is given great power with a four-year term while he is restrained through the recall proviso. In Boston a charter was passed in 1908 that gave the executive head in fact with a four-year term and the Boston charter appears to be working out well. Years ago republican influences had the Lowell charter amended so as to give the mayor much more executive power than he ever had before and it was regarded as the best thing for the city. Immediately after the adoption of the amendments the electorate of Lowell placed the late Hon. William F. Courney, a democrat, in the mayor's chair and the worst republicans who had elected the new charter firmly believing at the time that their party would be successful in the next election, ran back to the legislature and got the amendments withdrawn or revamped or amended at any rate they took away the mayor's executive power and had an opportunity to do so. While all sorts of suggestions as to the best changes in the charter are heard from time to time, many hold to the view that the mayor should be elected as executive head, with executive power with a municipal commission of five members to carry out the work of the different departments, all answerable to the mayor, the latter to the people. A well known weakness of the present charter is the section of the charter that provides for the heads of departments by the entire council instead of by appointment by the commission directly responsible for the departments. The city has had two instances of a clash over this section: in the case of former Mayor O'Donnell and Supt. Martin Conroy, and in the case of Mayor O'Donnell and the Morse-Putnam controversy of recent date. In his address before the League of American Municipalities at Buffalo, N. Y. former Mayor O'Donnell called this section of the charter the Lowell charter and the matter caused considerable discussion among the delegates some of whom came from cities that were operating under similar provisions. It was agreed that if a city with a mayor and department heads should be permitted to name the heads of those departments. But as I said before, with whatever faults may lurk within its sections, the present Lowell charter is a big improvement over the old system of government and most of its present apparent weaknesses are not those of the instrument itself, but of the men who are attempting to apply or misapply it.

Candidate Dunn a Busy Man
Harry P. Dunn, of West Lynn, the hustling democratic candidate for senator in the seventh district was in town yesterday passing through after a tour of the district. He had just taken a trip through the district. The first question asked me by the candidate. Upon replying negatively, he said: "Well, it's some district to cover. It abounds in territory." And between now and election day, Mr. Dunn will have traversed almost every inch of it. Mr. Dunn proposes to hold two hall rallies in this city, one in each of the two wards in the district while he will also make brief noonday speeches later on.

And at the plant of the Hulse Electric company. Among his speakers at the rallies will be ex-Rep. Kiley of Lynn who made a most favorable impression in this city when he spoke here before. A few minutes' conversation with Mr. Dunn will convince one that while a resident of Lynn who seems far removed from the remainder of the district, he is quite familiar with its people and conditions, even to the most remote corners. He has an active and enthusiastic lieutenant in Walter Creamer, a well known member of the democratic state committee. Mr. Creamer will cover the district for his friends. SAYS HE SAW MRS. CARMAN FIRE SHOT

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—That Frank J. Farrell, the so-called tramp attorney against Mrs. Florence Carman, claims to have actually seen the shot fired which killed Mrs. Louise Bailey in the office of Dr. Edwin Carman at Freeport on the night of June 20, was learned yesterday.

It is the first time Farrell's true relation to the prosecution's case has been revealed.

It was known that he was being relied upon heavily by District Attorney Lewis J. Smith of Nassau county to convict Mrs. Carman when she comes up for trial for murder in the first degree a week from Monday. But not until yesterday was his full importance realized. His complete story was never given out.

Revolver in Her Hand

When Farrell was arrested the morning after Mrs. Bailey was slain, it was reported that he had been going around the west side of the Carman house to beg a hand-out at the kitchen door shortly before 3 o'clock on the night of June 30. Suddenly, so the account of what he had told him, Farrell saw a woman coming toward him from the back of the house with a revolver in her hand.

Supposing that she intended to drive him away, Farrell, the authorities gave out, started to run. At that moment she said, he heard the crashing of glass, and then heard the report of a revolver.

District Attorney Smith created the impression at the time that he did not take much stock in Farrell's story, and that he did not think the "tramp" worth using as a witness at the owner's inquest. The owner's inquest, however, events that followed, all interest in him was apparently lost.

But, much to the amazement of everyone who followed the case closely, Farrell was put before the grand jury which indicted Mrs. Carman, instead of Elwood T. Barnes, an insurance agent, who had occasioned the arrest of Mrs. Carman by his sensational testimony at the inquest.

Saw Her Fire

It was learned yesterday that Farrell alleged when he heard the crashing of glass he turned and witnessed the woman with the revolver thrust the weapon through the window and fire. District Attorney Smith is satisfied that Farrell is telling the truth.

Farrell now assumes equal rank with Celia Coleman, the colored maid in the Carman household, in the prosecution's scheme of evidence.

His testimony is expected to furnish the corroboration necessary for Celia's story concerning the movements of his mistress on the night of the murder. John W. Graham, surrogate of Nassau county, and George M. Levy, are making no secret of the fact that they are preparing to train their main batteries on Farrell and Celia Coleman.

The defense is now busy delving into Farrell's past. The district attorney believes that Mrs. Carman's lawyers will not be able to break down Farrell in any essential part of his story, but will seek to impeach his testimony by discrediting his character if possible. Among other things, the defense will contend that Farrell has been a strike-breaker. Whatever his record may be along that line Mrs. Carman's counsel will endeavor to find out before the trial begins.

Man's Seen the Diary

To offset the strength that Farrell may lend to the state's case, it was admitted yesterday by one in a position to know that the district attorney has never been able to obtain the diary alleged to have been kept by Mrs. Carman of the conversations she overheard between the doctor and his wife.

Another element of weakness in the prosecution's case is the failure to find the revolver with which Mrs. Bailey was killed. A person intimately associated with the state's side of the approaching trial, acknowledged yesterday that the pistol had not been discovered.

District Attorney Smith, it was learned for the first time, will not follow the usual procedure in a murder trial. He will present his case along an original plan, somewhat after the manner in which a newspaper story is written. He intends to depart from the custom of establishing the corpus delicti at the beginning of the case, and will place it on the last page.

The psychological effect of this scheme is expected to grip the interest of the jurors at once, and concentrate their minds on the essentials and all-important issue in the case. The corpus delicti, although absolutely necessary, may be proved at any stage of the trial.

ST. PETER'S HOLY NAME

HELD MOST ENJOYABLE SMOKE TALK AND HEARD INTERESTING ADDRESSES LAST EVENING

A largely attended smoke talk was held last evening by the Holy Name society of St. Peter's church in the parochial school hall. After some routine business President Bernard D. Ward introduced Mr. Hugh J. Molloy, superintendent of schools, who delivered a very interesting address on various phases of the past great war of Europe and on their relation to the present conflict. The only true preservation of peace among nations, he said, is a practical Christianity.

Rev. Dr. Keleher also made some pertinent remarks about the causes of the great war, attributing it to the desire of the nations for the balance of European power. He advocated prayerful supplications for peace and urged the members of the society to come out in large numbers to communion next Sunday.

Following the addresses there was an informal concert. Songs were sung by Mr. Ruel Leclair, Chas. A. Carey and others. A violin solo was given by Charles O'Neill. Following was the committee in charge of the day shift: Michael J. Monahan, chairman, John O'Rourke, William Campbell, Bernard J. Riley, Thomas Reynolds, Richard J. Lyons, William P. Welch, Michael C. O'Dea, Denis Sheehan, assisted by the officers.

NEWSBOY DIES OF INJURIES

Benjamin Ranshouen, Jr., was covering Route in Pittsfield when Struck by Automobile

PITTSFIELD, Oct. 10.—Benjamin Ranshouen, Jr., aged 13, died at the House of Mercy yesterday from injuries received when he was run over on North street Thursday night by an automobile driven by Harold J. Bridgman of Dalton.

The boy was on a bicycle and Mr. Bridgman says he crossed in front of his car when the bicycle skidded on wet pavement. He was a newsboy and had been covering his route on his wheel. His parents live at 100 Bridge avenue.

MELTING POT NETS $200

BOSTON, Oct. 10.—The first collection of old gold and silver from the suffrage melting pot, which was shipped this week to the national congressional committee in Chicago, was estimated at a total value of about $200.

The Massachusetts Political Equality unit is urging all who have not yet contributed to the melting pot to do so before election day. After that date contributions for the Massachusetts suffrage campaign will be gratefully received.

BED SHIRTS FOR WOUNDED

Eighteen are finished by Unitarian Women at Gloucester.—Mrs. Hammond Orders More Cloth

GLOUCESTER, Oct. 10.—Eighteen bed shirts for the wounded in Europe, made under the auspices of the local branch of the Red Cross, Mrs. John Hays Hammond, chairman, were completed yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. George W. Woodbury, who entertained the women's alliance of the First Parish, Unitarian church.

Mrs. Hammond, who furnished the cloth, has ordered an additional supply. The women's societies of St. Ann's Catholic church will work six bolts of cloth into garments.

Local Knights Observe Day—Will Parade in Haverhill—Program of Parade in Afternoon

The 423d anniversary of the discovery of America by Christopher Columbus will be observed in an informal way in Lowell Monday. This being a legal holiday practically all business will be suspended and the employees in the mills and other manufacturing concerns, as well as the clerks with the exception of those employed in meat and provision stores, will be given an entire holiday.

The city hall clerks will enjoy their liberty from noon today until Tuesday morning. The mail carriers were informed to remain at home all day Monday, while the clerks in the post-office will be kept busy from 8 to 10 a. m.

Haverhill will celebrate the day on a large scale and a large number of Lowell people will journey to the Shoe city to participate in the celebration. The entire membership of the Lowell council, Knights of Columbus will go to Haverhill, escorted by the Lowell Cadet band and will take part in the monster parade to be held under the auspices of the knights of that city.

Local Observance
However, the Lowell knights did not want to let the day pass by without having a celebration of some sort in this city and accordingly they have made arrangements for a brief parade and church service. According to the program the knights will assemble in their quarters in Ames street at 9:15 a. m. and fifteen minutes later, headed by the Lowell Cadet band, they will march to St. Peter's church in Gorham street, where a high mass will be celebrated at 10 o'clock by the chaplain of the council, Rev. W. George Mullin, who will also deliver the sermon.

A pretty ceremony will be held in the church prior to the mass, when a handsome large American flag will be blessed. The flag was recently purchased by the council and arrangements were made to have the national colors blessed as soon as the knights reach the church. The officiating clergyman at the exercises will be Rev. Fr. Mullin. The new flag will be carried in the parade at Haverhill.

At the close of the mass the members will repair to their respective homes for dinner and are all to return to the hall in Ames street at 12:30 o'clock. The line will again be formed and the procession will proceed to the Middlesex street station, where at 1:45 o'clock a special train will be boarded for Haverhill. The friends and relatives of the knights who would like to go to Haverhill on Monday are invited to ride on the special train as arrangements have been made for cut-ladders.

Sports
In the forenoon a football game will be played at Spaulding park between the Lowell high school team and the Lawrence academy five. The game will be called at 10 o'clock and it is believed the contest will be a live one.

Golf Tournaments
The Vesper Country, Longmeadow and Mt. Pleasant clubs will hold golf tournaments in the afternoon. At the Bunting club grounds in South Lowell a football game and field athletics will be held at 2:30 o'clock.

World's Series
The world's series game in Boston will attract many fans from this city, who have been fortunate enough to secure tickets, while The Sun announcing and bulletin service will give the details to the fans who stay at home.

The Haverhill Observance
With plans completed by the various committees and invitations accepted by councils of the order in several cities and towns in Massachusetts and New Hampshire it is expected that the parade of the Knights of Columbus will be held in Haverhill Monday in honor of the discoverer of America.

It will be one of the best of its kind ever held in Essex county. From reports received from the councils to whom invitations to join in the parade had been extended about 120 men will be in line. The parade is being held under the auspices of Haverhill council No. 202 which has made elaborate arrangements for it. Haverhill is already in gala attire for the parade, many of the leading stores and other business places, besides numerous residences, being decorated.

The councils which will participate in the parade besides their Fourth Degree assemblies include, Lawrence, Lowell, Manchester, N. H., Nashua, N. H., Newburyport, Amesbury, Andover and Haverhill. Delegations from the Andover and Pepperell councils will march with Lowell council. The parade which will start at 2:15 p. m. will form on Winter street, the right resting on Portland street.

The line of march will be on Winter street to Lafayette square, down Essex street to Washington square, to Merrimack street, down Merrimack street to Bridge street, over Bridge street to the Bradford district common, countermarch over Bridge street to Main street where the line will be reviewed by Mayor Edwin H. Moulton and other members of the city council, up Main street to Monument square and disband.

Several prominent clergymen and laymen will be the guests of Haverhill council. The laymen include Frederick W. Mansfield, receiver-general, and treasurer of the commonwealth of Massachusetts, Neil P. Moynihan, grand Police Court this morning was of short duration, but few cases being upon the docket. It was an easy day for the court officials.

Frank (Phinney) Boyle, the local pugilist, charged with assault and battery upon an old man several months ago, once more appeared on continuance today.

The old man upon whom the alleged assault was committed, is still in the hospital.

Michael P. O'Leary, a husky young citizen, will neither work nor keep sober, said his father this morning, when the son was arraigned for drunkenness.

Judge Enright gave the young man a lecture, telling him to keep away from his father and imposing a suspended sentence of six months in the house of correction.

Attorney Toye, counsel for the defense, asked for another continuance. The Boyle case will again be brought up on Oct. 17.

There were as usual several drunks who were disposed of in the usual way.

INDICT ELOPER EISMAN

GRAND JURY REPORTED 30 TRUE BILLS—STATE FARM COMMENDED—TRUE BILL IN AXE MURDER

PLYMOUTH, Oct. 10.—After being in session all the week, the Plymouth county grand jury reported late yesterday afternoon with 30 true bills, including several important cases. Among the bills was the case of Louis Eisman of Hull, charged with abducting Fern Hallinan, daughter of John Hallinan, July 2, 1914.

The complaint under which the case went to the grand jury was made by Joseph Hallinan, and charges Eisman with enticing from her home Fern Hallinan, an unmarried woman.

Commends State Farm
A number of people curious to know the result of the grand jury's deliberations including several women were present. Still another matter of importance was among the findings, the investigation of a harem about six months ago by District Attorney Albert E. Becker in the matter of alleged cruelties and misconduct of the officials of the Bridgewater state farm.

A paper signed by each member of the grand jury was filed with Judge Hugo A. Dubuque stating that after careful investigation no evidence of any nature tending to support the allegation had been found and further stating that it was the belief of the grand jury that the Bridgewater state farm was a credit to the community and commonwealth.

Indictment of Murder
An indictment of murder was found against Peter Goncalves of Halifax charged with the murder of his brother Vincent Goncalves with an axe August 12, 1914.

A bill was also found against John L. Butler of Boston, charged with assault with intent to murder Mary A. Fielding at Brockton July 23. This case is one that caused quite a stir in Brockton at the time.

Alma Fielding was found in a room at Hotel Victoria bleeding profusely from razor slashes in her wrist. Butler was arrested and charged with the deed, evidence supporting the complaint being secured tending to show that the couple had come to Brockton and registered, it is alleged.

Court will convene Tuesday with one of the largest dockets on record in Plymouth county.

CHINESE REPUBLIC FLAG FLOATED IN SUNSHINE TODAY

FROM SUN BUILDING FLAG POLE

Under the Stars and Stripes that floated from the top of The Sun building this morning waved a smaller flag that at first glance looked like a duplicate. Closer scrutiny, however, revealed that the smaller flag had no stars and that its bars were five in number and colored respectively, from top to bottom, red, yellow, blue, white and black. It is the flag of the new Chinese republic and the colors symbolically represent the five ancient races that comprise modern China: Chinese, Manchus, Mongols, Tibetans and Mohammedans.

Today is the third anniversary of the outbreak of the revolution at Wu-chang, from which modern China dates its independence. Last year the occasion was celebrated with great pomp and ceremony through the flower kingdom, but today China feels oppressed by the European war and is facing a serious situation. It is not probable, therefore, that the holiday will be observed with the usual solemnity, but those who fought and won Chinese liberty will be encouraged to show what they can do for their country.

Since the outbreak of war in Europe the flags floated from The Sun building have taken on a new significance as is evidenced by the many personal and telephone enquiries that come to the Sun office.

ACCUSED OF ASSASSINATION
VENICE, Oct. 9, via Paris, Oct. 10.—The trial of persons accused of the assassination of the heir apparent to the Austrian throne, Francis Ferdinand, and his consort, the Duchess of Hohenburg, will begin in Sarajevo on Monday before superior court Judge Von Curinadl. It is expected to last about three weeks. There are 25 prisoners, most of whom are Servians. Ten of the prisoners are under 20 years of age.

The indictment covers 37 printed pages and charges high treason. It further alleges that evidence obtained proves that the assassination of the archduke was only the means toward other treasonable ends.

COSTS $5 TO CHANGE MIND
BOSTON, Oct. 10.—Harvard university will place a tax on every student who changes his mind after 1 o'clock this afternoon, and those who wish to withdraw from any of the college courses or enter new ones must signify their intention of doing so before the bell sounds at high noon, or they will be charged $5 for every change made after that time.

Today marks the end of the second week since the opening of college, and by this time all students are supposed to know whether they wish to continue in the college courses they elected to study the first day college opened. Those whose minds are made up have a hour later than 1 o'clock will have to contribute $5 to the university's exchequer for each change of mind.

DUTTON-JONES
Harry A. Dutton, formerly of Chelmsford and Miss Carrie Josephine Jones, of Quincy were married Wednesday, the ceremony being performed at the home of the bride in Quincy by Rev. Mr. Sayre. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Ethel Hall, while the best man was Mr. J. E. Dinamore, assistant pastor of the First Baptist church. The bride was attended by Miss Agnes Pedlow of Lawrence and the best man was Mr. Joseph W. McLeod of Westworth, N. H., brother of the bridegroom. Following the reception a supper was served, after which Mr. and Mrs. McLeod left on an extended wedding tour.

MATRIMONIAL
Mr. Earl Revere McLeod and Miss Gertrude Jane Anderson were united in marriage at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James E. Anderson, 208 Moore street, by Rev. J. E. Dinamore, assistant pastor of the First Baptist church. The bride was attended by Miss Agnes Pedlow of Lawrence and the best man was Mr. Joseph W. McLeod of Westworth, N. H., brother of the bridegroom. Following the reception a supper was served, after which Mr. and Mrs. McLeod left on an extended wedding tour.

Hull Fisherman Fired 7 Shots Into It—Desperate Battle

HULL, Oct. 10.—A shark, at least 10 feet long, was killed in the waters of Gun Hook Cove, popular bathing resort, yesterday noon by Edwin Hatch after he fired seven shots into it. Hatch noticed the fin of the shark projecting from the water near the shore. Seizing his gun the fisherman leaped into a skiff and rowed toward the huge fish, firing a shot at it.

This wounded the shark, which promptly attacked the skiff, overturning it and throwing Hatch into the water. The fisherman succeeded in climbing into the boat and the battle was renewed.

Those members of the summer colony who will go in bathing at Gun Hook Cove declare they would never bathe again in such dangerous waters.

Lamson League Contests Proved Interesting—Other Matches

The Nonpareils took their game from the Sweep Offs and the Preferees defeated the Pneumatics in the two Lamson league contests rolled at Kittredge's alleys last night. Pauley was high man.

In the Lawrence Co. league the Yarn Dept. won from the Stocking Knit in a well bowled match. The Paper Box Five won from the Hosiery while Team One took the measure of Team Two. Pigeon and Trudelle did some sterling rolling in the first mentioned game.

The Single Men lost a close match to the Married Men and the Olympics defeated the Climbers in another good contest. Moran's 297 was high in the latter match. The scores:

MARKED FOR RUIN

LONDON, Oct. 10.—The correspondent of the Express in Paris telegraphs the following:

"The immediate objective of the German army is now no longer Paris but the channel ports. To sum up the German plan—the first blow on Paris having failed—the second blow must be aimed at England.

"The new lineup of the opposing forces means that northern France is destined to suffer a desolation similar to that already visited on Belgium. All of France's rich cities in the north have been marked for certain destruction and ruin.

"The French general staff is still confident of success but it is recognized that there can be no decisive victory while the masses engaged are so enormous. It is possible to hope for the defeat of the enemy's plan only if there can be a constant stream of reinforcements."

There was no fluke about the seven runs tallied by the Braves. Hard hitting came from the bat. Added to the heavy hitting of Stallings' men was everything that goes in baseball. It was not luck but superior work in every department which won the game.

Frank Gowdy was the batting hero of the first game. It was common talk among the supporters of the American league champs that the Braves' catcher would not connect for a foul off Bonds' delivery. Gowdy's bat certainly did some bolterous work yesterday.

Eddie Collins and Jack Barry looked bad in the eighth when Schmidt and Gowdy executed a double steal. It has been the boast of the Athletics that this feat was wellnigh impossible with either Barry or Collins taking the short throw. However, Schmidt crossed the plate and Gowdy scampered to second.

Connie Mack will be obliged to call upon all of his reserve strategy if he expects to win the series. With Bonds' retired to the scrap heap after a terrible tromping, the Philadelphia backstop will be put to it. Wyckoff is not the only young pitcher who will get a chance against the Braves.

Gunboat Smith looked like anything but a champion last night when he met Battling Levinsky in a New York ring over the ten round route. The man who fouled George Carpentier was outfought and outboxed after the first four rounds. Smith outweighed Levinsky by ten pounds.

The entries for the Bunting club meet on Monday are above the calibre of the usual track and field games, and the local fans who make the trip to Bunting park should be well repaid. Each event should furnish some really good going and a fast brush at the tape.

The implication in the first game of the series was beyond criticism. Not a single argument between players and decision maker occurred. Even the backstop of the Athletics had nothing but good to say concerning the eyesight of the four umpires.

What the Contractors and Real Estate Men are Doing—Closing up Jobs on Hand

Many Lowell people are at the present time either making or planning many improvements and alterations in their property, and the work is keeping a number of contractors and their men very busy. Quite a few new dwellings are also being erected, but the principal activity in the building field is in the line of smaller buildings such as shops, storage sheds, and several garages for private use.

Hildreth Building

Considerable remodeling is in progress at the Hildreth building, where the entrance and hallway are being entirely changed over. It is the intention to make the entrance to this large office building on a level with the sidewalk, and to make other improvements.

Sales by E. Gaston Campbell

E. Gaston Campbell, with offices at 327-328 Hildreth building, reports the following sales for the week ending Oct. 9:

Final papers have been passed on the old homestead of Paul Hardy in Hudson, N. H. This farm contains 65 acres, more or less, with a 15-room house, large barn, three poultry houses, greenhouse, a large variety of fruit trees, a colossal lot of different kinds of berries and also some personal property. Mr. Allen Andrews who has occupied this farm for the last 20 years, conveys to Maximo Milot, a local wood dealer.

Sales by F. D. Russell

F. D. Russell, 308 Hildreth building, reports the following sales for the week ending Oct. 9:

Final papers have been passed conveying title of a modern 2-1/2 story frame dwelling house with 7657 square feet of land upon which there is a garage situated at 178 Allen avenue, Centralville, to Joseph H. Eastwood, who buys for investment. The grantor is Frank A. Hammett.

Deeds have also been recorded conveying to D. L. Page title of a cottage and double 2-1/2 story house with land thereon situated off School street on a new street just opened by the Locks & Canals Co.

Also deeds have been recorded conveying title of a six tenement block situated on Hall street. The property is assessed for $3600. The grantor in this transaction is Paul Vigeant.

Also through this office has been leased the former residence of Rev. Mr. Higelow on Columbus avenue, and the former residence of C. E. Adams on Wilder street owned by Dr. G. Forrest Martin.

Thomas H. Elliot

Thomas H. Elliot, real estate broker, offices 64 Central street, corner of Prescott, reports the following sales negotiated during the past week ending Friday, Oct. 9:

Final papers have been passed in the transfer of the attractive cottage property at 43 Gershorn avenue near its junction with Moody street. The house is in cottage style with eight excellent rooms and equipped with every convenience. There is also a first-class stable on the premises. The land approximately 4500 square feet assessed at $1000. The assessment is $2000. The grantor in the transaction is Adeline Corbett, formerly of this city now living out of the state. The grantee is Mary Palla who purchases for purposes of personal occupancy.

Contracts have been closed on the purchase and sale of an excellent building site situated near Stevens street in the Highlands section. The lot is level and has a street frontage of 40 feet. It has an area of 5500 sq. ft. and is assessed at the rate of $1000 per foot, totaling $5500. The transfer is effected on behalf of a local owner, the purchaser being also a local person who will build a residence for personal occupancy during the coming season.

Also contracts have been closed on the purchase and sale of a fine real estate property situated near Gorham street. The house is full two and one-half story with ten rooms and provided with heat, bath and all conveniences. Connected with the house is a first-class stable and poultry house. The land is in excess of 45,000 sq. ft. and provides a splendid garden space for the place. The sale is negotiated on behalf of local owners, the purchaser being an out-of-town person buying for personal occupancy.

Sales by Edward F. Slattery, Jr.

Edward F. Slattery, Jr., 901 Sun building, reports the following sales for the week ending October 10th:

Final papers have been passed on the purchase and sale of the very large parcel of investment property situated at 605-608 Market street. This property consists of four tenements and two stores, having a total assessment of $4500. The sale was effected for a local savings institution and the purchaser, Mr. Joseph Bernetti, has already made extensive alterations on the property. He has added two more tenements to the building and renovated it throughout.

Sales Made by Abel R. Campbell

Abel R. Campbell, real estate and insurance broker with offices at 403-405 Sun building, reports the following sales for the week ending October 9th:

The sale of an excellent one family dwelling in Belvidere. This property occupies a prominent corner near Fort Hill avenue. The house contains 10 rooms and is equipped with quartered oak floors, fireplace, bath, heat and other modern appliances. The land to be conveyed with the house has an area of almost 6000 feet. The sale was effected for a local business man and the purchaser will occupy the house as a residence.

The sale of an unusually well built property consisting of a 10 room house, large stable and carriage shed and other out buildings. The house has a slated roof and is modern in all respects. The lot of land is especially attractive as it contains over 1-1/2 acres and there is an abundant supply of fruit and shade trees. The purchaser, who is a local business man, will renovate the property and occupy same as a dwelling. The property was sold to settle an estate. It is located near the Normal school. Names of grantor and grantees will be announced at a later date.

At the New High School Annex

The work of installing the heating apparatus in the new high school annex will be started very soon by Carroll Brothers, who received the contract. The direct-indirect system will be employed, and according to the bid by this company, the cost will be $2290.

The new annex consists of eight class rooms, in addition to the hallways, etc., and each class room will comfortably accommodate approximately 30 students. The total capacity of the new school, therefore, is about 300. This will easily accommodate the overflow and relieve congestion at the high school.

The furniture for the new school rooms has been purchased but is now stored in the main high school building where it will remain until the rooms are prepared for equipment. The furniture consists of separate individual desks and chairs of modern design.

New Store For Mr. Barlow

As already stated in this paper, the Boston and Maine Railroad company is erecting a new store in the main high school building where it will remain until the rooms are prepared for equipment. The furniture consists of separate individual desks and chairs of modern design.

Several were injured more or less in the accident, but escaped death seemingly by a miracle. Since that time, Mr. Barlow has conducted his business in a wooden structure across the street from his old stand. He is of the opinion that he will be established in his new quarters by the first of November.

Mr. Barlow's new store will be an exceedingly fine construction, and will be triangular in shape. The measurements are as follows: Front 41 1-2 feet wide, 23 feet; back, 50 feet. The sides will be constructed of stucco and wire lathing, and the building is to have a roof of tar and gravel. The store will be steam heated from below. Mr. William H. Penn is the contractor in charge of the work.

Mr. Penn Building

Mr. William H. Penn is constructing a dwelling at 31 Saunders avenue. The building will contain an apartment of 8 rooms, pantry and bath, besides a reception hall and a sleeping porch. The measurements are 132x108 feet. It will be steam heated.

Will Build Camp

Mrs. Bessie A. Houghton will construct a new camp on her property at 33 Steadman street. It will be a one story structure with a piazza on front. The interior will be sheathed.

A new 1-1/2 story dwelling house is to be constructed by Hiram Vailorand at 135 Alma street, the work to begin very soon. The building will measure 24 by 18 feet.

Frank E. Beaulieu intends to build shed to include storage room and a workshop on his lot at 53-55 Draught street.

Bethel Wolf will have constructed at 129 Chelmsford street an office and scales to be used in connection with the business.

Illyse Wroblewski has received a permit from the city authorities to build a stone foundation at 45 Hamshire street. The foundation is for a barn which the owner intends to erect sometime in the next few months.

A new one-story store-house is being erected at 71 C street by Mary Humphrey. The building will measure 42 feet by 36 feet when completed, and will be entirely separated from her residence.

An addition to be used as a shed and to include a bulkhead is to be built by Arthur W. Hird on his property at 513 Princeton street. There will be a foundation of stone under the bulkhead.

M. Brownstein plans extensive alterations to his property at 622-1/2 Moody street. There will be three new piazzas and four additional bedrooms. The addition will be of stone. It will adjoin the house on the front, side and back, including one front piazza and two piazzas on the rear.

Joseph R. Beharrell of 4 Highland avenue is building an addition to his dwelling to be used as a sun parlor. The old piazza will be remodelled to a

FIRST FLOOR PLAN SECOND FLOOR PLAN

This floor arrangement is certainly ideal. Note the long living room with fireplace, the den connecting with it at the rear and the sun room next to the den. The dining room has a beamed ceiling and built-in buffet, with windows above. The second story is equally as well arranged as the first. Four sleeping chambers with an abundance of closet space; also bathroom with clothes chute. The very large sleeping porch across the rear connects with a balcony. For a continuation of brick, rough cast and half timber exterior and well arranged interior this has no equal.

Size, 32 feet 10 inches by 34 feet 10 inches. Full basement, 1-1/2 story. First story, 9 feet; second story, 8 feet. Finished throughout first story in birch, red gum or oak, second story pine to enamel. Cost to build, exclusive of heating and plumbing, $5000.

great extent, and the work is expected to be completed in the near future.

With a view to enlarging the store at 398 Westford street, Louise T. Merrill will make additions and alterations to the present structure. Both the interior and exterior of the building are to undergo quite a change. A new partition will be built in order to separate the rear of the store from a hallway leading to the tenement. Foundations will be built of stone.

Nathaniel Davis is making general repairs and alterations to his property at 70 Howard street. Two new bath rooms will be installed and the ell will be boarded up after the barn has been removed from its position adjoining the house.

Extensive repairs are to be made upon the bolt shop of the Wameet

Power Co. in Lawrence street, including the construction of a concrete floor and several new lavatories.

Elizabeth McCashin is to build a new piazza on her residence at 195 Ludlum street.

The E. T. Shaw Co. in Middle street, plumbing and heating contractors, report a brisk business at the present time, and are specializing in steam heating. This company has a fine display of boilers and other heating apparatus at the attractive show rooms in Middle street.

Mr. J. F. Gallagher, the well known electrical contractor with an establishment at 32 Middle street, has on hand two contracts for very large electric signs for prominent Lowell concerns. The largest will contain 450 lights and will have a "travelling" effect. The name of the buyer of this sign is withheld for the present.

Mr. McManmon's Big Trade

Mr. J. J. McManmon, the prominent florist whose store is located in Prescott street and nurseries at Brookside, is making a specialty of bulbs at the present time and has only recently received a very large shipment from Europe. Mr. McManmon does a remarkably large business in bulbs and in conversation with a Sun representative yesterday stated that those which he has received are the best that money can buy.

The producer of the bulbs has a representative call at Mr. McManmon's establishment each season and the local merchant always receives the very best. Mr. McManmon is one of the very largest growers of bulbs in this part of the country and is an expert in this line. His nurseries are a truly wonderful sight, consisting of about fifty acres devoted to the growing of everything in the line of hardy trees and shrubs, flowers and plants of every description. The proprietor has very many visitors at his nurseries almost every day, among them some of the leading producers of the country. He has been especially commended upon the quality of his evergreens. A visitor to the nurseries should take a Lawrence car and would be well repaid for the trip. It is a ride of about 10 minutes from Merrimack square.

NEWS OF THE STEEL INDUSTRY

The Merchants' association has issued a Bulletin on the Iron and Steel Industry. To summarize their findings, the New York location will furnish the producer direct access to four ore fields, Lake Superior, the Adirondacks, Newfoundland and Cuba. It is surprising to hear that iron ores can be placed in New York at a lower cost than the Lake Superior ore can be delivered in the Pittsburgh district. On the other hand, the variety of shipping facilities are far greater than those offered in Pittsburgh. Already one large company has started the construction of two blast furnaces having a daily capacity of 400 tons each on New York harbor.

As it is now conceded that the future of the American iron and steel industry is largely dependent upon the markets, a New York location furnishes the manufacturer with direct supervision of the shipment of all ores and adequate shipping facilities direct by water to all parts of the world.

PAINT AND VARNISH REMOVER

It is and has been quite the fashion to poke fun at the various woman's magazines where they give advice about the home and its building and fitting. Here is an item I took from one of the best of the woman's books and I want to put it on it. It is the best and quickest paint and varnish remover I ever tried, irrespective of price or make. To a gallon of plain cooked starch (common or laundry starch) add while hot, a can of concentrated lye. The lye will sizzle and boil in the starch, and this mixture applied to a painted surface with a brush or rag will remove paint from the wood in a few minutes, and upon wiping off the surface with a wet rag, you have an almost entirely new surface without burning. SLEEPYTIME TALES

BY VIRGINIA VALE

FOR LITTLE READERS OF THE SUN

THE TIMID CHICKS

Once upon a time there was a very pretty looking little bantam hen which had a family of six of the cutest bantam chickens you ever saw. They were not bigger than very small mice and were also nice and fluffy. When they were born it was a beautiful and warm day even though it was late in the Fall and the chickens thought that this world was nothing but sunlight and happiness and warmth. One night, however, when they were cuddled up under mother's wings, the weather grew very, very cold and when they awoke it was freezing. This was the first time the chickens had been at all cold so they didn't know what to do. Mother hen told them it was coming winter and they would have to get used to the cold weather if they wanted to live. The first morning it was cold they went out with their mother and were very surprised to find the ground all covered with a slippery shiny coating which their mother told them was ice. They were very timid about going on the ice because when their little feet touched it out they went from under them and down they would come, bang! on the glassy surface. Then they would run to mother hen crying: "Peep, peep, peep!" to be kissed and cuddled until they forgot the awful bump on the ice. After a while they got very brave and would not only step on the ice but would take a long run and slide almost three or four inches, which to a little bantam chicken, you know, seems as long as a big slide to you. They had a very nice time and after that every time it was cold they would tease their mother very hard to go out and slide on the ice.

LAW FIRM'S BILL AGAINST THE PARKER ESTATE—WILL WAS CONTESTED BY DR. GAY

BOSTON, Oct. 10.—In the final account of the New England Trust company as special administrator of the $600,000 estate of Benjamin W. Parker, molasses broker, which will was contested by his nephew, Dr. Frederick P. Gay of California, the law firm of Taylor, Corneal & Ames asks for $62,500 for services. The contest is ended, having been abandoned after a jury upheld the will.

former assistant district attorney, acted for the firm.

Dr. Gay was cut off in the will with $500. A compromise by which he was to receive $100,000 was reached among the heirs, but the trust company as executor objected and was upheld by the courts.

BUNTING CLUB SPORTS

Fine weather on Columbus day is all that is required to make the athletic carnival at Bunting park, given under the auspices of the Bunting Cricket club, a big success. The management has completed arrangements to handle the thousands of people who will visit Bunting park Monday afternoon to see one of the greatest aggregations of star runners ever seen at any athletic meet held in New England this season. If the weather is good fully 5000 people will be in attendance. A full report by innings of the baseball game between the Boston Braves and Philadelphia will be given by megaphone to the crowd, so that baseball fans can go to the races and get the latest returns while watching the sports.

Supt. Lees of the Bay State Ry. Co. has informed the committee on transportation that he will personally supervise the car service on Lawrence street to and from the races and assure every patron of the road quick transportation to Bunting park. The cars will run on ten minute schedule and extra cars will be lined up on Paige street to be sent out when necessary.

WELCH BROS., 61 Middle St.

I have instructed the auctioneer to offer at public sale, on the corner of two story house and stable, situated between the streets of Powell and Powell streets, containing seven large rooms, besides bath, hot and cold water, sewer, gas, city water, etc. The property is in A-1 condition; has a large stall and plenty of carriage room. The lot has a combined frontage on the two streets of about 170 feet, and the total area of about 7000 square feet. On the lot is an abundance of fruit of all kinds. The location is exceptionally good, the property being but three minutes walk from the Chelmsford street line of electric, it is also close to the well known Shaw bostery, and in the heart of a quiet residential section, where almost everyone owns his own home. The fact that the property lies on the corner of two wide streets gives it a place among the most attractive appearance. You are contemplating the buying of a home and wish to have a good garden spot and be in a first class locality where it will require but little money you should surely attend this sale. A most liberal mortgage can remain.

Terms: $300 must be paid to the auctioneer just as soon as the property is struck off.

Make all inquiries at the office of the auctioneer.

J. H. F. HOLMAN.

On the premises, regardless of any condition of the weather, I shall be for absolute sale the above lot, with a frontage of 65 feet of High Street, 120 feet on Sherman street, making an area of over 7500 square feet, high and dry. This is one of the best improved lots in this section of the city. There is ample room for a home, a garage, and also a barn. If you want to locate in Delvidere, here is your opportunity to purchase a nice lot. Terms: $200 to be paid as soon as struck off.

C. F. KEYES, Auctioneer

TAGE HOUSE AND ABOUT 4100 SQ. FT. OF LAND IN ONE PAR

By virtue of a license granted to me by the Probate court, I shall for absolute sale on the premises, regardless of any conditions of the wa the above property. Two tenement house, No. 38 and 40, is two and a story, slated roof. Each tenement has six rooms, bath, pantry, scullery and cold water cemented cellar, separate front doors and lighted through by gas. This house was built by the late Mr. Sullivan a few years ago and is in excellent shape inside and out. It is occupied by two first class families for $350 a year.

HOUSE OF TWO stories, with six rooms to one tenement and seven to the other. This rents for $192 a year, making a total of $528 a year. Now, then; here is a chance for the home-seeker of the sulator, one that would prove a safe and sound investment. Tenements in location always rent well, as there are many large industries located w 10 minutes' walk of the property.

Terms: $50 paid to the auctioneer as soon as struck off.

WITH ANTWERP TAKEN GERMANS PLAN ADVANCE

Kaiser's Troops to Sweep Over Northern France With Object of Taking Possession of Channel Ports and Then Attack England

Antwerp, the one stronghold remaining to the Belgians after the loss of Liege and Namur, has fallen before the Germans under General Von Beseler. The siege occupied ten days. No details of the German occupation have been made known.

A despatch from The Hague says that the city surrendered at 2:30 o'clock Friday afternoon. A German official announcement coming via London says that the town since midday Friday "has been in our possession."

The war office announced "Antwerp was evacuated by the Belgians yesterday."

The French official statement today says that it is announced that Antwerp was taken but the conditions under which it was occupied by the Germans are not yet known.

Today's news despatches indicate that early reports of the damage done by the bombardment probably were exaggerated and that the cathedral of Notre Dame and other historic structures may have escaped injury.

It is believed in London that the final resistance was made by a small garrison which was sacrificed in order to permit the escape of the Belgian army which is now reported to be somewhere between Antwerp and Ostend trying to make its way to the lines of the allies.

German aggression at various places along the line of the field fighting is reported from Paris, which, however, declares that the battle was under satisfactory conditions. The afternoon announcement of the French war office says that the entire battlefront of the allies has been maintained unimpaired in spite of violent attacks by the Germans at several points.

Cavalry fighting on the left wing of the allies between La Bassée and Cassel continues without notable result. Progress to the north of the Oise and in the region of St. Mihiel is claimed for French troops.

Paris reports also partial successes by the Russians on the east Prussian frontier and that the siege of Przemyśl continues under conditions favorable to the Russians.

A despatch from Amsterdam asserts

SHIBE PARK, Philadelphia, Oct. 10.

The Braves, victorious in the opening engagement of the world series campaign of 1914, gave battle upon Shibe field again today with the Athletics.

Twenty thousand persons viewed the fray and cheered the American league champions in their efforts to turn the fortunes of battle in their favor and thereby place the two contenders for the season's baseball honors on even terms.

Today's game was almost crucial for the Athletics. A defeat meant that the Braves would open their two-day home stay in Fenway park on Monday with only two more victories needed to clinch the big title in baseball, while the Athletics would be forced to struggle desperately to take four full games to take the world's series. Betting was even on the outcome of the series.

"We have looked the Athletics over; taken their measure in the first game and beaten up their big gun, Bender," said Manager Stallings of the Boston club before the game. "We will win the series. It's James today, and he will make the Athletics no more."

The Athletics looked to Eddie Plank's cross fire to trouble up the Braves' onslaught today. The veteran southpaw was Manager Mack's early choice for the firing line.

"We'll be out there today, fighting all the way," said Shortstop Jack Barry of the Athletics. "Our club comes back quickly after a loss and we won't look like the same team when we get to hitting."

The day was built for baseball. The sun dried up the moist clouds during the morning and shone brilliantly upon the soft greens of the in and out-fields. An August temperature presaged a good workout of the players in practice and a fast fielding game.

Royal Rooters Root

The crowd came early. The last lingering spectator of the Athletics' defeat had scarce turned his line home toward yesterday when the line began to form at the entrance to the reserved stand behind left field. Fifteen minutes after the gates were opened this morning the four thousand seats were filled and the gates were closed. The reserved stands were not completely filled until game time. Behind the Boston bench the Royal Rooters from Boston gathered in force and lent vociferous encouragement to the Boston band that battled in face of hostile crowd.

The two teams went about their battling and field practice with a zest that promised a smart and grimly fought contest. Manager Stallings had his reversible outfit working out at the bat so he could shift his backfield in case a left hand pitcher was sent in by the Athletics. Mann was ready to replace Moran in right and Collins to take Connolly's place in left should Manager Mack sent Plank to the box.

The Batteries

The batteries were announced as Plank and Schang for Athletics; James and Gowdy for Boston.

Umpire Hildebrand gave decisions behind the plate. Byron gave decisions on bases. Klein went to left field and Dimen to right field.

The lineup for today's game follows:

Boston	Philadelphia
Mann rf	Murphy cf
Evers 2b	Clairif cf
Whitford 1b	Collins 2b
Schmidt 1b	McInnis 1b
Gowdy c	Strunk c
James p	Schlag p
	Plank p

First Inning
Mann out, Collins to McInnis. Evers singled. Cather struck out. Whitford base on balls. Schmidt drew out. No runs, one hit, no errors.

James sent up an inshoot which was too low. The second was a strike. Murphy walked. Murphy was out when James threw to Maranville who touched out Murphy. Oldring out, Deal to Schmidt. Deal also threw out Collins. No runs; no hits; no errors.

Second Inning

Plank fooled Gowdy on the first one with a slow curve. The Boston catcher took his base. Plank being unable to control his wild curves. The Boston had hit speed yesterday and Plank was now feeling them out on curves. Maranville sacrificed, Baker and tossed to Baker, who threw to Collins, who touched Gowdy as he tried to slide back into second. Deal stole second. He was almost caught between the bases but Schang's throw was a little wide so McInnis was not in position to throw to second before Deal made the bag. Schang threw wild to catch Deal off second but Barry saved him an error with a high jumping catch. James fanned. No runs; no hits; no errors.

Boston outfielders played out against the fence for Baker, but he only fouled out to Schmidt. James worked a fast one and a quick breaking splitter on the Athletics. McInnis fanned. Strunk also was a strikeout victim. James was given a cheer when he came to the bench. No runs; no hits; no errors.

Third Inning

Barry threw out Mann. It was a slow roller and Barry only got the ball after a hard run. His snap throw had Mann by a few feet at the bag. Evers singled solidly to center after having two strikes called on him. It was his second hit. Evers was almost picked off by McInnis who dropped the ball. Cather out on a fly to Baker. Evers tried to steal but Whitford fouled off the ball. Evers out stealing Schang to Collins. It was a pitch out and Evers was caught ten feet off the bag. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Barry fled out to Cather. Schang also flew out by the left field line. The crowd gave the veteran Plank a big hand when he came to the plate. He went out on three straight strikes. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Fourth Inning

Whitford out on a towering fly to Strunk. Schmidt smashed a single to right field, after the count on him was three and two. The Royal Rooters called on Gowdy for a hit, but he went out on a fly to Murphy. Maranville center-slugged to right. Schmidt going to second. Barry James' wonderful stab of Deal's high bouncer and touched second, forcing Maranville. The blow was almost a sure hit on which Schmidt could have easily scored. No runs, two hits, no errors.

Murphy out, James to Schmidt. Oldring could not father James' speed and struck out. Maranville threw out Collins at first. James' pitching was still edged. He had not allowed a hit in the first four innings. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Fifth Inning

James beat up the air and struck out. Mann shot a hot single over second. Plank kept a narrow eye on him, for the Boston fielder is very fast on his feet. Evers flied out to Strunk. Mann hit down to second. Stay out back to first before Strunk's throw reached the bag. Harry took Cather's grounder and tossed to Collins, forcing Mann. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Sixth Inning

Whitford popped out to Collins. Schmidt threw his shoulder in the way of a slow ball and started to walk to first; but the umpire called him back. Schmidt fled out to Murphy, who had to go up near the fence to make the catch. Gowdy walked on four pitched balls. Maranville was hit with a pitched ball. Baker took Deal's roller and touched third, forcing Gowdy. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Maranville threw out Barry at first. Schang got a two-bagger to left. It was the Athletics' first hit. He was almost caught at second, but a good slide saved him. Schang was out, when the ball got away from Gowdy, who quickly got the ball and threw the Athletic catcher out at third. Maranville tossed out Plank. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Seventh Inning

James struck out for the third time. Mann struck out, Schang to McInnis. Baker threw out the agile Evers. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Murphy fanned. Evers tossed out Oldring. Collins beat out an infield hit. Collins was picked off first, James to Schmidt. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Eighth Inning

Barry threw out Cather, McInnis saved Barry from a wild throw. Whitford was safe when McInnis dropped Barry's perfect throw. Barry getting

Third Edition BUILDINGS AND CATTLE ARE LOST IN FIERCE FIRE

Old Groveland-Clark Homestead Burned This Afternoon—Four Cows and Two Horses Lost— Dwelling and Barn in Ashes

There was great excitement today in Tewksbury when it was announced that a terrific fire had started in the farm buildings of the old Groveland-Clark place near the Shawshen river and about two miles from the Centre. Owing to the recent dry spell conditions are favorable to the spread of a fire and it was feared that this blaze might be communicated to the woods and cause great damage.

As soon as the alarm was given the fire departments from the state infirmary and from Tewksbury Centre went to the scene with all possible haste but on arrival they found the fire beyond control.

At that point there was no water supply except from the Shawshen river, which could not be conveniently reached.

The fire started in a barn and in a short time became so furious that it was impossible to save the cattle. Consequently four cows and two horses perished in the flames. The fire then jumped to the dwelling house which in a remarkably short time was laid in ashes. While the barn fire was in progress those who had assembled from around the neighborhood assisted in saving the furniture.

The house was occupied by a Mr. Delano and his family. He had occupied the place for the past two years and had never placed any insurance upon either the buildings or the furniture. The total loss is estimated at $12,000.

The farm house was an old landmark in that locality, having been built in the early days of the town, but several times repaired and remodelled.

Mr. Delano was the object of considerable sympathy on being left homeless by the sudden visitation of a fire, the origin of which seems to be entirely unknown.

BODY OF MRS. SCHMIDT ENDED HER LIFE

WOMAN TOOK POISON IN a Fit of Despondency and Died Last Night

Mrs. Valerie Millette, of 2 Montclair avenue, died last night as a result of taking a large quantity of a mixture of paris green and crocine late Thursday night while in a fit of despondency.

The self-inflicted death of the woman is all the more sad for the reason that Judge Enright had only that day made out commitment papers for her care at the Worcester Insane asylum.

For weeks Mrs. Millette had suffered from melancholia which took a dangerous turn frequently. She seemed, when in the throes of mental affliction, to think that it was her duty to kill one of her children and herself either by drowning or by poisoning.

Although the members of her family kept strict watch over her night and day the demented woman eluded them Thursday night for a minute and when she was found the death-producing mixture had already been swallowed.

Although every effort was made to save her, Mrs. Millette died last night. Deceased is survived by a husband, Cyril Millette, a father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Beaujoly, three sons, Armand, Ambrose and Leo; two daughters, Lillian and Annette; two sisters, Mrs. Agnes Cowell of Canada and Mrs. Hildage Bourret of this city; two brothers, Eugene Beaujoly in Canada and Hermidas Beaujoly of this city.

WOMEN VOLUNTEERS

In stress and trouble the women of a nation are always to be counted upon. In Serbia the women went to the front with muskets in their hands; they were as strong and brave as the men on the firing line. In this country few of our women escape the weakening troubles peculiar to their sex.

For every disease or ailment of a womanly character, no matter how recent or how long standing, the one sure, reliable remedy of proved merit is Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

It is prepared from nature's roots and herbs and does not contain a particle of alcohol or any narcotic. It's not a secret prescription for its ingredients are printed on the wrapper.

Women are earnestly advised to take it for irregular or painful periods, backache, headache, displacement, catarrhal condition, hot flashes, sallow complexion and nervousness.

For girls about to enter womanhood, women who become mothers and for the changing days of middle age Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription should always be on hand.

ACKNOWLEDGE IT

Lowell Has to Bow to the Inevitable—Scores of Citizens Prove It.

After reading the public statement of this representative citizen of Lowell given below, you must come to this conclusion: A remedy which proved so beneficial years ago with the kidneys, can naturally be expected to perform the same work in similar cases.

Read this: Mrs. William Cornfield, 86 Rock St., Lowell, says: "My back troubled me so much that I could hardly do my housework. I had a dull, nagging ache across my loins and it was hard for me to dress. My kidneys were sore and the kidney secretions caused me annoyance. I finally got Don's Kidney Pills at the Jaynes Drug Co. and they removed the backache and the kidney secretions. I can now do my work with ease. We think highly of Don's Kidney Pills. You may publish my former endorsement of them."

Want Higher Wages

The triple alliance recently formed between the national organizations of bricklayers, carpenters and joiners, and building engineers, may affect contractors in this city.

The dozen or more holding contractors in this city have been transferred from local 352, International Steam and Operating Engineers, to local 4 in Boston. The transfer local has a wage schedule of $27 a week for 40 hours, a higher rate than is paid in Lowell, and it will be interesting to note how this matter will be settled.

Millmen's Union Met

The Millmen's union held its semi-monthly meeting last night in Carpenters hall in the funnels building. Business of much importance was transacted and two of the members were admitted. Several applications for membership were also received and laid over until the next meeting. Communications of much import were read and referred. Several committees submitted reports, all of which denoted progress. Many of the members spoke on the condition of the union and their remarks proved highly interesting. The secretary's report showed the union to be progressing, all members working, and the best of relations existing between employers and employees.

FOR MAYOR OF SALEM

OPPOSERS OF MAYOR HURLEY IN- DORSE D. DALRY CHASE

SALEM, Oct. 10.—Joseph E. Daley, a shoe manufacturer of this city, was elected permanent chairman of the Salem Government Association at a meeting in the Mercantile building last evening and David V. O'Keefe, a leather manufacturer, was declared for mayor.

The Better Government Association was organized for the purpose of conducting a campaign for the recall of John P. Hurley as mayor. It has the endorsement of the Citizens' League, which was organized for the purpose of securing the signatures of 150 voters who desire the recall of Mayor Hurley. The names of 300 additional voters must be secured before the petition is filed with the city clerk.

Mr. O'Keefe said last evening that he was not anxious to be a candidate but he was willing to accept if no other could be found. "I want to impress upon the people of Salem," he said, "that I am absolutely opposed to the present condition of affairs in the city government. The salary of mayor does not appeal to me, but I am willing to lead if necessary."

MAYOR HURLEY

Omaha Declares It Does Not Interfere With Appointments in Police and Fire Departments

SALEM, Oct. 10.—Mayor Hurley will continue as supervisor of the police and fire departments. This decision was made by the city council yesterday, after considering an order submitted by Director Lally that the mayor had no right to interfere with the appointments of the police and fire departments.

Patrick J. Lally, chief marshal, and William O. Lehan, chief engineer, denied emphatically that the mayor had interfered in any way in appointments made in the police and fire departments. Director Lally said among other things that Michael J. Trainor was discharged as a driver in the fire department because of objections made by Mayor Hurley and that Patrolman Osewski was made a regular officer to satisfy the Police citizens, notwithstanding the other reserve officers were entitled to promotion.

Mr. Lally next cited the cases of Richard Barr, Robert J. Gilman and Terrence J. Nolan to show that they should have been considered for promotion before being considered for promotion. Chief Engineer Arnold replied that he was the best fitted for the position. Robert J. Gilman informed the city council that the chief engineer would have given him the appointment had he "had the power." In reply to all questions asked by Mr. Lally regarding interference of the Mayor with appointments, the Mayor replied by denial.

Lally's order was defeated, 4 to 1. Mr. Lally voting in favor of adoption and Mayor Hurley, Charles H. Danforth, Wallace L. Gifford and Patrick J. Kelley against.

BARREL OF APPLES FREE

Young men and all men will be given a barrel of apples free with every purchase of a suit or overcoat at the Merrimack Clothing Co. at any price today, Saturday.

ACKNOWLEDGE IT

Lowell Has to Bow to the Inevitable—Scores of Citizens Prove It.

After reading the public statement of this representative citizen of Lowell given below, you must come to this conclusion: A remedy which proved so beneficial years ago with the kidneys, can naturally be expected to perform the same work in similar cases.

Read this: Mrs. William Cornfield, 86 Rock St., Lowell, says: "My back troubled me so much that I could hardly do my housework. I had a dull, nagging ache across my loins and it was hard for me to dress. My kidneys were sore and the kidney secretions caused me annoyance. I finally got Don's Kidney Pills at the Jaynes Drug Co. and they removed the backache and the kidney secretions. I can now do my work with ease. We think highly of Don's Kidney Pills. You may publish my former endorsement of them."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Don's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Cornfield had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

AT THE ARMORY

Notes of the Military Companies—Battalion Night Oct. 16

The local militia companies will hold a battalion night on Oct. 16. The affair will be held at the armory and all interested in military maneuvers are invited to be present. Capt. Alexander Greig, Jr., U. S. A., will give an interesting lecture on military exhibition.

Company C will give an exhibition of wagon loading, while Company G will give a demonstration of wall scaling. The battalion drill will be carried out by Company K, while Company M will also prepare a number for the program.

Tomorrow morning a tactical walk will be held by Companies C, G and K of the Sixth regiment. The men must be prepared to leave Merrimack square at 8.45 a. m. on the Lowell train for Boston, where the Lowell men will meet by Company L. The men will wear their olive drab uniforms, campaign hats and overcoats, should the weather require. The men are also requested to take along notebooks and pencils. Tewksbury will be the objective point, and the theoretical defense of Lowell in case of a supposed attack from the direction of Boston will be gone into. Company M is invited to participate in the walk.

MUSICIANS ON PARADE

Some 30 or 40 local musicians, all members of the Lowell Musicians' union, held a parade in this city last night and supplied the many spectators with delightful music. A large group of small boys, carrying torches, escorted the musicians through the various streets of the city. The men wore their regular regalia, and they made a fine showing.

Your Fall Cold Needs Attention

No use to fuss and try to "beat it out." It will come back and be worse. Take Dr. King's New Discovery, relief follows quickly. It checks your cold and cough, soothes your throat, loosens and breaks up your chest. Children like it. Get a 50c bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery and keep it in the house. "Our family cough and cold doctor," writes Dr. J. W. Chapman, "Manchester, Ohio. Money back if not satisfied, but it nearly always helps."

AMUSEMENT NOTES

OPERA HOUSE

At the Opera House the last performance of "College Days" will be given this afternoon and evening. The merit with which it bristles will greatly delight the children who are always out in full force at the Opera House. At the Saturday afternoon matinee, and evening concerts all the members of the Raymond Tea Musical company will be seen in all new specialties, and as an extra and novel attraction the Graham City quartet will be heard in old-time songs and melodies.

For the first three days of next week the play to be presented by the Raymond Tea Musical company will be the Broadway success, "My Uncle from Japan," given here for the first time, and also the first presentation of the play in stock and at low prices. Monday being a holiday and seats on such days being in great demand, those who are particular about their seats should secure them early by calling at the Graham street boxoffice or telephone 261.

R. F. KEITH'S THEATRE

That amazingly clever playwright and writer, Edgar Allan Woolf, will "put over" one of his latest and brightest one-act plays at the R. F. Keith theatre, next week, and all those who can recall the wonderful success of "Youth," played here by Mrs. Gene Hughes, will want to see another of Woolf's sketches. Keen observers everywhere say that Woolf's work is, in anything, brighter in idea than even "Youth" was. That's asking almost too much, but from a casual glance at the synopsis which made for the sketch it can be seen that it is no ordinary offering.

A lollard in the sense which Woolf uses it is an ambitious man, one who plucks through marriage to an ambitious woman. Woolf, who is a keen observer of nature, has often studied very closely some of his acquaintances. One of these, some years ago, was a striving, hard-working, rather brilliant young man who picked out a career for himself and then, just before he attained to it, married. He married a brilliant young woman, who also had ambition. Now this young man, strangely enough, didn't change with his intellectually equal wife, but instead, he became a sponger, and degenerated into a first-class mollycoddle. Woolf observed the change, and marveled at it. He waited for a return of the old spirit in the man, and after a time, back it came

Association of Cigar Dealers and Manufacturers Sets Aside Oct. 12 as First National Cigar Day

The Association of Cigar Manufacturers and Dealers, after some deliberation, has set upon Monday, October 12, as the First National Cigar Day, and "Cigar Day" will hereafter be observed each year. The day is merely one on which to boom cigars and generally increase the production of good cigars.

So in order to carry out the observance in a complete manner, every smoker should be seen on next Monday with a cigar between his teeth, enjoying "Cigar Day" to the fullest extent.

Some fine cigars are manufactured right here in Lowell, and some of the manufacturers are taking advantage of the decree for "Cigar Day," and are advertising their product in today's Sun. These Lowell cigar producers are co-operating with the association in the interest of good cigars.

Mr. Fitzgerald's Observance

Mr. Fitzgerald, the well known tobacco merchant with stores at 465 Merrimack street, 562 Middlesex street and 236 Bridge street, will celebrate "Cigar Day" in a manner that will please his customers. He is going to give away a handsome nickel plated rotary razor blade cigar cutter on Monday at the stores mentioned above. This cigar cutter is a neat little article and something that every cigar smoker should have.

Scott's Smoke Shop

Three cigars of quality are made by William Scott at his factory and store, 187 Middlesex street. They are "Scott's Fresh Havana Smoker," "Scott's Royal-R," and "Scott's Level Best," the latter a 10-cent cigar and the other two selling for 5 cents. Mr. Scott has been in the business of making cigars for the past eight years, and his trade has increased remarkably. At first he was making but 50,000 cigars in a year while now he manufactures approximately 500,000 in one year. His cigars find a wide demand everywhere throughout this city, and throughout the Merrimack Valley in general. The work is all done by hand.

Mr. Harkins' Leader
Two more local leaders are made at the factory of Mr. Robert H. Harkins at 912 Gorham street. They are "Social Ten" and "Central," a ten and a five cent cigar respectively. Mr. Harkins, too, is prominent among local dealers, and his product, made under the most modern and sanitary conditions, has an exceedingly wide market. Many Lowell cigar lovers have placed the brands manufactured by Mr. Harkins at the top of their list of favorites. Like Mr. Scott, Mr. Harkins uses only the best of stock, and great care is taken with the work.

James H. Buckley—"Buck's Best"

"Buck's Best" and "Boston Terrier" are two brands of cigars that are very well known in this city and the surrounding cities throughout the district. They, too, are Lowell-made cigars, being the product of the factory of Mr. James H. Buckley at 131 Central street, another up-to-date and thriving establishment. By using fine tobacco and employing only experts, Mr. Buckley has succeeded in turning out a cigar that many particular smokers have chosen as their favorite. "Buck's Best" is a ten cent smoke that is well worth the money, while "Boston Terrier" is a five cent cigar of unusual quality. The foregoing dealers and manufacturers are among Lowell's foremost cigar men. Their "Cigar Day" advertisements appear on this page and should be read with interest. Men who remember them when purchasing their daily smokes will have no regrets for the products of all these men are of recognized high quality and have a big market not in Lowell alone but elsewhere.

FIVE YEARS IN PRISON

JOHN H. GRONDAIN SENTENCED IN PORTLAND AND APPEAL TAKEN TO LAW COURT

PORTLAND, Me., Oct. 10.—In the superior court yesterday morning Judge J. F. Connolly sentenced John H. Grondain of Waterville, who was convicted of an attempt to murder his wife, to state prison for not less than five or more than 10 years. Col. W. C. Eaton, his attorney, entered an appeal, and George H. Grondain and Sumner Howe of Waterville have $10,000 bail pending a presentation of a bill of exceptions at the December term of the law court.

SMALL FIRES EXTINGUISHED

The members of Engine 2 were summoned to the corner of Branch and Smith streets shortly after seven o'clock this morning where a fire had started from an overheated stove. The damage was confined to the barber shop on the ground floor of a building. Frank Lemire owns the shop.

The members of Hose 11 were called to the Lundberg street bridge at 6 o'clock last night to extinguish a small fire, which probably started from a cigar or cigar stub. Slight damage.

CITY LABORERS

Union Men Discuss Civil Service With Mayor and 2 Commissioners

Timothy Bourke, president, and Charles A. Anderson, secretary of the Trades and Labor Council, and William Gordon, president of the Municipal Employees union, and delegates William Welch, James Hickey and John Conley had a conference last night with Mayor Murphy and Commissioners Donnelly and Morse. It was an executive conference and was held in the mayor's office.

The union men wanted to learn about the operation of the civil service laws recently adopted by the municipal council at the behest of the union members. They were informed by the mayor and the commissioners that the municipal council has nothing whatever to do with the operation of the civil service. The mayor told them that until John C. Gilbert, state registrar of labor, arrives, nothing will be known about the system. Mr. Gilbert will come to Lowell on Tuesday next and will proceed with the installation of his system of labor registration. It will be the same as that installed elsewhere in the state.

The union men felt that members of the municipal unions should be first choice when men are selected for places, but they were informed that the civil service system makes no mention of union men.

The mayor told the union men that municipal commissioners will not have anything whatever to do with the system, nor will they interfere in the slightest with its operation after it has been installed.

GASOLINE CAN BLOWN 50 FT. INTO AIR WHEN GUY MEADER TRIES TO FILL HEATER

ST. JOHNSBURY, Vt., Oct. 10.—Guy E. Meader, a roofer, was badly burned yesterday when a can of gasoline from which he was filling a heater exploded. The can was blown 50 ft. into the air and Meader's clothes ignited.

Before the flames were extinguished by fellow-workmen both of Meader's hands and one leg and his face were severely burned. Dr. W. B. Fitch ordered his removal to Brightlook hospital, where it is feared he may lose part of one hand.

NEW PASTOR CALLED

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH WANTS MAN FROM MISSOURI—NAME PRESENTED BY COMMITTEE

At a meeting of the First Baptist church held last evening, it was voted to extend a call to Rev. A. C. Archibald, pastor of the First Baptist church of St. Joseph, Mo. The pulpits supply committee, through its chairman, F. A. Bowen, presented the name of Rev. Mr. Archibald and after hearing statements from other members of the committee and discussing the matter for an hour it was unanimously voted to extend the call. Rev. Mr. Archibald was formerly pastor of the First Baptist church in Brockton, where he had remarkable success. He is a native of Nova Scotia. He was educated at Acadia college and at Newton Theological seminary, where he was a classmate of the late Rev. H. S. Pinkham. His father and three brothers are ministers. He has a wife and three children.

Roll Call Supper

The annual roll call and supper of the First Baptist church was held last night in the church vestry and was attended by more than 250 of the members and friends of the church. A social hour preceded the supper with an organ recital by F. B. Hill, church organist. Rev. B. R. Harris, pastor of the Paige Street Baptist church, was the speaker.

GUNBOAT DOWNED IN 10-ROUND BOUT AT NEW YORK—BOTH MEN SEVERELY PUNISHED

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—Battling Levinsky of this city, outpointed and outfought Gunboat Smith of California, in a 10-round bout here last night. Levinsky weighed 172½, Smith 160 pounds heavier. Smith did all the leading in the first four rounds in each of which he had a fair margin. The fifth round was even but from the sixth on Levinsky had it all his own way.

In the early rounds, Levinsky made no attempt at leading. He avoided several of the gunner's rushes and contented himself with blocking cleverly and side-stepping. He hardly used his right in these rounds and depended on left hooks and upper cuts. Both men were severely punished about the body.

Levinsky woke up in the sixth and waded in. Smith landed occasionally but Levinsky had all the better of it in the latter rounds.

COURT GENERAL DIMON

Court General Dimon met in regular session last night with a large attendance of members. Sub Chief Ranger Quinn presided. The report of the sick committee showed that only two members were ill. Routine business was transacted and a social hour enjoyed.

CUTS CORN, DEATH RESULTS

PITTSFIELD, October 10.—Daniel Hughes died at the House of Mercy hospital yesterday after an illness of only 24 hours, death being caused by tetanus contracted through blood poisoning in his foot as a result of cutting a corn.

Mr. Hughes was employed on the Zeas Graus estate in Cranville. He served in the civil war as a member of Co. 1, 31st regiment, Mass. Inf. He was a minute man in the Allen Guards. He was a member of Rockwell Post, G. A. R. He leaves three sons, Charles L. Hughes of Dalton, Edward J. Hughes of Haverhill and D. Hughes of this city, and two daughters, Miss Marietta Hughes and Mrs. James Briggs of Dalton.

LADIES' AID SOCIETY

The Ladies' Aid society of St. Patrick's church held the first meeting of the fall term last evening in the parochial school hall and made plans for the coming year. The meeting was very largely attended and great enthusiasm was shown. President Helena M. O'Sullivan called the attention of those present to many phases of the work that call for unusual attention at the present time and urged all to manifest the same interest that they have shown in the past. Rev. Joseph A. Curran, the spiritual director, was present and spoke informally on the program for the coming year, expressing confidence in the promising outlook.

LATE WAR BULLETINS

FAMINE PREVAILS NEAR ANTWERP

ANTWERP, Oct. 10.—The inner circle of forts has been bombarding the Germans who are mostly entrenched in the village of Coetlich. The stream of fugitives continues without a break. Many people spent an entire night in coal cars. Thousands of peasants who never before had left home are afraid to cross into Holland and spent the night in the streets of Asschen, where famine prevails. The Dutch soldiers are distributing water, milk and bread and have been ordered to give the famished thousands all possible help.

BELGIANS BLEW UP ONE ANTWERP FORT

AMSTERDAM, Oct. 10.—The correspondent of the Telegraph at Rosendaal, Holland, learns from a Belgian medical officer that the Belgians blew up Fort De Meuxem to the north of Antwerp.

The Rotterdam Courant hears from a reliable source that the Belgians themselves destroyed the oil tanks in Antwerp while another report indicates that Fort Waelhem was also destroyed by the Belgians.

5000 GERMANS OCCUPY COURTRAI ON RIVER LYS

LONDON, Oct. 10.—The correspondent of the Times at Ostend telegraphs that 5000 Germans have occupied Courtrai on the river Lys, southwest of Ghent and near the French border.

SHELLS FALL ON PRISON—PRISONERS LIBERATED

LONDON, Oct. 10.—A despatch from Amsterdam to Reuters' Telegram Co. dated Friday night, says:

During yesterday's bombardment of Antwerp some shells exploded on the roof of the prison. The wardens immediately liberated the prisoners.

TO PREVENT FIRES

Statement by Governor Walsh warning against forest fires during the prevailing drought.

Massachusetts is confronted with a situation unprecedented since the establishment of the weather bureau.

During a period covering 12 days less than one-quarter inch of rain has fallen in the state. The hunting season opens next week and I believe it opportune to urge upon our people to use every precaution to prevent forest fires.

The commonwealth has expended money and is about to mark further expenditures for the reclamation of its forest lands and in re-stocking the covers with large numbers of game birds, while private enterprises are re-stocking the state with extensive and valuable orchards, all of which might suffer irremediable loss because of the carelessness of our citizens.

A great public good will be subserved if each individual will see to it that he or she will not be responsible for the starting of any fire in the open. It is our duty to be diligent in reporting to the local fire warden or police officials the presence of any fire.

CATHOLIC CHURCH NOTES

CHAIRMAN OF EXECUTIVE BOARD OF STATE COMMITTEE NAMED BY PRES. WILSON

GREENFIELD, Oct. 10.—President Wilson has appointed Nicholas J. Lawler postmaster of Greenfield, to succeed Gen. F. W. Pierce, resigned.

Nicholas J. Lawler was born in South Deerfield, April 7, 1865. When he was 7 years of age, his parents removed to Leicester and it was in that town that he obtained his early education. When 16 he returned to Greenfield, and although his work has called him to various places for a few months at a time, Greenfield has been his home ever since. When a boy he learned the silver plating trade and for three years that was his occupation. The next six years of his life was passed in a shoe factory in Greenfield. For short times he was employed at his trade as a shoemaker in Lynn, North Adams and Turners Falls. He then engaged in the real estate and insurance business.

It was 20 years ago that he was appointed by Edward J. Donovan of Boston, then collector of internal revenue, a deputy collector, covering a considerable share of Western Massachusetts, with headquarters at Greenfield. He held this office two years under Collector Gill. Later on Mr. Lawler was manager of the Boston office of the Wonderland company, which had an amusement park at Revere. Still later he was assistant general manager for two years at the park. For many years, in connection with his brother, Thomas L. Lawler, Mr. Lawler has been identified with theatrical enterprises.

Seventeen years ago Mr. Lawler married Miss Annie M. Carroll of Milneville. They have two children. The family lives on Prospect street. Ever since he was 20 years old, Mr. Lawler has been an efficient worker for the democratic party. He was chairman of the democratic town committee for three years, when the late William E. Russell was governor. For five years Mr. Lawler has been a member of the democratic state committee and for three years a member of the executive committee. He was a delegate to the democratic national convention of 1900 at Kansas City and in 1912 at Baltimore.

He is a member of Greenfield council, Knights of Columbus, and of the Greenfield Elks. He is a director of the Eastern Theatre Managers' association.

ST. MICHAEL'S CHURCH

At the 8 o'clock mass at St. Michael's church the 4th degree Knights of Columbus will receive holy communion in a body. Special music will be provided at the mass by a choir composed of members of the society. The members will assemble at 7.30 at the Knights of Columbus rooms in Anno street and march in a body to the church. After the mass breakfast will be served in the society rooms and a musical program which promises to be very enjoyable has been arranged.

The Holy Name society of St. Michael's church will hold a meeting tomorrow evening at 8.30 o'clock.

On Tuesday evening the regular meeting of the Immaculate Conception sodality will be held and all members are requested to attend.

THE WARM WEATHER

The Temperature the Highest for Twenty-five Years at This Season

Lowell people who have been keeping weather records for the past quarter of a century claim that yesterday and today were the two warmest October days in the past 25 years. Clear air and invigorating breezes have made the heat bearable and the lingering summer weather is enjoyed in this city.

Some idea of the heat can be formed when the fact is recalled that today is compared with that of the corresponding date of a year ago. The maximum for 24 hours ending at 8 o'clock this morning was 75 degrees, the minimum 55 degrees, as compared with 85 and 62, last year. There was a rise of temperature between 8 o'clock this morning and 1 this afternoon of 18 degrees, and the record today was about one degree higher than at the same time yesterday.

FOR GRASS FIRE

A grass fire in a field off Norton street, South Lowell, gave the firemen a battle shortly before noon today. Residents of the vicinity discovered the fire and telephoned the department for assistance. Slight damage.

HUNTERS GALORE

Open Season on Pheasants Begins Monday—650 Licenses Sold

If you should go a-strolling in the woods on Monday, Columbus day, or any day next week, you are advised to have a care as the woods will be filled with pheasant hunters and we all know how careless hunters can be at times.

The law will be off on pheasants to-night and early Monday morning and the open season will continue up to and including Nov. 12. The hunters are limited to two pheasants in one day and not more than six in one season. Whoever kills a pheasant must report it in writing to the fish and game commission within 24 hours, stating day, town, number and sex killed. Of course everybody will do that little thing, perhaps.

The number of hunters' licenses taken at the city clerk's office at city hall up to the noon hour today, at which time the hall closed, was 650, representing $850, as the price of each license is $1, except in the case of a non-citizen and the price then is $15.

All of the 650 applicants who applied for licenses were citizens. They took oath to the constitution and the law, and to apply for a license was Edward D. Clark of 233 Liberty street. Mr. Clark is 76 years old, but his eye is as true and his aim as sure as it was 30 years ago.

Quite a number of automobile parties have been framed up for Monday morning and most of them will leave about 4 o'clock. About every fellow who applied for a license at the city clerk's office allowed he knew of a flock of pheasants that nobody else knew anything at all about.

"I think there will be some surprises in the hunters' ranks Monday morning," said Assistant Clerk McCarthy. "They all seem to think that they can reach a flock that will be invisible to the other fellow. I was amused in talking with some of them to find that they had their eye on the same flock."

"It reminded me of the two fellows who went deer hunting. They left at 2 o'clock in the morning and arrived at a field, or old clearance in the woods, where they knew one could find a herd of deer any time. The break of dawn, however, was accompanied by a heavy fog which did not clear until sunrise and when it lifted the field was surrounded by hunters and was a dead end.

As to the disposition of the money collected for hunting licenses, let it be said that the city is left in the cold. All of the money goes to the state, though all of the work is done in the city clerk's office and the man who has received the money knows it is no small job to make one out.

SOLEMN SERVICES HELD AT FUNERAL OF ALBERT L. BACHELLER AT HIS HOME THIS AFTERNOON

All that was mortal of the late Albert L. Bacheller, former principal of the Green school, was tenderly consigned to its last resting place in the Lowell cemetery after imposing services held at his home, 195 Nesmith street. This forenoon the funeral services were held at the home of Mr. Bacheller, who died at his home, 195 Nesmith street, on Monday, Oct. 5, at the age of 74 years.

The services were conducted by Rev. A. C. Ferrin, pastor of the First Baptist church, of which deceased was a prominent member. A quartet composed of Messrs. Arthur Mann, Harry Needham, William Wild and Charles Howard sang "Lead Kindly Light," "Abide With Me" and "Still With Thee." There was a procession of floral offerings as a silent token of esteem, and among the tributes was a large pillow of roses from the teachers, janitors and pupils of the Green school of which deceased had been master for many years.

The bearers were Henry Harris, Charles H. Woodard, S. Greene and Frederick R. Woodward. The teachers of the Green school attended the funeral in a body, while delegations were also present from the following organizations of which deceased was a prominent member: Historical society, Boy's club, Teachers' organization, Grand Army of the Republic, Lowell council, R. A. Burial was in the family lot in the Lowell cemetery, where the committal prayers were read by Rev. A. C. Ferrin. Mr. Arthur K. Whitcomb had charge of the funeral arrangements under the direction of Undertaker George W. Healey.

FUNERALS

WOODWARD.—The funeral of Ames Woodward was held yesterday from the rooms of undertaker William H. Saunders. Rev. Nathaniel W. Matthews, pastor of the First Primitive Baptist church, officiated. The body was taken to Winchendon, Mass., where burial took place in the afternoon in the family lot in Riverside cemetery.

CZARNECKI.—The funeral of Andrew Czarniecki took place this morning from his home, 22 Second street. High mass of requiem was celebrated at the Holy Trinity church in High street by a brother-in-law of deceased, Rev. J. Kolodziejewski of New Jersey. Burial was in St. Patrick's cemetery under the direction of Undertakers Amos Archambault & Son.

GROGAN.—The funeral of Francis Grogan was held yesterday from his home, 10 Sherman square, Charlestown. Mass. was celebrated at St. Francis de Sales church, Charlestown, by Rev. John O'Leary. The bearers were John Scanlon, Samuel Walker, James Carney, Frank Ecklund, Dominick Gibbons and Thomas Brown. Burial was in the family lot in the cemetery of St. Patrick's church, where the committal prayers were read by Rev. J. O'Donnell & Sons.

SAUNDERS.—The funeral of Francis E. Saunders was held yesterday afternoon from the home of his son, Frank

HERON FELL TO STREET

HARRY W. J. HOWE TOOK IT HOME AND NURSED IT BACK TO LIFE AND LET IT GO

A beautiful heron (not herring) dropped in Merrimack square last night and was picked up by Harry W. J. Howe. The bird was stunned by colliding with some obstruction in the air, presumably the flag-pole on The Sun building. Mr. Howe took the heron, which appeared to be in an exhausted condition, to his home in Eighth avenue. Mr. Howe and the heron constituted the centre of attraction in Merrimack square. The bird came to earth shortly after 8 o'clock and fell almost directly at Mr. Howe's feet. Men, women and children crowded around Mr. Howe to get a look at the long-legged bird with the gaudy eels. Some said it was Bryan's dove of peace gone wrong. Another fellow told Harry to let the thing go. "That's one of those trained German birds loaded with dynamite," he said. "I'll give you a nickel for it," shouted a newsboy, but Harry refused to take the bird home and feed it. He gave it fish to eat and water to drink. Then he turned it loose in the yard and Mr. Howe describes the bird's getaway as follows: "I am sure the aeroplane was patterned after the heron and if you had seen that big bird gathering its momentum you would agree with me. It ran along the ground quite a little way with its wings spread and it really seemed to be a small aeroplane. It was quite a while getting up as high as the roofs of the houses and then flew away in the direction of Tyngsboro."

That a witness in police court the other day said he could distinguish the smell of gasoline and kerosene just the same as he could whiskey and beer, but could not explain the difference.

That the candidates for deputy sheriff who waited until after the deceased sheriff was buried to announce their candidacies have a better chance for appointment than the hungry candidates who went earlier.

That the statement made at a recent meeting of the board of directors of the Lowell board of trade to the effect that the emergency clause of the charter was being worked to death at city hall is the whole truth and nothing but the truth.

SAYS HE SAW MRS. CARMAN FIRE SHOT

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—That Frank J. Farrell, the so-called tramp witness against Mrs. Florence Carman, claims to have actually seen the shot fired which killed Mrs. Louise Bailey in the office of Dr. Edwin Carman at Freeport on the night of June 20, was learned yesterday.

It is the first time Farrell's true relation to the prosecution's case has been revealed.

It was known that he was being relied upon heavily by District Attorney Lewis J. Smith of Nassau county to convict Mrs. Carman when she comes up for trial for murder in the first degree a week from Monday. But not until yesterday was his full importance realized. His complete story was never given out.

Revolver in Her Hand

When Farrell was arrested the morning after Mrs. Bailey was slain, it was reported that he had been going around the west side of the Carman house to beg a hand-out at the kitchen door shortly before 8 o'clock on the night of June 30. Suddenly, so the account of what he had told, Farrell saw a woman coming toward him from the back of the house with a revolver in her hand.

Supposing that she intended to drive him away, Farrell, the authorities gave out, started to run. A moment after, he said, he heard the crashing of glass, and then heard the report of a revolver.

District Attorney Smith created the impression at the time that he did not take much stock in Farrell's story, and that he did not think the "tramp" was using as a witness at the coroner's inquest.

But, much to the amazement of everyone who followed the case closely, Farrell was put before the grand jury which indicted Mrs. Carman, instead of Edward T. Burden, an insurance agent, who had occasioned the arrest of Mrs. Carman by his sensational testimony at the inquest.

Saw Her Fire

It was learned yesterday that Farrell alleged when he heard the crashing of glass he turned and witnessed the woman with the revolver thrust the weapon through the window and fire. District Attorney Smith is satisfied that Farrell is telling the truth.

Farrell now assumes equal rank with Celia Coleman, the colored maid in the Carman household, in the prosecution's case.

ST. PETER'S HOLY NAME

HELD MOST ENJOYABLE SMOKE TALK AND HEARD INTERESTING ADDRESSES LAST EVENING

A largely attended smoke talk was held last evening by the Holy Name society of St. Peter's church in the parochial school hall. After some routine business President Bernard D. Ward introduced Mr. Hugh J. Molloy, superintendent of schools, who delivered a very interesting address on various phases of the past year's work of Europe and on their relation to the present conflict. The only true preservative of peace among nations, he said, is a practical Christianity.

Rev. Dr. Kelleher also made some pertinent remarks about the causes of the great war, attributing it to the desire of the nations for the balance of power. He also made some remarks on the subject of peace and the efforts of the society to come out in large numbers to communion next Sunday.

Following the addresses there was an informal concert. Songs were sung by Mr. Ruel Ledard, Chas. A. Carey and others. A violin solo was given by Charles O'Neill. Following was the collection in charge of the successful event: Michael J. Monahan, chairman, Bernard Riley, Thomas Reynolds, Richard J. Lyons, William P. Welch, Michael C. O'Don, Denis Sheehan, assisted by the officers.

NEWSBOY DIES OF INJURIES

Benjamin Ranshouse, Jr., Was Covering Route in Pittsfield When Struck By Automobile

PITTSFIELD, Oct. 10.—Benjamin Ranshouse, Jr., aged 13, died at the Hoyle of Mercy yesterday from injuries received when he was run over on North street Thursday night by an automobile driven by Harold J. Bridgman of Dalton.

The boy was on a bicycle and Mr. Bridgman says he crossed in front of his car when the bicycle skidded on wet pavement. He was a new driver and had been covering his route on his wheel. His parents live at 100 Briggs avenue.

WALKER SAYS THE TRAFFIC IS THE MOST CORRUPTING INFLUENCE IN POLITICS

PLYMOUTH, Oct. 10.—Joseph Walker of Brooklyn, progressive candidate for governor, made a scathing attack on the liquor business in a rally in this town last night. Before an enthusiastic crowd of voters, he declared that traffic in liquor is the most corrupting influence in politics, and that nine-tenths of the corruption and inefficiency of our city governments can be traced directly to it.

He said in part:

"It is in the barroom that deals are made to raid the city treasury. It is in the barroom that the money of the political bosses and his henchmen is spent to corrupt the electorate. It is in many instances the money of the district attorney, the judges, the influence nominations and elections, and send men to the halls of legislation unit to represent the people. This is as true of Boston as it is of New York."

"Why should not liquor be prohibited to the city dweller as well as the country dweller? Have city men any sacred right to its use and abuse which may be denied to country men? With the liquor traffic would go the white slave traffic, for they are allies. Let those who believe what I say to be true come into the progressive party and fight with us."

ANNIVERSARY MASS

An anniversary mass for Miss Margaret T. Langston will be sung in St. Patrick's church on Monday morning, at 8 o'clock.

PERSONALS

Clarence Becker of Billerica has been elected a member of the committee of Greater Boston, which has been interested in obtaining direct steamship service between Boston and Boothbay Harbor, Me.

At a recent election of officers of the senior class of Radcliffe college, Miss Alice Billings, of 73 Mansur street, was elected to the office of secretary.

Miss Dorothy Estes of this city, Wellesley '16, has been elected to the Agora, a society of the college that bases its selection of members on scholarship.

MELTING POT NETS $200

BOSTON, Oct. 10.—The first collection of old gold and silver from the suffrage melting pot, which was shipped this week to the national congressional committee in Chicago, was estimated at a total value of about $200.

The Massachusetts Political Equality union is urging all who have not yet contributed to the melting pot to do so before election day. After that date contributions for the Massachusetts suffrage campaign will be gratefully received.

BED SHIRTS FOR WOUNDED

Eighteen Are Finished by Unitarian Women at Gloucester.—Mrs. Hammond Orders More Cloth

GLoucester, Oct. 10.—Eighteen bed shirts for the wounded in Europe, made under the auspices of the local branch of the Red Cross, Mrs. John Hays Hammond, chairman, were completed yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. George W. Woodbury, who entertained the women's alliance of the First Parish, Unitarian church.

Mrs. Hammond, who furnished the cloth, has ordered an additional supply. The women's societies of St. Ann's Catholic church will work six bolts of cloth into garments.

LAWRENCE COPS

Will Lose Their Brass Buttons if They Don't Get a Move on

LAWRENCE, Oct. 10.—Some Lawrence "cops" must print up and do their work better or off the job they go, according to the opinion expressed by three aldermen at the special council meeting at city hall yesterday.

The opinion was followed by a promise from three of the aldermen that they stand ready to fire a bunch of bluecoats for neglect of duty and the other indifference.

Acting Mayor Hannagan and Aldermen Bradley and Todd are the three probable executioners if quite a few of the "cops" don't watch out.

WOMAN KILLED BY TRAIN

MRS. CHARLOTTE E. WAITE OF WEST SOMERVILLE WAS ON HER WAY HOME WHEN STRUCK

Roston, Oct. 10.—Mrs. Charlotte E. Waite, of 32 Winslow avenue, West Somerville, was instantly killed about 5:30 o'clock last evening by an express out of Boston, at the Davis square crossing in West Somerville. When the train which had struck her was stopped, her body was found crushed under the third car.

Mrs. Waite was on her way from the lobby's building, in Davis square, where she was a hair dresser, to her home. It is supposed she walked around the station, which hid the approach of the train from her, and stepped directly in front of it. The train was brought to a stop a short distance from the station. The whistling of the engine brought a crowd quickly to the scene.

The gates were down at the time the tragedy occurred, it is said, but there is plenty of space near the station building for people to step onto the tracks.

Dr. Ingerty of the East Boston relief hospital was on board the train and was called to attend the woman but he found that she had been instantly killed.

The engineer was Charles Woodman of Cedar street, Somerville, and the conductor was Charles F. Cross. Mrs. Waite is survived by her husband, William L. Waite, her mother and a brother. She was born in Northboro, Me., and had lived in West Somerville several years.

RICH FARMER KIDNAPPED

TWO ROBBERS STOPPED ASH-WORTH AND WAGNER—ONE GOT AWAY

DES MOINES, Iowa, Oct. 10.—Two robbers kidnapped Charles Ashworth, a wealthy Polk county farmer, yesterday within a few steps of the main street of Valley Junction, a suburb of Des Moines. It is believed they are holding him for ransom.

The bandits stopped Ashworth and Ed Wagner, a business man, in an alley near Wagner's place of business and demanded $10,000 from them and $10,000 from Ashworth. Wagner broke away after he had been robbed of his jewelry and money, but the bandits forced Ashworth to enter an automobile and drive off.

WHAT THE FRENCH MAID SAID

"Look at that mud," exclaimed Marjorie disgustedly. "An auto splashed all over my new silk gown just as I was stepping up on the curb and I don't know how I'll ever get it clean again."

"You wanted another lecture on removing stains," answered Marie, smilingly. "So now I'll begin on mud stains."

"Be sure to wait until the mud is entirely dry and then brush off with a whisk broom and sponge the marks until they disappear. If the marks are still persistent try other means."

"To clean black silk from mud stains the following process is often very successful: Pare and cut into very small pieces one potato and pour over it a pint of boiling water, cover and let it stand overnight. Then add enough spirits of wine to give it the consistency of a very thin starch. Sponge the silk rapidly with this liquid and rub each spot carefully, letting the liquid wet the material thoroughly. Press the silk dry on the wrong side, running the iron up and down the silk, not across it."

"To clean mud from white or colored cotton fabrics soak in kerosene for a few hours."

"If spots can sometimes be removed by soaking them in milk. However, the milk should never be allowed to dry on the ink-spotted article, as it leaves a dirty yellow stain which is hard to wash out. Various ink erasers sold by druggists are useful."

"A simple remedy, one, too," which has proved effective on old stains which had defied other treatment, is peroxide of hydrogen. This, of course, should be used carefully on colored materials, as it has a bleaching effect. It can be dropped or poured slowly from a spoon."

"There are several other methods for removing ordinary ink from white wash goods. One of them is by the use of chlorinated soda, which can be procured at any drug store and will take out ink if the spot has not been treated with soap and water. It should be rinsed out as soon as the spot has disappeared by the application of the soda."

"Paint can sometimes be removed with turpentine, but turpentine is so oily and strong that it is unpleasant to handle."

"A house painter whose white duck trousers and coat each week emerged from the laundry with a sign of the various hues which he splashed in every day, said that his wife gave him painting clothes a weekly bath in naphtha."

"To remove oil paint wet the place with naphtha, repeating as often as necessary, but frequently one application will dissolve the paint. As soon as it is dissolved, rub the surface down."

INQUEST HELD TODAY ON THE GINGRAS MURDER

Judges Enright and Pickman Visit Scene of Murder at American Hyde & Leather Co.—Many Witnesses Testified at Hearing

The inquest on the death of Charles Gingras which was scheduled for nine o'clock this morning was delayed for two hours owing to the fact that Judge Enright, senior justice of the local court, and Judge Pickman, the associate justice sitting at the inquest, wished to visit the scene of the Gingras tragedy.

The two judges went to the beam house of the American Hyde and Leather Co., where Gingras was murdered, and minutely inspected the premises. Every possible factor which might have entered into the Gingras case was taken into consideration by the two judges.

Shortly after eleven o'clock Judge Enright, nonvoted police court, while Judge Pickman sat on the inquest. The inquest was private and no one except the witnesses was allowed in the court room. Among those summoned to testify at the inquest are the three workmen who were in the building at the time Gingras was assaulted. The two workmen were assaulted. The two workmen were assaulted. CHARGED WITH FORGERY IN SOUTHBIDGE BY ROGUES CHECKS

SOUTHBIDGE, Oct. 10.—Chief of Police Napoleon Giroux has received a warrant charging William G. Harmon, claiming Wichita, Kan., as his home, with forgery.

Harmon has been in town for less than a month and purported to be in the employ of a Worcester piano firm. It is said he passed a great deal of his time about the hotels and, it is claimed, passed worthless checks aggregating $150 on at least three hotel proprietors. Chief of Police Giroux said last night that Harmon has not been seen here since Tuesday.

All the bogus checks were drawn Sept. 25 on the Worcester National Bank. Inquiry at that institution by the police revealed the fact that the company for which Harmon claimed he worked never carried an account there. The police of surrounding cities have been notified to be on the lookout for Harmon.

YOUTHFUL DUKE WILL FIGHT TO RETAIN WIFE TWICE HIS AGE

DUKE AND DUCHESS DURAZZO

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—When Miss Elizabeth Frances Hannan, fifty-three years old, married the Duke de MaJo Durazzo, twenty-four, on Feb. 17, in this city her relatives declared he was no "boughten duke," that he had signed an agreement relinquishing all claim to his bride's estate. This was important, as the bride was a member of the wealthy Hannan family, manufacturers of shoes. The couple started on a long bridal trip, and, according to a petition just filed in Westchester county, the husband was arrested in Monte Carlo on the night of May 5 on a charge of disorderly conduct and was recognized by the police as a man wanted in Paris for theft from his employer. In her petition, which asks that the marriage be annulled, the duchess says that she has never lived with her husband since learning that he was a thief. He was taken to Paris, where he was tried, convicted and released on a suspended sentence. The duke, who is living at 12 East Forty-fourth street, denies his wife's charges. He also says that, as he and his wife are citizens of Italy, American courts have no jurisdiction. He says that the Hannan family offered him $25 a week for life, but added: "What is $25 a week for me? I want a wife." He says that the trouble in Paris was due to a mislabeled and hints that there is another reason for the Hannans to wish to be rid of him.

los lost the first game to the Giants and afterward won the championship easily. Bender's defeat was especially disappointing to local fans, as they had counted on him as a sure winner. It was generally admitted, however, that even if the Indian pitcher had been at his best it would have been difficult to beat the Braves with Ruppel working as he did and the other members of the team backing him up at every stage of the game.

There seemed to be little doubt in the mind of any of the Athletics' followers that if Manager Mack saw fit to use Plank today sundown would find the series tied at one game each. Expressions of satisfaction in the showing made by Wyckoff, a mere youth, during the three and a third innings he pitched for the Mack men yesterday were heard on every side.

Youngsters to Get Chance

Bresler, another youngster who has been coached by Plank and has showed great effectiveness during the regular American league season with a cross fire delivery similar to that of his tutor, was considered a likely pitching selection for one of the contests. Shaw, a third member of Mack's youngsters to pitch actively in the fight for the stellar championship of 1914.

The ticket speculating fraternity won a local victory when habeas corpus proceedings forced the release of those arrested for vending admission tickets yesterday when at the last moment the holders found that they would be unable to use the high priced pasteboards. Everyone who had a

100,000 AMERICANS STILL ABROAD AND LOOKED AFTER BY RELIEF COMMITTEE

LONDON, Oct. 10.—In the last two weeks the American Relief Committee has given financial assistance to 216 persons, making a total of $695 to date. During this period, something like 6000 Americans were embarked from the islands for the United States, bringing the total of departures up to more than 100,000 since war was declared.

"It is evident that the American tourists have pretty well returned home," said H. C. Hooper, chairman of the committee today. "A small but steady stream of people, however, have been marooned in obscure corners of the world."

"For example, in the last day or two one man had been helped along by American authorities from as far as Mosambique, another from Astrakhan, and a third from Calcutta. This small stream of American travelers will probably be flowing into London from out of the way places for some months."

"Another situation, however, has presented itself to the committee which will require its activities throughout the war. A resident colony of about 100,000 Americans in Europe, comprising officials and professional and mercantile classes, are nearly all able to take care of themselves, but a considerable number employed in minor occupations have suffered from a serious dislocation of their resources. They will be on their feet again, though, as soon as there is any revival of business."

"As all European nations have a sufficient drain upon them in looking after their own countrymen, the care of such Americans must rest on our citizens, for we cannot see our countrymen and countrywomen starve. The distress in this connection probably will increase throughout the war, and so far as we can see, the committee is going to have as much as it can deal with."

"Such a large part of the more well-to-do Americans has left the continent that this committee is compelled to assist some of the local committees there in their local problems, and we have, therefore, been obliged to extend our field beyond Great Britain itself."

"Our resources are already overstrained and we shall need to appeal to our countrymen at home for assistance."

MORTALITY OF LOWELL

BENDER, FIRST ATHLETIC PITCHER TO BE FORCED TO QUIT IN SERIES

Chief Bender, the famous Indian twirler who has pitched Connie Mack's Philadelphia American team to so many victories and who, before yesterday's game, was looked upon as a sure winner in whatever games he started in the world series now on, met with a terrible bombardment at the hands of the Boston Braves.

The leader of the Athletics' pitching staff was hammered savagely, yielding eight hits in five and one-third innings. In the sixth session, after Mack had watched his delivery battered all over the lot, so to speak, he was derided from the mound.

Besides the humiliation of being knocked out of the box in a world series contest Bender also suffered the additional sting of being the first Athletic pitcher to be driven from the rubber in a world championship game.

In spite of what the Braves did to him yesterday it is safe to say that the famous Redskin will be seen in action in another game in the series.

COLUMBUS DAY EVENTS

Local Knights Observe Day—Will Parade in Haverhill—Program of Parade in Afternoon

The 423d anniversary of the discovery of America by Christopher Columbus will be observed in an informal way in Lowell Monday. This being a legal holiday practically all business will be suspended and the employees in the mills and other manufacturing concerns, as well as the clerks with the exception of those employed in meat and provision stores, will be given an entire holiday.

The city hall clerks will enjoy their liberty from noon today until Tuesday morning. The mail carriers were informed to remain at home all day Monday, while the clerks in the post-office will be kept busy from 8 to 10 a. m.

Haverhill will celebrate the day on a large scale and a large number of Lowell people will journey to the Shene city to participate in the celebration. The entire membership of the Lowell council, Knights of Columbus will go to Haverhill, escorted by the Lowell Cadet band and will take part in the monster parade to be held under the auspices of the knights of that city.

Local Observance

However, the Lowell knights did not want to let the day pass by without having a celebration of some sort in this city and accordingly they have made arrangements for a brief parade and church service. According to the program the knights will assemble in their quarters in Ames street at 9:15 a. m. and fifteen minutes later, headed by the Lowell Cadet band, they will march to St. Peter's church in Gorham street, where a high mass will be celebrated at 10 o'clock by the chaplain of the council, Rev. W. George Mullin, who will also deliver the sermon.

A pretty ceremony will be held in the church prior to the mass, when a handsome large American flag will be blessed. The flag was recently purchased by the council and arrangements were made to have the national colors blessed as soon as the knights march the church. The officiating clergyman at the exercises will be Rev. Fr. Mullin. The new flag will be carried in the parade at Haverhill.

At the close of the mass the members will repair to their respective homes for dinner and are all to return to the hall in Ames street at 2:30 o'clock. The line will again be formed and the procession will proceed to the Middlesex street station, where at 12:45 o'clock a special train will be boarded for Haverhill. The friends and relatives of the knights who would like to go to Haverhill on Monday are invited to ride on the special train as arrangements have been made for guides.

Sports

In the forenoon a football game will be played at Spaulding park between the Lowell high school team and the Lawrence academy five. The game will be called at 10 o'clock and it is believed the contest will be a live one.

Golf Tournaments

The Vesper Country, Longmeadow and Mt. Pleasant clubs will hold golf tournaments in the afternoon. At the Bunting club grounds in South Lowell a football game and field athletics will be held at 2:30 o'clock.

World's Series

The world's series game in Boston will attract many fans from this city, who have been fortunate enough to secure tickets, while The Sun announcing and bulletin service will give the details to the fans who stay at home.

The Haverhill Observance

With plans completed by the various committees and invitations accepted by councils of the order in several cities and towns in Massachusetts and New Hampshire it is expected that the parade of the Knights of Columbus to be held in Haverhill Monday in honor of the discoverer of America will be one of the best of its kind ever held in Essex county. From reports received from the councils to whom invitations to join in the parade had been extended about 1200 men will be in line. The parade is being held under the auspices of Haverhill council No. 202 which has made elaborate arrangements for it. Haverhill is already in gala attire for the parade, many of the leading stores and other business places, besides numerous residences, being decorated.

The councils which will participate in the parade besides their Fourth Degree assemblies, include, Lawrence, Lowell, Manchester, N. H., Nashua, N. H., Newburyport, Amesbury, Andover and Haverhill. Delegations from the Ayer and Pepperell councils will march with Lowell council. The parade, which will start at 2:15 p. m. will form on Winter street, the right turning on Portland street.

The line of march will be up Winter street to Lafayette square, down Essex street to Washington square to Merrimack street, down Merrimack street to Bridge street, over Bridge street to the Bradford district common, counter-march over Bridge street to Main street, where the line will be reviewed by Mayor Edwin H. Moulton and other members of the city council, up Main street to Monument square and disband.

Several prominent clergymen and laymen will be the guests of Haverhill council. The laymen include Frederick W. Mansfield, receiver-general and treasurer of the commonwealth of Massachusetts, Nell P. Moynihan, grand knights of Haverhill council will be the chief marshal of the parade. The complete roster of the parade is:

Nell P. Moynihan, chief marshal, Bert Barrett, deputy grand knight of Haverhill council marshal, Father Resle fourth degree assembly of Haverhill, John M. Collins, faithful navigator in command, Harry Collins, chief of staff, Cavalcade of Haverhill, Jerome J. Burke, chairman of the executive committee of Haverhill council on the parade, Rev. Fr. James D. Canale, chaplain of Haverhill council, Past Grand Knights of Haverhill council.

Kearns, grand knight, Fourth degree assembly, 50 men, Newburyport council 100 men, J. E. Giles, grand knight, Nashua, N. H. council, 60 men, Dr. T. F. Rock, grand knight.

Haverhill City band, Amesbury council, 50 men, William P. Henley, grand knight, James E. Henley, Doran, marshal, Andover council, 50 men, James W. Daley, grand knight.

Carriages containing Rev. Fr. John J. Graham, P. R. and Rev. Fr. Francis J. Garfield of St. James church, Haverhill, Rev. Fr. J. F. Kelly, pastor of the Sacred Heart church, Bradford district, Haverhill, the Pastoral Fathers, State Treasurer Frederick W. Mansfield and other guests.

Special trains conveying the members of the councils to and from Haverhill are to be run from Lawrence, Lowell and Manchester and special trolley cars from Nashua, Amesbury and Newburyport.

Rev. Fr. Resle for whom the Fourth degree assembly of Haverhill council was named was the first Catholic missionary to visit the Merrimack valley, he being a Jesuit from Maine. He was killed by the British, and his church cross is now over the main gate at the entrance to Harvard university.

ON CHARGE OF PERJURY

REV. FRANCIS PALMER GIVES $1000 BONDS IN SAGO, ME., FOR APPEARANCE NEXT FRIDAY

SAGO, Oct. 10.—Rev. Francis Palmer of Trenton, N. J., who was arrested a week ago on complaint of his brother, Clinton C. Palmer, a lawyer of Biddeford, was in court yesterday on a charge of perjury, but by agreement of both parties the hearing was continued until next Friday at 2 p. m.

Rev. Mr. Palmer furnished $1000 bonds for his appearance. The case is the outcome of litigation over the estate of Elizabeth C. Palmer, mother of Francis and Clinton. She died in Kennebunkport in 1907, leaving considerable property. Rev. Mr. Palmer, Chase Palmer of Washington, D. C., and Chase Eastman of Boston were executors of the will.

The statement, on which the charge of perjury is based, was made about three years ago, when a hearing in connection with the estate was being held. A number of witnesses have been summoned.

BOSTON RESERVE BANK

BOSTON, Oct. 10.—Alfred L. Aiken, president of the Worcester National bank, has been selected as governor of the federal reserve bank of Boston. It was announced today. Mr. Aiken will assume his new duties immediately. Temporary offices of the federal reserve bank have been opened at 101 Milk street.

INJURED BY FALL
Patrick McMahon of 5 Fulton place was taken to St. John's hospital in the ambulance this forenoon suffering from a slight scalp wound which he sustained as a result of a fall in Central street, near William street. After the injury was dressed the man was removed to his home. Witnesses of the accident say that McMahon was standing against a post and suddenly fell, striking his head on the curb.

IN POLICE COURT

Police court this morning was of short duration, but few cases being upon the docket. It was an easy day for the court officials.

Frank (Phinney) Boyle, the local pugilist, charged with assault and battery upon an old man several months ago, once more appeared on continuance today.

The old man upon whom the alleged assault was committed, is still in the hospital.

Michael F. O'Hair, a husky young citizen, will neither work nor keep sober, said his father this morning, when the son was arraigned for drunkenness.

Judge Enright gave the young man a lecture, telling him to keep away from his father and imposing a suspended sentence of six months in the house of correction.

Attorney Toye, counsel for the defense, asked for another continuance. The Boyle case will again be brought up on Oct. 17.

There were several usual drunkards who were disposed of in the usual way.

BODY FROM RIVER

IDENTIFIED TODAY AS THAT OF WILLIAM GAUTHIER OF SWIFT STREET

The body of the unknown man found floating in the Merrimack river found yesterday afternoon has been identified as that of William Gauthier, aged 30 years of 53 Swift street, this city. Gauthier was reported missing about a week ago and all efforts on the part of the police and relatives to locate him were fruitless. A description of the man found floating in the river tallied with that of Gauthier and last night a brother of the missing man, Fred J. Gauthier of this city, identified the body as a Lawrence mortgage. Deceased was a weaver by trade and was a member of Court St. Antoine, C. O. F. He is survived by three sisters and a brother.

THE R. I. PROGRESSIVES

TWO FACTIONS OF PARTY HAVE CANDIDATES—HUGHES MEN TO CARRY FIGHT TO THE COURTS

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Oct. 10.—Progressives led by Albert H. Hughes, the party candidate for governor in 1912, arranged today for state and congressional conventions tonight. Another faction of the progressives made nominations a week ago.

The Hughes men planned to endorse republican candidates. They announced their intention of carrying to the courts the fight to decide which of the progressive tickets should be placed on the ballots.

ST. MARGARET'S PARISH

WILL HOLD CONCERT AND DANCE ON MONDAY EVENING—PROGRAM OF CONCERT

St. Margaret's church will hold a concert and dance in Lincoln hall on Monday evening, Oct. 12, and from the interest being shown throughout the parish and, in fact, throughout the city, a real good time is anticipated. The concert program is as follows:

Selections by the orchestra; songs by Joseph Eagan, Vera Moody, Richard Donehue, Linwood Knapp and Anna Latham; piano solo by Louis N. Gullbault; character dance by Miss Ethel Howard; and an exhibition of the modern dances by Miss L. Blanche Perrin. Following the concert, general dancing will be enjoyed until midnight. William E. Hennessy will be chairman of the evening.

GUILD TO TAKE STUMP

WILL SPEAK WITH MCCALL AT FORMAL OPENING OF REPUBLICAN CAMPAIGN

BOSTON, Oct. 10.—Arrangement of rallies and speaking dates completed by the republican state committee provide for the appearance of ex-Gov. Curtis Guild on the same platform with Hon. Samuel W. McCall, candidate for governor, in the rink at New Bedford next Tuesday night, when the campaign officially opens. Mr. Guild will also appear at the annual dinner of the Republican club at Nauck, to be held Thursday night, Oct. 22.

Wednesday night J. F. Lockett of Boston will address the Rockland Republican club, and the same evening local candidates will speak at a smoker talk in Ashland. Congressman Samuel E. Winslow will be the chief speaker at a rally in Houghton Oct. 15.

Candidate McCall will begin his campaign in the western part of the state next Wednesday night in Greenfield. Thursday night he will speak in Pittsfield and Friday night in North Adams. On Monday night, Oct. 19, he will speak in Springfield, and on that occasion he will have with him at least one of the speakers from outside the state who have been drafted for this campaign.

MATRIMONIAL

Mr. Earl Raver McLeod and Miss Gertrude Jane Anderson were united in marriage at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James K. Anderson, 208 Moore street, by Rev. J. E. Dinsmore, assistant pastor of the First Baptist church. The bride was attended by Miss Agnes Pedlow of Lawrence and the best man was Mr. Joseph W. McLeod of Wentworth, N. H., brother of the bridegroom. Following the reception a supper was served, after which Mr. and Mrs. McLeod left on an extended wedding tour.

DUTTON—JONES

Harry A. Dutton, formerly of Chelmsford and Miss Carrie Josephine Jones, of Quincy were married Wednesday, the ceremony being performed at the home of the bride in Quincy by Rev. Mr. Sayre. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Ethel Hall, while the best man was a brother of the bridegroom, Charles H. Dutton. The couple will make their home in Quincy.

BIG SHARK KILLED

Hull Fisherman Fired 7 Shots Into It—Desperate Battle

HULL, Oct. 10.—A shark, at least 10 feet long, was killed in the waters of Gloucester, a popular bathing resort, yesterday. It was killed by Edwin Hatch after he fired seven shots into it. Hatch noticed the fin of the shark projecting from the water near the shore. Seizing his gun the fisherman leaped into a skiff and rowed toward the huge shark, firing at it.

This wounded the shark, which promptly attacked the skiff, overturning it and throwing Hatch into the water. The fisherman succeeded in climbing into the boat and the battle was renewed.

Those members of the summer colony who still go in bathing at Gun Rock Cove declare they would not bathe again in such dangerous waters.

INDICT ELOPER EISMAN

GRAND JURY REPORTED 30 TRUE BILLS—STATE FARM COMMENDED—ED—TRUE BILL IN AXE MURDER

PLYMOUTH, Oct. 10.—After being in session all the week, the Plymouth county grand jury reported last yesterday afternoon with 30 true bills, including several important cases. Among the bills was the case of Louis Eisman of Hull, charged with abducting Vera Eisman, daughter of John Eisman, July 24, 1911.

The complaint under which the case went to the grand jury was made by Joseph Eisman, and charges Eisman with enticing from her home Fern Eisman, an unmarried woman.

A number of people curious to know the result of the grand jury's deliberations including several women were present. Still another matter of importance was among the findings, the grand jury began about six months ago by District Attorney Albert R. Baker in the matter of alleged cruelties and misconduct of the officials of the Bridgewater state farm.

A paper signed by each member of the grand jury was filed with Judge Fudge A. Dubeau stating that after careful investigation no evidence of any nature tending to support the allegation had been found and further stating that it was the belief of the grand jury that the Bridgewater state farm was a credit to the community and commonwealth.

Indictment of Murder

An indictment of murder was found against Peter Goncalves of Halifax charged with the murder of his brother, Vincent Goncalves with an axe August 1, 1913.

A bill was also found against John L. Butler of Boston, charged with assault with intent to murder Mary A. Flooding at Brockton July 23. This case is one that caused quite a stir in Brockton at the time.

Miss Fielding was found in a room at Hotel Victoria bleeding profusely from razor slashes in her wrist. Butler was arrested and charged with the deed, evidence supporting the complaint being secured tending to show that the couple had come to Brockton and registered, it is alleged.

CHINESE REPUBLIC FLAG

FLOATED IN SUNSHINE TODAY FROM SUN BUILDING FLAG POLE

Under the Stars and Stripes that floated from the top of The Sun building this morning waved a smaller flag that at first glance looked like a duplicate. Closer scrutiny, however, revealed that the smaller flag had no stars and that its bars were five in number and colored respectively, from top to bottom, red, yellow, blue, white and black. It is the flag of the new Chinese republic and the colors symbolically represent the five ancient races that comprise modern China: Chinese, Manchus, Mongols, Tibetans and Mohammedans.

Today is the third anniversary of the outbreak of the revolution at Wuchang, from which modern China dates its independence. Last year the occasion was celebrated with great pomp and ceremony through the flower kingdom, but today China feels oppressed by the European war and is facing a serious situation. It is not probable, therefore, that the holiday will be observed with the usual solemnity, but those who fought and won Chinese liberty will be encouraged to protect what was so dearly gained. Since the outbreak of war in Europe the flag floated from The Sun building has taken on a new significance as is evidenced by the many personal and telephone enquiries that come to the Sun office.

ACCUSED OF ASSASSINATION

VENICE, Oct. 9, via Paris, Oct. 10.—The trial of persons accused of the assassination of the heir apparent to the Austrian throne, Francis Ferdinand and his consort, the Duchess of Hohenberg, will begin in Sarajevo Monday before superior court Judge Vu Corinai. It is expected to last about three weeks. There are 25 prisoners, most of whom are Servians. Ten of the prisoners are under 20 years of age.

The indictment covers 37 printed pages and charges high treason. It further alleges that evidence obtained proves that the assassination of the archduke was only the means toward other treasonable ends.

COSTS $5 TO CHANGE MIND
BOSTON, Oct. 10.—Harvard university will place a tax on every student who changes his mind after 1 o'clock this afternoon, and those who wish to withdraw from any of the college courses or enter new ones must signify their intention of doing so before the bell sounds at high noon, or they will be charged $5 for every change made after that time.

Today marks the end of the second week since the opening of college, and by this time all students are supposed to know whether they wish to continue in the college courses they elected to study the first day college opened. Those whose minds are made up, while the bell sounds at high noon, or they will be charged $5 for every change made after that time.

BOWLERS ACTIVE

Lamson League Contests Proved Interesting—Other Matches

The Nonpareils took their game from the Sweep Offs and the Preferred defeated the Pneumatics in the two Lamson league contests rolled at Kittredge's alleys last night. Pauley was high man.

In the Lawrence Co. league the Yarn Dept. won from the Stocking Knit in a well bowled match. The Paper Box Five won from the Rose Fishers while Team One took the measure of Team Two. Pigeon and Trudelle did some sterling rolling in the first mentioned game.

The Single Men lost a close match to the Married Men and the Olympics defeated the Climbers in another good contest. Moran's 297 was high in the latter match. The scores:

What the Contractors and Real Estate Men are Doing—Closing up Jobs on Hand

Many Lowell people are at the present time either making or planning many improvements and alterations in their property, and the work is keeping a number of contractors and their men very busy. Quite a few new dwellings are also being erected, but the principal activity in the building field is in the line of smaller buildings such as shops, storage sheds, and several garages for private use.

Hildreth Building

Considerable remodeling is in progress at the Hildreth building, where the entrance and hallway are being entirely changed over. It is the intention to make the entrance to this large office building on a level with the sidewalk, and to make other improvements.

Sales by E. Gaston Campbell

E. Gaston Campbell, with offices at 327-328 Hildreth building, reports the following sales for the week ending Oct. 3:

Final papers have been passed on the old homestead of Paul Hardy in Hudson, N. H. This farm contains 65 acres, more or less, with a 10-room house, large barn, three poultry houses, greenhouse, a large variety of fruit trees, a colossal lot of different kinds of berries and also some personal property. Mr. Allen Andrews who has occupied this farm for the last 20 years, conveys to Maxine Milot, a local wood dealer.

Sales by F. D. Russell

F. D. Russell, 308 Hildreth building, reports the following sales for the week ending Oct. 3:

Final papers have been passed conveying title of a modern 2 1/2 story frame dwelling house with 1657 square feet of land upon which there is a garage situated at 178 Allen avenue, Centralville, to Joseph B. Eastwood, who buys for investment. The grantor is Frank A. Hamelin.

Deeds have also been recorded conveying title of a cottage and double 1 1/2 story house with land thereto situated off School street on a new street just opened by the Locks & Canals Co.

Also deeds have been recorded conveying title of a six tenement block situated on Hill street. The property is assessed for $3600. The grantor in this transaction is Paul Vignani.

Also through this office has been leased the former residence of Rev. Mr. Bigelow on Columbus avenue, and the former residence of Dr. E. Adams on Wilder street owned by C. E. Forrest Martin.

Thomas H. Elliot

Thomas H. Elliot, real estate broker, offices 61 Central street, corner of Prescott, reports the following sales negotiated during the past week ending Friday, Oct. 3:

Final papers have been passed in the transfer of the attractive cottage property at 48 Gershon avenue near its junction with Wood street. The property is in cottage style with eight excellent rooms and equipped with every convenience. There is also a first-class stable on the premises. The land approximately 4500 square feet assessed at 15c per foot, the assessment totalling on land and buildings $1810. The grantor in this transaction is Adolphe Corbell, formerly of this city now living out of the state. The grantee is Mary Paille who purchases for purposes of personal occupancy.

Contracts have been closed on the purchase and sale of an excellent building site situated near Stevens street in the Hildreth section. The lot is level and has a street frontage of 50 feet. It has an area of 5500 sq. ft. and is assessed at the rate of 15c per foot, totalling $825. The transfer is effected on behalf of a local owner, the purchaser being also a local person who will build a residence for personal occupancy during the coming season.

Also contracts have been closed on the purchase and sale of a fine residential property, situated near Gorham street. The house is full two and one-half story with ten rooms and provided with heat, bath and all conveniences. Connected with the house is a first-class stable and poultry houses. The land is in excess of 45,000 sq. ft. and provides a splendid garage space for the place. The sale is negotiated on behalf of local owners, the purchaser being also a local person buying for personal occupancy.

Sales by Edward F. Slattery, Jr.

Edward F. Slattery, Jr., 904 Sun building, reports the following sales for the week ending October 10th:

Final papers have been passed on the purchase and sale of the very fine property of investment property situated at 601-603 Market street. This property consists of four tenements and two stores, having a total assessment of $4450. The sale was effected for a local savings institution and the purchaser, Mr. Isaac Bernstein, the well-known real estate man, has already made extensive alterations on the property. He has added two more tenements to the building and renovated it throughout.

Sales Made by Abel R. Campbell

Abel R. Campbell, real estate and insurance broker with offices at 403-405 Sun building, reports the following sales for the week ending October 9th.

The sale of an excellent one family dwelling in Deland street. This property occupies a prominent corner near Fort Hill avenue. The house contains 10 rooms and is equipped with quartered oak floors, fireplaces, bath, heat and other modern appliances. The land to be conveyed with the house is an area of almost 5000 feet. The sale was effected for a local business man and the purchaser will occupy the house as a residence.

The sale of an unusually well built property consisting of a 2 room house, large stable and carriage shed and other out buildings. The house has a solid roof and is modern in all respects. The lot of land is especially attractive as it contains over 1 1/2 acres and there is an abundant supply of fruit and shade trees. The purchaser is a local business man, will renovate the property and occupy same as a dwelling. The property was sold to settle an estate. It is located near the Normal school. Names of grantor and grantee will be announced at a later date.

At the New High School Annex

The work of installing the heating apparatus in the new high school annex will be started very soon by Carroll Brothers, who received the contract. The direct-indirect system will be employed, and according to the bid by this company, the cost will be $2390.

The new annex consists of eight class rooms, in addition to the hallways, each class room will comfortably accommodate approximately 40 students. The total capacity of the new annex, therefore, is about 320. This will easily accommodate the overflow and relieve congestion at the high school.

New Store for Mr. Barlow

As already stated in this paper, the Boston and Maine Railroad company is erecting a new store in Chelmsford street for Mr. Irving Barlow whose fruit and grocery store fell from its location on the bridge to the tracks here some months ago. The new store is being built on the top of the American Express and freight shed near the depot and will front on Chelmsford street. It will be solidly and safely built, and will have many modern conveniences.

Lowell people will recall the disaster which Mr. Barlow experienced when the underpinning of the old store gave way and his store and stock were precipitated to the tracks below. Several were injured more or less in the accident, but escaped death seemingly by a miracle. Since that time, Mr. Barlow has conducted his business in a wooden structure across the street from his old stand. He is of the opinion that he will be established in his new quarters by the first of November.

Mr. Barlow's new store will be of exceedingly firm construction, and will be triangular in shape. The measurements are as follows: Front 41 1/2 feet; side, 39 feet; back, 50 feet. The sides will be constructed of succo and wire lathing, and the building is to have a roof of tar and gravel. The store will be steam heated from below. Mr. William H. Penn is the contractor in charge of the work.

Mr. Penn Building

Mr. William H. Penn is constructing a dwelling at 31 Sanders avenue. The building will contain one apartment of 8 rooms, pantry and bath, besides a reception hall and a sleeping porch. The measurements are 132x100 feet. It will be steam heated.

Will Build Camp

Mrs. Bertha A. Houghton will construct a new camp on her property at 33 Steadman street. It will be a one story structure with a piazza on front. The interior will be sheathed.

A new 1 1/2 story dwelling house is to be constructed by Henri Valland at 135 Alma street, the work to begin very soon. The building will measure 24 by 18 feet.

Frank H. Beaulieu intends to build a shed to include storage room and a workshop on his lot at 53-55 Draut street.

Eather Wolf will have constructed at 120 Chelmsford street an office and scales to be used in connection with the business.

Thyria Wroblewska has received a permit from the city authorities to build a stone foundation at 46 Hampshire street. The foundation is for a barn which the owner intends to erect sometime in the next few months.

A new one-story store house is being erected at 71 C street, by Mary Blumhrey. The building will measure 42 feet by 36 feet when completed, and will be entirely separated from her residence.

An addition to be used as a shed and to include a bulkhead is to be built by Arthur W. Hild on his property at 513 Princeton street. There will be a foundation of stone under the bulkhead.

M. Brownstein plans extensive alterations to his property at 522-4 Moody street. There will be three new piazzas and four additional bedrooms. The addition will be of two stories, the foundation will be of stone. It will adjoin the house on the front, side and back, including one front piazza and two piazzas on the rear.

Joseph R. Beharrell of 4 Highland avenue is building an addition to his dwelling to be used as a sun parlor. The old piazza will be remodelled to a

FIRST FLOOR PLAN

SECOND FLOOR PLAN

This floor arrangement is certainly ideal. Note the long living room with fireplace, the den connecting with it at the rear and the sun room next to the den. The dining room has a beamed ceiling and built-in buffet, with windows above. The second story is equally as well arranged as the first. Four sleeping chambers with an abundance of closet space; also bathroom with clothes chute. The very large sleeping porch across the rear connects with a balcony. For a combination of brick, rough cast and half timber exterior and well arranged interior this has no equal.

Size, 32 feet 10 inches by 34 feet 10 inches. Full basement, 3 1/2 feet. First story, 9 feet; second story, 3 feet. Finished throughout first story in birch, red gum or oak, second story pine to enamel. Cost to build, exclusive of heating and plumbing, $5000.

great extent, and the work is expected to be completed in the near future.

With a view to enlarging the store at 298 Westford street, Louise T. Merrill will make additions and alterations to the present structure. Both the interior and exterior of the building are to undergo quite a change. A new partition will be built in order to separate from the rest of the store a hallway leading to the tenement. Foundations will be built of stone.

Nathaniel Davis is making general repairs and alterations to his property at 70 Howard street. Two new bath rooms will be installed and the old bath will be boarded up after the barn has been removed from its position adjoining the house.

Extensive repairs are to be made upon the bolt shop of the Wamesit

Mr. McMannon's Big Trade

Mr. J. J. McMannon, the prominent florist whose store is located in Prescott street and nurseries at Brookside, is making a specialty of bulbs at the present time and has only recently received a very large shipment from Europe. Mr. McMannon does a remarkably large business in bulbs and in conversation with a Sun representative yesterday stated that those which he has received from abroad are grown in Holland and are the best that money can buy. The producer of the bulbs has a representative call at Mr. McMannon's establishment each season and the local merchant always receives the very best. Mr. McManmon is one of the very largest growers of bulbs in this part of the country and is an expert in this line. His nurseries are a truly wonderful sight, consisting of about fifty acres devoted to the growing of everything in the line of hardy trees and shrubs, flowers and plants of every description. The proprietor has very many visitors at his nurseries almost every day, among them some of the leading growers of the country. He has been especially commended upon the fine quality of his evergreens. A visitor to the nurseries should take a Lawrence car and would be well repaid for the trip. It is a ride of about 10 minutes from Merrimack square.

NEWS OF THE STEEL INDUSTRY

The Merchants' association has issued a Bulletin on the Iron and Steel Industry. To summarize their findings, the New York location will furnish the produce direct access to four ore fields, Lake Superior, the Adirondacks, Newfoundland and Cuba. It is surprising to hear that iron ores can be placed in New York at a lower cost than the Lake Superior ores can be delivered in the Pittsburgh district. On the other hand, the variety of shipping facilities are far greater than those offered in Pittsburgh. Already one large company has started the construction of two blast furnaces having a daily capacity of 100 tons each on New York harbor. As it is now conceded that the future of the American iron and steel industry is largely dependent upon the continuous development of foreign markets, a New York location furnishes the manufacturer with direct supervision of the shipment of all ores and adequate shipping facilities direct by water to all parts of the world.

SLEEPYTIME TALES

THE TIMID CHICKS

Once upon a time there was a very pretty looking little bantam hen which had a family of six of the cutest bantam chickens you ever saw. They were not bigger than very small mice and were also nice and fluffy.

When they were born it was a beautiful and warm day even though it was late in the Fall and the chickens thought that this world was nothing but sunlight, and happiness and warmth.

One night, however, when they were cuddled up under mother's wings, the weather grew very, very cold and when they awoke it was freezing. This was the first time the chickens had been at all cold so they didn't know what to do.

Mother hen told them it was coming winter and they would have to get used to the cold weather if they wanted to live.

The first morning it was cold they went out with their mother and were very surprised to find the ground all covered with a slippery shiny coating which their mother told them was ice. They were very timid about going on the ice because when their little feet touched it out they went from under them and down they would come, bang! on the glassy surface.

Then they would run to mother hen crying: "Peep, peep, peep!" to be kissed and cuddled until they forgot the awful bump on the ice.

After a while they got very brave and would not only step on the ice but would take a long run and slide almost three or four inches, which to a little bantam chicken, you know, seems as long as a big slide to you.

They had a very nice time and after that every time it was cold they would tease their mother very hard to go out and slide on the ice.

LAW FIRM'S BILL AGAINST THE PARKER ESTATE—WILL WAS CONTESTED BY DR. GAY

BOSTON, Oct. 10.—In the final account of the New England Trust company as special administrator of the $500,000 estate of Benjamin W. Parker, molasses broker, whose will was contested by his nephew, Dr. Frederick P. Gay of California, the law firm of Tyler, Corneau & Earne asks for $62,500 for services. The contest is ended, but the estate has been abandoned after a jury upheld the will.

The firm charges $750 for drawing the will, $750 for advice and services to the trust company as special administrator and $50,000 for defending the will in the probate, supreme and superior courts. Michael J. Dwyer,

Antwerp Has Fallen

GIRL HURLED FROM AUTO LANDS IN TRAIN'S PATH

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 10.—Earl Hamilton, pitcher for the St. Louis Americans, and five girls were seriously injured in an automobile accident on the East St. Louis end of the Adams bridge here early today.

Hamilton suffered a scalp wound, three broken ribs and other internal injuries. One of the girls was thrown clear of the bridge falling onto the railroad tracks, 40 feet below. She fell directly in the way of an approaching train and would have been ground time but for the prompt action of a flagman, who saw her fall, signalled the train to stop and then pulled the unconscious girl from the track.

Two of the girls gave their names as Pearl Kelly. The others were Misses Rose Burke, Nellie Wallace and Evelyn Day, all of St. Louis. All of them suffered internal injuries and together with Hamilton were taken to a hospital in East St. Louis.

Hamilton was to play in the city series here today. The accident occurred when the automobile owned and driven by Hamilton crashed into the upper deck of the bridge from the railroad tracks. The machine was demolished.

GERMANS TAKE BELGIAN STRONGHOLD AFTER TEN DAYS OF BOMBARDMENT

LONDON, Oct. 10.—An official message from Berlin states that Antwerp has fallen, according to a Central News dispatch from Amsterdam.

The siege of Antwerp which culminated in its fall yesterday, began on Sept. 29, so that the Germans took just ten days to reduce the formidable fortifications which surrounded the temporary capital of the Belgians. The Germans had, however, for a long time previously prepared the way for the attack on Antwerp by taking a number of towns in its vicinity.

The first direct attack on the Antwerp fortifications was that against the forts at Willebroeck and Wavre-St. Catherine. These were reduced in a couple of days by the aid of the big siege guns. Meanwhile, the forts at Liere and Koningshoek had also been attacked and these and others of the outside line of fortifications were taken last week.

The last four days have seen the fighting advance to the inner line of forts and along the Scheldt, principally at Schoonaarde. At the last named place severe fighting occurred for several days but the superior artillery of the Germans gradually forced the Belgians back until in the last day or two the fighting had reached practically to the suburbs of Antwerp.

On Wednesday, Oct. 7, came reports that the Belgian government was moving to Ostend, and that the population was fleeing in terror and panic toward the Holland frontier. Zeppelins bomb attacks which did much damage and killed scores of people added to the terror of the inhabitants.

The German forces who have taken Antwerp are said to consist of five army corps. They were under the command of Gen. Hans H. Von Beseler, a veteran of the War of 1870, who was taken from his retirement to do the work of reducing Antwerp. General De Guise was in command of the Belgian defenders.

King Albert aided them by his personal direction according to reports yesterday morning, probably when the end was seen.

BIG PAVING BLOCK CONTRACT AWARDED

The contract for 250,000 paving blocks, more or less, has been awarded to the Hildreth Granite Co., of Graniteville. Commissioner Morse called for two sizes, 6 to 12 inches and 3 to 12 inches. There were only two bidders, the Hildreth Granite Co. and L. P. Palmer. The bids were as follows: Hildreth Granite Co., 6 to 12 inch blocks, $27 a thousand; 3 to 12 inch, $18 a thousand. L. P. Palmer, 6 to 12 inch, $35 a thousand, and 3 to 12 inch, $48.00 a thousand.

It was optional with Mr. Morse as to which of the two sizes he would accept and he decided upon the smaller, the 6 to 12, and that meant the scales in favor of the Hildreth Granite Co., despite the fact that Palmer's bid on the large block, the 3 to 12 inch, was $4.50 below the Hildreth company's bid, while the Hildreth company's bid on the smaller sized block was only $1 a thousand below Mr. Palmer's bid.

The price paid last year was $1.10 a square yard, pretty nearly 4 cents a block. This year the price per block is about 3 cents and 7 mills. The bids were opened in Purchasing Agent Foy's office this forenoon in the presence of the purchasing agent, commissioner of streets and highways and the city solicitor.

The contract must be signed and the bond or check furnished within four (4) days (Sunday excepted) after the date of the notification by the purchasing agent of the acceptance of the bid and the readiness of the contractor for signature. The contractor must also furnish the bond or check within said time. The contract and certified check accompanying the bid shall be forfeited to the city of Lowell.

The purchasing agent and the commissioner of streets and highways reserve the right to reject any or all bids should they deem it for the interest of the city to do so.

Each proposal to be endorsed, "Proposal for Granite Paving Blocks," and addressed to:

Edward H. Foye,
Purchasing Agent,
Lowell, Mass., October 6, 1914.

The following is the kind of blocks described in a specification sent out last Thursday. This other specifications which includes two sizes were not sent out until yesterday:

The paving blocks to be of the best quality granite blocks and to be from eight (8) inches to twelve (12) inches in length, assorted so as to give a good variety to form joints, and from four (4) inches to four and one-half (4 1/2) inches in depth. All edges to be straight and sharp; faces of the stone to be at right angles with each other. All faces to be straight and free from blemishes or depressions, and each and every block to be finished so as to make good work when laid.

On Saturday, October 17, 1914, at 3 o'clock

I have instructed the auctioneer to offer at absolute auction sale my two story house and stable, situated very attractively on the corner of C and Powell streets, containing seven large rooms, besides bath, hot and cold water, sewer, gas, city water, etc. The property is in A-1 condition; the stable has a large stall and plenty of carriage room. The lot has a combined frontage on the two streets of about 170 feet, and the total area of about 7000 square feet. On the lot is an abundance of fruit of all kinds. The location is exceptionally good, the property being but three minutes' walk of the Chelmsford street line of electric. It is also close to the well known Shaw history, and in the heart of a quiet residential section, where about everyone owns his own home. The fact that the property lies on the corner of two wide streets makes the place present a most attractive appearance. If you are contemplating the buying of a home and wish to have a good garden spot and be in a first class locality where it will require but little money you should surely attend this sale. A most liberal mortgage can remain. Terms: $300 must be paid to the auctioneer just as soon as the property is struck off.

Make all inquiries at the office of the auctioneer.

Next Saturday, Oct. 17th, at 3 o'clock

A VERY CHOICE BUILDING SITE AT THE CORNER OF HIGH AND SHERMAN STREETS, CONTAINING 7800 SQ. FT. OF LAND

On the premises, regardless of any condition of the weather, I shall offer for absolute sale the above lot, with a frontage of 65 feet of High street and 120 feet on Sherman street, making an area of about 7500 square feet. It is high and dry. This is one of the best improved lots in this section of the city. There is ample room for a house facing High street, and also one on Sherman street, and that was the intention of the present owners. If you want to locate in Belvidere, here is your opportunity to purchase a nice lot. Terms: $200 to be paid as soon as struck off.

C. F. KEYES, Auctioneer.

Next Saturday, Oct. 17th, at 3.30 o'clock

ADMINISTRATOR'S SALE OF THE SULLIVAN ESTATE, NO. 38, 40 AND 42 KEENE ST., 2 1/2 STORY HOUSE, SLATED ROOF; 2 STORY COTTAGE HOUSE AND ABOUT 4100 SQ. FT. OF LAND IN ONE PARCEL

By virtue of a license granted to me by the Probate court, I shall offer for absolute sale on the premises, regardless of any conditions of the weather, the above property. Two tenement houses, No. 38 and 40, is two and a half story, slated roof. Each tenement house, bath, pantry, set tubs, hot and cold water cemented cellar, separate front doors and lighted throughout by gas. This house was built by the late Mr. Sullivan a few years ago and is in excellent shape inside and out. It is occupied by two first class tenants and rents for $336 a year.

HOUSE OF NO. 42—Two story cottage, with six rooms to one tenement and seven to the other. This rents for $392 a year, making a total of about $728 a year. Now, then, here is a chance for the home-seeker of the speculator, one that would prove a safe and sound investment. Tenements in this location always rent well, as there are many large industries located within 10 minutes' walk of the property.

Terms: $160 paid to the auctioneer as soon as struck off.

JOHN E. SULLIVAN, Administrator of the Estate.

THE SUN SERVICE

Lowell Fans Cheered Simultaneously With Those in Shibe Park

Hank Gowdy had hardly put his foot on second bag in the second inning of yesterday's Philadelphia-Braves game in Philadelphia, when several hundred fans standing with eyes riveted on the distributing end of The Sun's big megaphone in Merrimack square, were cheering him lustily. Of course, they couldn't hear the cheering at that distance, but he got the absent treatment from the assembled Lowell fans, as did the Rabbit a moment later when he scored. Strange as it may seem the fans in Lowell were cheering simultaneously with those in Shibe park, 350 miles away. The Sun's service on the game yesterday could not be improved upon for speed and accuracy. Within the short space of a minute the plays that occurred in Philadelphia were made known to the crowd in Merrimack square from the beginning until the last man was out, and then before the crowd had time to get away from The Sun building the baseball extra with the full score was being circulated among them by an army of hustling newsboys.

The crowd in Merrimack square revealed the news of the different plays before thousands of people right in the city of Philadelphia, through the medium of The Sun, and the same excellent service will be given throughout the series. Get down to "The Sun" building before the game starts so as to follow each play, for the megaphone artist opens up the moment the umpire announces: "The batter for today are, etc.," and he is continually on the job until the last man is out, while directly under him an energetic youth keeps you posted by means of a blackboard on scores by innings and the hits, runs and errors. Immediately after the game The Sun baseball extra comes out with a complete story in full of all the game together with interesting gossip thereof. Later, the 7 o'clock edition comes out, with not only a complete account of the game, but also the official box score. Come down and hear the returns and get a copy of The Sun's baseball extra at the conclusion of the game.

CHILD DROWNED

Louis Hionakos, Eight Years Old, Fell Into Canal From Bridge

While leaning over the railing of the Market street bridge last evening, eight-year-old Louis Hionakos, son of Mr. and Mrs. Pierros Hionakos of Dummer street, fell into the waters of the Suffolk canal and was drowned before residents of that vicinity heard of the accident. A search for the body was begun by Undertaker Albert, but it was not recovered and the search was resumed this morning.

Several children who were gazing small boats in the canal were the only witnesses of the drowning. They claim that Louis was sitting on the bridge railing watching the boats sail about when he suddenly lost his balance and fell onto the banking and then into the water. The boys did not realize the danger of the situation and failed to notify the men who were gathered about the stores in upper Market street. When he failed to appear, however, the news was spread, but it was then too late to save the boy's life. Several volunteers dragged the canal, but their efforts were fruitless.

Louis was the only child of Mr. and Mrs. Pierros Hionakos, the former a well known Market street barber.

O'Sullivan Says:

I consider the "buy a barrel of apples" proposition has more significance to Lowell and vicinity than the "buy a bale of cotton" slogan of the South.

To start this "buy a barrel of apples" proposition the Merrimack Clothing Co. has arranged to give a barrel of selected Baldwin apples delivered at your home free within the limits of Lowell, with every man and boy's suit or overcoat at any price from $5.00 upwards. You understand, of course, that $5.00 applies to the boys' suits or overcoats; men's suits and overcoats are practically from $10 upwards, the exception being the all hand made blue serge rough rider suits at $9.50.

WITH ANTWERP TAKEN GERMANS PLAN ADVANCE

Antwerp, the one stronghold remaining to the Belgians after the loss of Liege and Namur, has fallen before the Germans under General Von Beseler. The siege occupied ten days. No details of the German occupation have been made known.

A despatch from The Hague says that the city surrendered at 2.30 o'clock Friday afternoon. A German official announcement coming via London says that the town since midday Friday "has been in our possession."

The war office announced "Antwerp was evacuated by the Belgians yesterday."

The French official statement today says that it is announced that Antwerp was taken but the conditions under which it was occupied by the Germans are not yet known.

Today's news despatches indicate that early reports of the damage done by the bombardment probably were exaggerated and that the cathedral of Notre Dame and other historic structures may have escaped injury.

It is believed in London that the final resistance was made by a small garrison which was sacrificed in order to permit the escape of the Belgian army which is now reported to be somewhere between Antwerp and Ostend trying to make its way to the lines of the allies.

German aggression at various places along the line of the field fighting is reported from Paris, which, however, declares that the battle was under satisfactory conditions. The afternoon announcement of the French war office says that the entire half-front of the allies has been maintained unimpaired in spite of violent attacks by the Germans at several points.

Cavalry fighting on the left wing of the allies between La Bassée and Cambrin continues without notable result. Progress to the north of the Oise and in the region of St. Mihiel is claimed for French arms.

Paris reports also partial successes by the Russians on the east Prussian frontier and that the siege of Przemyśl continues under conditions favorable to the Russians.

A despatch from Amsterdam asserts that Germany is expecting momentarily a declaration of war against her by Portugal.

Athens reports that a German officer has arrived at Damascus and has taken over the direction of the Syrian general staff. He is also recruiting Bedouins.

Christian refugees are reported as arriving at Cyprus from Turkish ports. They report great unrest in Turkey.

A trial of the alleged assassins of the Archduke Francis Ferdinand and his consort will be opened in Sarajevo, the capital of Bosnia, on Monday.

NATIONAL LEAGUERS TAKE TWO STRAIGHT---DEAL SCORES RUN

SHIBE PARK, Philadelphia, Oct. 10.

The Boston National league champions won the second game of the world's series today by beating the Philadelphia Athletics one to nothing. It was a gruelling fight to the finish and Boston did not put their run over until the ninth inning. A double by Deal, substituting for Smith at third, followed by his steal of third and Mann's single brought in Boston's run.

The Athletics threatened in the ninth inning, having a man on first and second with only one out, but a sharp double play engineered by Rabbit Maranville ended the Athletics' chances.

James' pitching was simply baffling the Philadelphia club being helpless before his speed and fast breaking spitter.

Both clubs fielded brilliantly, Maranville and Barry's play being especially spectacular.

After the game the Boston roster, led by President Gurney of the Boston club, Captain John J. Evers and former Mayor John F. Fitzgerald of Boston, paraded around the field while the band played the Boston battle song, "Fessie."

The two clubs leave for Boston tonight. The world's series now stands: Boston Nationals, 2; Philadelphia Athletics, 0.

First Inning
Mann out, Collins to McInnis. Evers singled. Cather struck out. Whitted made on ball. Schmidt flew out. No runs, one hit, no errors.

James sent up an inshoot which was too low. His second was a strike. Murphy walked. Murphy was out when James threw to Maranville who touched out Murphy. O'Driscoll, Deal to Schmidt. Deal also threw out Collins. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Second Inning
Plank fouled Gowdy on the first one with a slow curve. The Boston catcher took his base, Plank being unable to control his wild curves. The Boston had his speed yesterday and Plank was now feeling them out on curves. Maranville sacrificed, Baker to McInnis. Plank took Deal's smash and tossed to Baker, who threw to Collins, who touched Gowdy as he tried to slide back into second. Deal stole second. He was almost caught between two bases but Schang's throw was a little wide so McInnis was not in position to throw to second before Deal made the bag. Schang threw wild to catch Deal off second but Barry saved him an error with a high jumping catch. James fanned. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Third Inning
Barry threw out Mann. It was a slow roller and Barry only got the ball after a hard run. His snap throw had Mann by a few feet at the bag. Evers singled solidly to center after having two strikes called on him. It was his second hit. Evers was almost picked off first but McInnis dropped the ball. Cather out on a fly to Baker. Evers tried to steal but Whitted fouled off the ball. Evers out stealing Schang to Collins. It was a pitch out and Evers was caught ten feet off the bag. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Fourth Inning
Whitted out on a towering fly to Strunk. Schmidt smashed a single to right field, after the count on him was three and two. The Royal Rooters called on Gowdy for a hit, but he went out on a fly to Murphy. Maranville center-singled to right, Schmidt going to second. Barry made a wonderful stab of Deal's high bounder and touched second, forcing Maranville. The blow was almost a sure hit on which Schmidt could have easily scored. No runs, two hits, no errors.

Murphy out, James to Schmidt. O'Driscoll could not fathom James' speed and struck out. Maranville threw out Collins at first. James' pitching was glib-edged. He had not allowed a hit in the first four innings. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Fifth Inning
James beat up the air and struck out. Mann shot a hot single over second. Plank kept a narrow eye on him, for the Boston fielder is very fast on his feet. Evers fled out to Strunk. Mann ran down to second, but got back to first before Strunk's throw reached the bag. Barry took Cather's grounder and tossed to Collins, forcing Mann. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Baker fled out to Whitted. McInnis fanned for the second time. Strunk also struck out for the second time. This made six strikeouts for James. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Sixth Inning
Whitted popped out to Collins. Schmidt threw his shoulder in the way of a slow ball and started to walk to first; but the umpire called him back. Schmidt fled out to Murphy, who had to go up near the fence to make the catch. Gowdy walked on four pitched balls. Maranville was hit with a pitched ball. Baker took Deal's roller and touched third, forcing Gowdy. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Maranville threw out Barry at first. Schang got a two-bagger to left. It was the Athletics' first hit. He was almost caught at second, but a good slide saved him. Schang was out, when the ball got away from Gowdy, who quickly got the ball and threw the Athletic catcher out at third. Maranville tossed out Plank. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Seventh Inning
James struck out for the third time. Mann struck out, Schang to McInnis. Baker threw out the agile Evers. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Murphy fanned. Evers tossed out O'Driscoll. Collins beat out an infield hit. Collins was picked off first, James to Schmidt. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Eighth Inning
Barry threw out Cather, McInnis saved Barry from a wild throw. Whitted was safe when McInnis dropped Barry's perfect throw. Barry getting an assist. Whitted was forced at second, Collins taking Schmidt's grounder and tossing to Barry. Gowdy fled out to Strunk. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Ninth Inning
Evers tossed out Baker. It was announced that the figures for attendance were the same as yesterday. Maranville dropped McInnis' foul fly. McInnis fouled out to Deal. Strunk out, Evers to Schmidt. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Tenth Inning
Barry threw out Maranville. Deal got a two-base hit over Strunk's head. Deal stole third when Schang threw to Barry to catch him napping. James struck out for the fourth time. Deal scored on Mann's hit, which was just out of Collins' reach.

Mann went to second on a passed ball.

Evers walked.

Evers was out at second, Barry taking Cather's smash and tossing to Collins. One run, two hits, one error.

Barry walked.

Schang struck out.

Barry went to second. Walsh batted for Plank. The official scorer gave Barry a stolen base.

Walsh walked.

A double play ended the inning. Maranville took Murphy's grounder and touched second, forcing Walsh. He then threw out Murphy.

Fourth Edition BUILDINGS AND CATTLE ARE LOST IN FIERCE FIRE

There was great excitement today in Tewksbury when it was announced that a terrific fire had started in the farm buildings of the old Groveland-Clark place near the Shawheen river and about two miles from the Centre. Owing to the recent dry spell conditions are favorable to the spread of a fire and it was feared that this blaze might be communicated to the woods and cause great damage.

As soon as the alarm was given the fire departments from the state inn and from Tewksbury Centre went to the scene with all possible haste but on arrival they found the fire beyond control.

At that point there was no water supply except from the Shawheen river, which could not be conveniently reached.

The fire started in a barn and in a short time became so furious that it was impossible to save the cattle. Consequently four cows and two horses perished in the flames. The fire then jumped to the dwelling house which in a remarkably short time was laid in ashes. While the barn fire was in progress those who had assembled from around the neighborhood assisted in saving the furniture.

The house was occupied by a Mr. Delano and his family. He had occupied the place for the past two years and had never placed any insurance upon either the buildings or the furniture. The total loss is estimated at $12,000.

The farm house was an old land mark in that locality, having been built in the early days of the town; but several times repaired and remodelled.

Mr. Delano was the object of considerable sympathy on being left homeless by the sudden visitation of a fire, the origin of which seems to be entirely unknown.

BODY OF MRS. SCHMIDT ENDED HER LIFE

LOWELL WOMAN DROWNED IN WELCH'S POND RECOVERED BY METHUEN POLICE

The body of Mrs. Rebecca (Sullivan) Schmidt, who is said to have jumped from a boat in Welch's pond on the night of Oct. 2, was recovered by the Methuen police today.

Officer James Serrick and Frank Roper found the body about fifty feet from shore in 20 feet of water. It was several hundred yards from where Koffman said the woman was down. There was a cut over her eye but the police are not prepared to say that this might not have been received accidentally in the drowning struggle. Undertaker Green took charge of the body and Medical Examiner Dow will conduct an autopsy on the body and report whether there is any evidence to sustain a charge of foul play.

INDUSTRIAL AND STORE NEWS

Mr. H. L. Whately, agent of the Lowell Bleachery, is enjoying a few weeks' vacation.

John King of the Barry Shoe Co. has proven himself a very efficient secretary at the Y. M. C. A.

Miss Nellie Beecher of the Bleachery Carpet Co. has returned from a week's visit to relatives in Worcester, Mass.

Albert Sugden, formerly employed at the U. S. Bunting Co., is now connected with the J. L. Chaffin store in Merrimack square.

The South End vs. Lawrence Manufacturing Co. game, scheduled for this afternoon, was called off owing to inability to secure a sparring partner.

Joseph Conroy of the lining department of the A. G. Pollard Co. store will be a spectator at the world's series game in Boston, Columbus day.

The exhibition of the modern dances at Associated hall last evening were much enjoyed. Joe Sheehy succeeded in executing steps that were entirely new and he was freely applauded.

Electrical Workers Held Meeting

The members of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers met in their headquarters in the Fluke building last night and transacted quite a list of important business. Interesting remarks were made on the good of the union by prominent members and the secretary's report showed the union to be in a good financial condition.

Northern Waste Co.

The Northern Waste Co. in Warrenville is running along smoothly and shows no sign of slackening. The European war has had some effect on the business and has necessitated the curtailment in night operations, but a full complement of help is working days. It is the opinion of officials at the plant that business will experience a big boom in a very short time.

Want Higher Wages

The triple alliance recently formed between the national organizations of bricklayers, carpenters and joiners, and plumbing engineers, may affect contractors in this city. The dozen or more holding engineers in this city have been transferred from local 352, International Steam and Operating Engineers, to local 4 in Boston. The Boston local has a wage schedule of $27 a week for 44 hours, a higher rate than is paid in Lowell, and it will be interesting to note how this matter will be settled.

Millmen's Union Met

The Millmen's union held its semi-monthly meeting last night in Carpenters hall in the Russell building. Business of much importance was transacted and two new members were admitted. Several applications for membership were also received and held over until the next meeting. Communications of much import were read and referred. Several committees submitted reports, all of which denoted progress. Many of the members spoke on the good of the union and their remarks were highly interesting. The secretary's report showed the union to be progressing, all members working, and the best of relations existing between employers and employees.

FOR MAYOR OF SALEM

OPPOSERS OF MAYOR HURLEY IN-

DORSE DAVID J. O'KEEFE-JO-

SEPH E. DALEY CHOSEN

SALEM, Oct. 10.—Joseph E. Daley, a shoe manufacturer of this city, was elected permanent chairman of the Better Government association at a meeting in the Mercantile building last evening and David J. O'Keefe, a leather manufacturer, was endorsed for mayor.

The Better Government association was organized for the purpose of conducting a campaign for the recall of John F. Hurley as mayor. It has the endorsement of the Citizens' League, which was instrumental in securing the signatures of 150 voters who desire the recall of Mayor Hurley. The names of 300 additional voters must be secured before the petition is filed with the city clerk.

Mr. O'Keefe said last evening that he was not anxious to be a candidate but was willing to accept if no other could be found. "I want to impress upon the people of Salem," he said, "that I am absolutely opposed to the present condition of affairs in this government. The salary of mayor does not appeal to me, but I am willing to lead if necessary."

MAYOR HURLEY

Officials Declare He Does Not Interfere With Appointments in Police and Fire Departments

SALEM, Oct. 10.—Mayor Hurley will continue as supervisor of the police and fire departments. This decision was made by the city council yesterday, after considering an order submitted by Director Lally that the mayor had interfered with police and fire appointments.

Patrick J. Lehan, city marshal, and William O. Arnold, chief engineer, denied emphatically that the mayor had interfered in any way in appointments made in the police and fire departments. Director Lally said among other things that Michael J. Trainor was discharged as a driver in the fire department because of objections made by Mayor Hurley and that Patrolman Ossowski was made a regular officer to satisfy the police citizens, notwithstanding the other reserve officers were entitled to promotion.

Mr. Lally next cited the cases of Richard Hart, Robert J. Giffin and Terrence J. Nolan to show that they should have been considered for promotion instead of a man named Begley for driver in the fire department. Chief Engineer Arnold replied that Begley was the best fitted for the position. Robert J. Giffin informed the city council that the chief engineer would have given him the appointment had he "had the power." In reply to all questions asked by Mr. Lally regarding interference of the Mayor, Chief Arnold and City Marshal Lehan replied by denials.

Lally's order was defeated, 4 to 1.

Mr. Lally voting in favor of adoption and Mayor Hurley, Charles H. Danforth, Wallace L. Gifford and Patrick J. Kelley against.

Lowell Has to Bow to the Inevitable—Scores of Citizens Prove It.

After reading the public statement of this representative citizen of Lowell given below, you must come to this conclusion: A remedy which proved so beneficial years ago with the kids, can naturally be expected to perform the same work in similar cases. Read this:

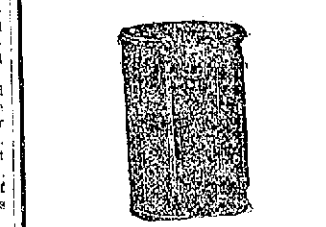

Mrs. William Cornfield, 86 Rock St., Lowell, says: "My back troubled me so much that I could hardly do my housework. I had a dull, nagging ache across my loins and it was hard for me to dress. My kidneys were sore and the kidney secretions caused me annoyance. I finally got Doan's Kidney Pills at the Jaynes Drug Co. and they removed the backache and lameness and regulated the kidney action. I can now do my work with ease. We think highly of Doan's Kidney Pills. You may publish my former endorsement of them."

interested in military maneuvers are invited to be present. Capt. Alexander

Greig, Jr., U. S. A., will give an interesting lecture on military courtesy.

Company C will give an exhibition of wagon loading, while Company G will give a demonstration of wall scaling. The battalion drill will be carried out by Company K, while Company M will also prepare a number for the program.

Tomorrow morning a tactical walk will be held by Companies C, G and K of the Sixth regiment. The men must be prepared to leave Merrimack square at 4.15 a. m. on the electric for Willington, where the Lowell men will be met by Company L. The men will wear their olive drab uniforms, campagia hats and overcoats, should the weather require. The men are also requested to take along notebooks and pencils. Tewksbury will be the objective point and the theoretical defense of Lowell in case of a supposed attack from the direction of Lowell will be given out. Company M is invited to participate in the walk.

MUSICIANS ON PARADE

Some 30 or 40 local musicians, all members of the Lowell Musicians union, held a parade in this city last night and delighted the many spectators with splendid music. A large group of small boys carrying torch-lights, escorted the musicians through the various streets of the city. The men wore their regular regalia, and they

AMUSEMENT NOTES

OPERA HOUSE

At the Opera House the last performance of "College Days" will be given this afternoon and evening. The performance with which it bristles will greatly delight the children who are always out in full force at the Saturday matinee. At the Sunday afternoon and evening performances all the members of the Raymond Teal Musical company will be seen in all new specialties, and as an extra and added attraction the Graham City quartet will be heard in old-time songs and melodies.

For the first three days of next week the play to be presented by the Raymond Teal Musical company will be "Broadway success." "My Uncle from Japan," given here for the first time, and also the first presentation of the play in stock and at low prices. The play being a holiday and seats on such days being in great demand, those who are particular about their seats should secure them early by calling at the Graham street boxoffice or telephone 261.

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE

That amazingly clever playwright and writer, Edgar Allan Woolf, will "put over" one of his latest and brightest one-act plays at the B. F. Keith theatre, next week, and all those who can recall the wonderful success of "Youth" played here by Mrs. Gene Hughes, will want to see another of Woolf's sketches. Keen observers everywhere say that "The Lollard," this latest sketch, is a work of art, brighter in idea than anything else that has been written. "Youth" was that sketch which almost too much, but from a casual perusal of the conditions which make for the sketch it can be seen that it is no ordinary offering.

A lollard in the sense which Woolf uses it is an ambitious man, one whose ambition has been put to sleep through marriage to an ambitious woman. Woolf, who is a keen observer of nature, has often studied very closely some of his acquaintances. One of these, some years ago, was a striving, hard-working, rather brilliant young man who picked out a career for himself and then, just before he attained it, married. He married a brilliant young woman, who also had ambition. Now this young man, strangely enough, didn't clash with his intellectually equal wife, but instead quite the opposite, the age and the degeneration into a first-class mollycoddle. Woolf observed the change, and marveled at it. He waited for a return of the old spirit in the man, and after a time, back it came and he went bounding on to that career which he had all but carved prior to his marriage.

Now Woolf liked the way the real story ran, and he decided to transfer that story to the stage. He wrote "The Lollard," as a consequence, and it is quite generally called one of the brightest vaudeville comedies of the time. It is a life, and so brimful of delightful humor that it will "get" any man or woman who likes to receive a new idea. It really isn't a new idea, but it is a new play, based on any new happening, but it is so admirably put together and the characters are brought out with such wonderful distinctness that it will cause the audience to gasp.

For the role of the lollard Al. Ryan, who has had much stage experience, has been selected. From the good-looking, energetic youngster to the sort of a scoundrel who asks his wife if he may smoke in the back yard, Ryan shows the clearest kind of a conception of the part. Pretty Regina Gifford, who has been a lollard's wife, and the other parts will be played by Harriet Marlette and Dave Lindsay.

The Five Sullys, a real family of "em, will give the funny farce called "The Sullys." The Sullys are almost as famous as the Cohans, and they are known from coast to coast as entertainers who can do anything. The Five Sullys are John E. and Estelle Sully. Singing, dancing, instrumental playing, acrobatics and comedy are touched upon by this remarkable family.

The Sullys' famous piano accompanist, will make his initial appearance. He is literally a wonder with his mammoth accompaniment, which puts the piano to shame and makes the Sullys black face singers and dancers, and The Puppets have a comic novelty. The Sullys are two pretty sharpshooters and give a very good show. The Sullys are "bump-the-bump" performers. The bill will close with the reproduction of the Hearst-Selig News Pictorial. Good seats may be obtained in advance.

Tomorrow afternoon and evening special Sunday entertainments will be given.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

The most widely read book, and by far the most popular of all plays dramatized from the book is "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch," written by Alice Hagen Rice and presented in every city and town of any importance. The play is a comedy, and it is one of the best scheduled for production the coming week by the Merrimack Square Theatre Stock company.

The simple folk who wrest their living from the soil, and toiling with heart interest which spins like a web around the whole character of "Lovey Mary," patrons who have already read the book can appreciate just how realistic and absorbing is the play. The humorous characters have a peculiar life-like fascination about them not found in most pieces on the stage. Each of the different roles is one of the best when played by the different favorites in the company will no doubt prove doubly acceptable. Miss Mary B. Hays will secure the character of Mrs. Wiggs. It will be remembered that on several occasions Miss Hays has been seen to advantage in these parts. She is a character who has won for herself not a little glory. She has the right knack of "putting it over" and in the scene which is the heart of the play, her own work's success will be for herself many more friends. "Lovey Mary," that sweet, child-like little fairy who fits in and out of the scene, will be played by the play, until she finally steals our hearts away will be portrayed by Marjorie Davis. Mrs. Marsh, who by the way is giving a very acceptable performance of "Mary" in the current week's offering will be the coming week play, "Miss Hays." It isn't what one would call a big part but it requires one with a winning manner, some pretty clothes and a nice personality, and Miss Hays has been relied upon to do it.

The other characters that is the ladies will be played by Sadie Galloway, Nathalie Rounds, Clara Jenkins, and Elsie Bishop. Of the men characters in the bill the role of Mr. Stubbs is by far the most important. Good old Wm. Dodge, who by the way is now securing another success at a Boston theatre, it became famous over night. Sam A. McNary has been allotted the role of Mr. Hays, who need say. To know that McNary is going to play it is synonymous with a guarantee that it will be done right. William B. Freeman, who was seen as Mr. Wiggs, Eugene Desmond as Billy Wiggs and others who will appear are Robert Lee, Kenneth Fleming, Joseph Thayer, Thomas Carroll and Ed. Clayton. The staging under Mr. Freeman's personal direction will also be adequate.

MONDAY TO BE CIGAR DAY

Association of Cigar Dealers and Manufacturers Sets Aside Oct. 12 as First National Cigar Day

The Association of Cigar Manufacturers and Dealers, after some deliberation, has set upon Monday, October 12, as the First National Cigar Day, and "Cigar Day" will hereafter be observed each year. The day is merely one on which to boom cigars and generally increase the production of good cigars.

So in order to carry out the observance in a complete manner, every smoker should be seen on next Monday with a cigar between his teeth, enjoying "Cigar Day" to the fullest extent.

Some fine cigars are manufactured right here in Lowell, and some of the manufacturers are taking advantage of the decree for "Cigar Day," and are advertising their product in today's Sun. These Lowell cigar producers are co-operating with the association in the interest of good cigars.

Mr. Fitzgerald's Observance
Mr. Fitzgerald, the well known tobacco merchant with stores at 408 Merrimack street, 562 Middlesex street and 298 Bridge street, will celebrate "Cigar Day" in a manner that will please his customers. He is going to give away a handsome nickel plated rotary razor blade cigar cutter on Monday at the stores mentioned above. This cigar cutter is a neat little article and something that every cigar smoker should have.

Scott's Smoke Shop
Three cigars of quality are made by William Scott at his factory and store, 187 Middlesex street. They are "Scott's Fresh Havana Smoker," "Scott's Royal-R," and "Scott's Level Best." The latter is a 16-cent cigar and the other two selling for 5 cents. Mr. Scott has been in the business of making cigars for the past eight years, and his trade has increased remarkably. At first he was making but 50,000 cigars in a year while now he manufactures approximately 500,000 in one year. His cigars find a wide demand everywhere throughout this city, and throughout the Merrimack Valley in general. The work is all done by hand.

Mr. Harkins' Leader
Two more local leaders are made at the factory of Mr. Robert H. Harkins at 912 Gorham street. They are "Sun," "Central," a ten and a five cent cigar respectively. Mr. Harkins, too, is prominent among local dealers, and his product, made under the most modern and sanitary conditions, has an exceedingly wide market. Many Lowell cigar lovers have placed the brands manufactured by Mr. Harkins at the top of their list of favorites. Like Mr. Scott, Mr. Harkins uses only the best of stock, and great care is taken with the work.

James H. Buckley—"Buck's Best"
"Buck's Best" and "Boston Terrier" are two brands of cigars that are very well known in this city and the surrounding cities throughout the district. They, too, are Lowell-made cigars, being the product of the factory of Mr. James H. Buckley at 131 Central street, an up-to-date and thriving establishment. By using fine tobacco and employing only experts, Mr. Buckley has succeeded in turning out a cigar that many particular smokers have chosen as their favorite. "Buck's Best" is a ten cent smoke that is well worth the money, while "Boston Terrier" is a five cent cigar of unusual quality.

The foregoing dealers and manufacturers are among Lowell's foremost advertisers. Their "Cigar Day" advertisements appear on this page and should be read with interest. Men who remember them when purchasing their daily smokes will have no regrets for the products of all these men are of recognized high quality and have a big market not in Lowell alone but elsewhere.

FIVE YEARS IN PRISON

JOHN H. GRONDIS SENTENCED IN PORTLAND AND APPEAL TAKEN TO LAW COURT

PORTLAND, Me., Oct. 10.—In the superior court yesterday morning Judge J. E. P. Connolly sentenced John H. Grondis of Waterville, who was convicted of an attempt to murder his wife, to state prison for not less than five or more than ten years. Col. W. C. Eaton, his attorney, entered an appeal, and George H. Grondis and Sumner Rowe of Waterville gave $10,000 bail pending a presentation of a bill of exceptions at the December term of the law court.

SMALL FIRES EXTINGUISHED
The members of Engine 2 were summoned to the corner of Branch and Smith streets shortly after seven o'clock this morning where a fire had started from an overheated stove. The damage was confined to the barber shop on the ground floor of a building. Frank Lemira owns the shop.

The members of Hose 11 were called to the Lundberg street bridge at 6 o'clock last night to extinguish a small fire which probably started from a cigarette or cigar stub. Slight damage.

CITY LABORERS

Union Men Discuss Civil Service With Mayor and 2 Commissioners

Timothy Rourke, president, and Charles A. Anderson, secretary of the Trades and Labor Council, and William Gordon, president of the Municipal Employees union, and delegates William Welch, James Hickey and John Coakley had a conference last night with Mayor Murphy and Commissioners Donnelly and Morse. It was an executive conference and was held in the mayor's office.

The union men wanted to learn about the operation of the civil service laws recently adopted by the municipal council at the behest of the union members. They were informed by the mayor and the commissioners that the municipal council has nothing whatever to do with the operation of the civil service. The mayor told them that until John C. Gilbert, state registrar of labor, arrives, nothing will be known about the system. Mr. Gilbert will come to Lowell on Tuesday next and will proceed with the installation of his system of labor registration. It will be the same as that installed elsewhere in the state.

The union men felt that members of the municipal council should be first choice when men are selected for places, but they were informed that the civil service system makes no mention of union men. The mayor told the union men that municipal commissioners will not have anything whatever to do with the system, nor will they interfere in the slightest with its operation after it has been installed.

NEW PASTOR CALLED

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH WANTS MAN FROM MISSOURI—NAME PRESENTED BY COMMITTEE

At a meeting of the First Baptist church held last evening, it was voted to extend a call to Rev. A. C. Archibald, pastor of the First Baptist church of St. Joseph, Mo. The pulpits committee, through its chairman, F. A. Bowen, presented the name of Rev. Mr. Archibald and after hearing statements from other members of the committee and discussing the matter for an hour it was unanimously voted to extend the call. Rev. Mr. Archibald was formerly pastor of the First Baptist church in Brockton, where he had remarkable success. He is a native of Nova Scotia. He was educated at Acadia college and at Andover Theological seminary, where he was a classmate of the late Rev. H. S. Pinkham. His father and three brothers are ministers. He has a wife and three children.

Roll Call Supper
The annual roll call and supper of the First Baptist church was held last night in the church vestry and was attended by more than 250 of the members and friends of the church. A social hour preceded the supper with an organ recital by F. B. Hill, church organist. Rev. B. R. Harris, pastor of the Paige Street Baptist church, was the speaker.

GUNBOAT DOWNED IN 10-ROUND BOUT AT NEW YORK—BOTH MEN SEVERELY PUNISHED

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—Batting Levinsky of this city, outpointed and out-toughed Gunboat Smith of California, in a 10-round bout here last night. Levinsky weighed 175½, Smith 190 pounds. Smith did all the leading in the first four rounds in each of which he had a fair margin. The fifth round was even but from the sixth on Levinsky had it all his own way.

In the early rounds, Levinsky made no attempt at leading. He avoided several of the runner's rushes and contented himself with blocking cleverly and side-stepping. He hardly used his right in these rounds and depended on left hooks and upper cuts. Both men were severely punished about the body.

Levinsky woke up in the sixth and waded in. Smith landed occasionally but Levinsky had all the better of it in the latter rounds.

COURT GENERAL DIMON
Court General Dimon met in regular session last night with a large attendance of members. Sub Chief Ranger Quinn presided. The report of the sick committee showed that only two members were ill. Routine business was transacted and a social hour enjoyed.

CUTS CORN, DEATH RESULTS

PITTSFIELD, October 10.—Daniel Hughes died at the House of Mercy hospital yesterday after an illness of only 24 hours, death being caused by tetanus contracted through blood poisoning in his foot as a result of cutting a corn.

Mr. Hughes was employed on the Zenas Crane estate in Craneyville. He served in the Civil war as a member of Co. I, 31st regiment, Mass. Inf. He was a minute man in the Allen Guards. He was a member of Rockwell Post, G. A. R. He leaves three sons, Charles L. Hughes of Dalton, Edward J. Hughes of Beverly and Irving D. Hughes of this city, and two daughters, Miss Marietta Hughes and Mrs. James Briggs of Dalton.

LADIES' AID SOCIETY

The Ladies' Aid society of St. Patrick's church held the first meeting of the fall term last evening in the parochial school hall and made plans for the coming year. The meeting was very largely attended and great enthusiasm was shown. President Helena M. O'Sullivan called the attention of those present to many phases of the work that call for unusual attention at the present time and urged all to manifest the same interest that they have shown in the past. Rev. Joseph A. Curtin, the spiritual director, was present and spoke informally on the program for the coming year, expressing confidence in the promising outlook.

LATE WAR BULLETINS

FAMINE PREVAILS NEAR ANTWERP

ANTWERP, Oct. 10.—The inner circle of forts has been bombarding the Germans who are mostly entrenched in the village of Conticht. The stream of fugitives continues without a break. Many people spent an entire night in coal cars. Thousands of peasants who never before had left home are afraid to cross into Holland and spent the night in the streets of Asschen, where famine prevails. The Dutch soldiers are distributing water, milk and bread and have been ordered to give the famished thousands all possible help.

BELGIANS BLEW UP ONE ANTWERP FORT

AMSTERDAM, Oct. 10.—The correspondent of the Telegraph at Rosendaal, Holland, learns from a Belgian medical officer that the Belgians blew up Fort De Mouxem to the north of Antwerp.

The Rotterdam Courant hears from a reliable source that the Belgians themselves destroyed the oil tanks in Antwerp while another report indicates that Fort Waelhem was also destroyed by the Belgians.

5000 GERMANS OCCUPY COURTRAI ON RIVER LYS

LONDON, Oct. 10.—The correspondent of the Times at Ostend telegraphs that 5000 Germans have occupied Courtrai on the river Lys, southwest of Ghent and near the French border.

SHELLS FALL ON PRISON—PRISONERS LIBERATED

LONDON, Oct. 10.—A despatch from Amsterdam to Reuter's Telegram Co., dated Friday night, says:

During yesterday's bombardment of Antwerp some shells exploded on the roof of the prison. The wardens immediately liberated the prisoners.

THE HAGUE, Oct. 10.—Antwerp surrendered to the Germans at 2.30 p. m. Friday, Oct. 9.

The war flag was removed from the cathedral and a white flag raised in its place at 3 a. m. The actual surrender took place five and one-half hours later.

It is declared here that the cathedral of Notre Dame has not been damaged.

The Germans delivered one of their last furious attacks between 6 and 7 o'clock Friday morning. The Belgians resisted them valiantly in their trenches and the desperate fighting resulted in very heavy losses on both sides.

During all Friday night Zeppelin dirigibles directed the firing of the German heavy artillery, the results of which are appalling.

The German artillery forced its way across the river Nethe in which many of the artillerymen were drowned. The fighting has been indescribably sanguinary.

Belgians succeeded in blowing up two and possibly more of their batteries and heavy artillery.

TIDE OF BATTLE IS FLOWING SLOWLY IN PARTS OF FRANCE

PARIS, Oct. 10.—In contrast to the rapidity with which the Germans have conducted their campaign against Antwerp the tide of battle is flowing slowly in certain parts of France. The engagements in the Woëvre district, according to statements of wounded soldiers who have been brought back from this territory, continue to take the form of a slow and steady siege.

CITY HALL NOTES

Mayor Murphy has received an invitation to attend an old home week celebration in Wilmington, Del. The invitation is very prettily gotten up and is signed by the mayor of the city of Wilmington, Harrison W. Howell.

Commissioner Carmichael went to Ware, Mass., today to inspect the water supply at that place.

At a monthly meeting of the directors of the Lowell board of trade to be held in D. L. Page's restaurant next Wednesday evening, the question of increasing the work of the board so that it will be more beneficial to the city will be discussed. Reports of committees and officers will be read and suggestions for improvements will be received. It is expected that the meeting will be the most enthusiastic of the present season.

PORTUGAL TO DECLARE WAR ON GERMANY

LONDON, Oct. 10.—In a despatch from Amsterdam, the correspondent of the Exchange Telegraph Co. says that the bureau Weinzler, a semi-official news agency, asserts that a declaration of war on Germany by Portugal is expected in Berlin at any moment.

CATHOLIC CHURCH NOTES

Tonorrow will be quarterly communion Sunday for the Holy Name society of the Sacred Heart church and the members will receive holy communion in a body at the 7.30 o'clock mass. A large attendance of members is expected. A specially arranged choir, composed of members of the society, under the direction of John J. Kelly, organist, will render the music at the mass. There will also be congregational singing.

After the mass the members will assemble in the parochial school hall, where breakfast will be served. Some of Lowell's leading talent have been secured to provide the entertainment, which promises to be very enjoyable in the afternoon in the school hall. A rehearsal of the delightful musical offering "The Nautical Knot" will be held. The young people taking part have made rapid strides since rehearsals first began and a treat is promised the people of Lowell who attend the performances which will be given October 23 and 28 in the school hall.

Rev. D. A. Sullivan, O. M. I., of the Immaculate Conception church and Rev. T. Franklin Wood, O. M. I., of the Sacred Heart church are giving a two weeks' mission to the parishioners of St. Mark's church, Dorchester.

Rev. John P. Flynn, O. M. I., of the Sacred Heart church is preaching a three weeks' mission in Everett.

Rev. John O'Brien, O. M. I., of the Immaculate Conception church and Rev. John P. McElroy, O. M. I., of Buffalo will conclude a two weeks' mission in Stoneham tomorrow.

The Holy Name society of the Immaculate Conception church will meet in the basement at 8.45, and after the meeting will attend vespers in a body.

October devotion will go as usual every night next week.

Tuesday evening there will be a meeting of the members of the Immaculate Conception sodality. Business of considerable importance will come up for transaction and all members are requested to attend. Plans for winter sociables and entertainments will also be formulated at the meeting.

St. Michael's Church

At the 8 o'clock mass at St. Michael's church the 44th degree Knights of Columbus will receive holy communion in a body. Special music will be provided at the mass by a choir composed of members of the society. The members will assemble at 7.30 at the Knights of Columbus rooms in Anne street and march in a body to the church. After the mass breakfast will be served in the society rooms and a musical program which promises to be very enjoyable has been arranged.

The Holy Name society of St. Michael's church will hold a meeting tomorrow evening at 6.30 o'clock.

On Tuesday evening the regular meeting of the Immaculate Conception sodality will be held and all members are requested to attend.

THE WARM WEATHER

The Temperature the Highest for Twenty-five Years at This Season

Lowell people who have been keeping weather records for the past quarter of a century claim that yesterday and today were the two warmest October days in the past 25 years. Clear air and invigorating breezes have made the heat bearable and the lingering summer weather is enjoyed in this city.

Some idea of the heat can be formed when the temperature of today is compared with that of the corresponding day of a year ago. The maximum for 24 hours ending at 8 o'clock this morning was 75 degrees, the minimum 65 degrees, as compared with 68 and 62, last year. There was a rise of temperature between 8 o'clock this morning and 1 o'clock this afternoon of 13 degrees and the record today was about one degree higher than at the same time yesterday.

FOR GRASS FIRE

A grass fire in a field off Morion street, South Lowell, gave the firemen a battle shortly before noon today. Residents of the vicinity discovered the fire and telephoned the department for assistance. Right damage.

HUNTERS GALORE

Open Season on Pheasants Begins Monday—650 Licenses Sold

If you should go a-strolling in the woods on Monday, Columbus day, or any day next week, you are advised to have a care as the woods will be filled with pheasant hunters and we all know how careless hunters can be at times.

The law will be off on pheasants to-night and early Monday morning and the open season will continue up to and including Nov. 12. The hunters are limited to two pheasants in one day and not more than six in one season. Whoever kills a pheasant must report it in writing to the fish and game commission within 24 hours, stating day, town, number and sex killed. Of course everybody will do that little thing. Perhaps!

The number of hunters' licenses taken out at the city clerk's office at city hall up to the noon hour today, at which time the hall closed, was 650, presenting $600, as the price of such a license is $1, except in the case of a non-citizen and the price then is $1.50.

All of the 650 applicants who applied for licenses were citizens. They took oath to that effect anyway. The oldest man to apply for a license was Edward D. Clark, of 25 Liberty street, 76 years old, but his eye is as true and his aim as sure as it was 30 years ago.

Quite a number of automobile parties have been framed up for Monday morning and most of them will leave the city about 4 o'clock. About every fellow who applied for a license at the city clerk's office knew of a flock of pheasants that nobody else knew anything at all about.

"I think there will be some surprises in the hunters' ranks Monday morning," said Assistant Clerk McCarthy. "They all seem to think that they can reach a flock of pheasants in the morning. I was amused in talking with some of them to find that they had their eye on the same flock."

"It reminded me of the two fellows who went deer hunting. They left Lowell at 3 o'clock in the morning and arrived at a field, or old clearance in the woods, where they knew could find a herd of deer any time. The break of dawn, however, was accompanied by a heavy fog which did not clear until sunrise and when it lifted the field was surrounded by hunters and not a deer in sight."

As to the disposition of the money collected for hunting licenses, let it be said that the city is left out in the cold. All of the money goes to the state, though all of the work is done in the city clerk's office and the man who has received a license knows it is no small job to make one out.

SOLENN SERVICES HELD AT FUNERAL OF ALBERT L. BACH-ELDER AT HIS HOME THIS AFTERNOON

All that was mortal of the late Albert L. Bachelder, principal of the Green school, was tenderly consigned to its last resting place in the Lowell cemetery after imposing services had been held at the home, 195 Nesmith street. This forenoon the former pupils of Mr. Bachelder were given an opportunity to gaze for the last time upon the body of their former master and teacher.

The funeral services were held at 2.30 o'clock this afternoon. The attendance was large for deceased was widely known and held in the highest esteem by his many friends and acquaintances. The services were conducted by Rev. A. C. Ferrin, pastor of the High Street Congregational church of which deceased was a prominent member. The choir, composed of Messrs. Arthur Munn, Harry Needham, William Wirt and Charles Howard sang "Lead Kindly Light," "Abide With Me" and "Still, Still With Thee." There was a profusion of floral offerings as a token of esteem and sympathy from the teachers, janitors and pupils of the Green school of which deceased had been master for many years.

The bearers were Henry Harris, Charles Morey, William S. Greene and Frederick J. Woodward. The teachers of the Green school attended the funeral in a body, while delegations were also present from the following organizations of which deceased was a prominent member: Historical society, Boys' Club, Teachers' organization, Grammar Masters' club, Lowell board of education, Lowell board of aldermen, Lowell board of city council, Lowell board of fire wardens, Lowell board of health, Lowell board of police, Lowell board of public works, Lowell board of street cleaning, Lowell board of water supply, Lowell board of sewerage, Lowell board of street lighting, Lowell board of street paving, Lowell board of street widening, Lowell board of street grading, Lowell board of street drainage, Lowell board of street cleaning, Lowell board of street lighting, Lowell board of street paving, Lowell board of street widening, Lowell board of street grading, Lowell board of street drainage.

Arthur Munn, Harry Needham, William Wirt and Charles Howard sang "Lead Kindly Light," "Abide With Me" and "Still, Still With Thee." There was a profusion of floral offerings as a token of esteem and sympathy from the teachers, janitors and pupils of the Green school of which deceased had been master for many years.

The bearers were Henry Harris, Charles Morey, William S. Greene and Frederick J. Woodward. The teachers of the Green school attended the funeral in a body, while delegations were also present from the following organizations of which deceased was a prominent member: Historical society, Boys' Club, Teachers' organization, Grammar Masters' club, Lowell board of education, Lowell board of aldermen, Lowell board of city council, Lowell board of fire wardens, Lowell board of health, Lowell board of police, Lowell board of public works, Lowell board of street cleaning, Lowell board of street lighting, Lowell board of street paving, Lowell board of street widening, Lowell board of street grading, Lowell board of street drainage.

The funeral services were held at 2.30 o'clock this afternoon. The attendance was large for deceased was widely known and held in the highest esteem by his many friends and acquaintances. The services were conducted by Rev. A. C. Ferrin, pastor of the High Street Congregational church of which deceased was a prominent member. The choir, composed of Messrs. Arthur Munn, Harry Needham, William Wirt and Charles Howard sang "Lead Kindly Light," "Abide With Me" and "Still, Still With Thee." BUSINESS EFFICIENCY

Perhaps no term is used more commonly or more thoughtlessly in discussions of modern business than "efficiency," for efficiency in relation to industry is the most important need of the times. Gradually the old monopolistic management of business is giving way to a new order and the days of enormous individual success are no more. In most lines competition is keen and the business that wishes to be successful must eliminate all possible waste, must continually study its losses in relation to its profits, must seek out employees suited to their work and must see to it that employees devote their energies to the best advantage during their hours of activity. All of these things are but side issues of the application of business efficiency.

As the efficient business is the most successful business so too is the efficient worker the most successful individual. He who, when he enters a trade or a profession, looks upon his term of preparation as complete will remain in the lower ranks of his class; he who will advance is the man who is never too old or too experienced to learn. There is no such word as "finished" in the language of efficiency; its students who are drawn from the ranks of the employers as well as the ranks of the employed are always learning, always striving to promote business efficiency. The man who, after being forty years in some line of business, experiments along new lines is the man who fully understands the meaning of efficiency. His rewards will be the rewards of efficiency—which are very great.

In the furtherance of efficiency among employees some of the largest manufacturing plants in the country have conceived the idea of opening practical business schools in connection with their plants and of teaching the most advanced methods of eliminating waste and making the most of raw material. This method has been adopted for years in Germany which by means of it largely captured the world trade in some lines of manufacture. The head of the local textile school recently described to a Sun representative a typical German chemical laboratory devoted to the manufacture of dye stuffs: Opening from a long corridor were several individual suites of rooms, each occupied by a dye expert, each of whom was busily experimenting towards a certain end. When anything worth while was evolved, all the experts and a large group of students were called in consultation in a common laboratory and the discovery made known. The German government encouraged this method of promoting manufacturing efficiency and then took precautions so that the German nation reaped the benefits resulting from German enterprise and invention. So far American manufacture has been negligent in the application of efficiency as a science and it is no secret that dependence on foreign sources of supply was largely due to the fact that imported chemicals and dyes could be bought in the foreign market more cheaply than they could be made at home. In this is an acknowledgment of the superiority of foreign efficiency.

That American manufacturers are realizing this more and more is apparent from the fact that some of the largest manufacturing plants in the country have recently added a corps of efficiency experts to their administrative body. Occasionally a young man on graduating from the Lowell textile school becomes an expert in the promotion of efficiency methods in one of the largest mills of the country. Many men engaged in the textile industry make no secret of the fact, too, that the preponderance of cheap immigrant labor has cost more in efficiency losses than it has saved in wage payments. The waste between the looms, the poorly woven cloth and the wear and tear on textile machinery may soon eat up the wage difference of three or four dollars per employee.

One of the direct lessons of efficiency is that wage-earners should strive to become as proficient as possible in their chosen lines of activity, confident in the belief that ability must eventually win out. The time-server or place-filler is among the waste product of the wage earners. Success will crown the efforts of the searbor after efficiency. As time goes on and as the need for conservation becomes more pressing the truth of this will become still more apparent. It is an age of efficiency and the successful worker is he who feels that there is always something to learn. If he admits the truth of this at 20, he will admit it more readily at 70 when he enjoys the fruits of business efficiency.

MR. BIRD SPEAKS

Those who want to believe that the republican party is not the same old party, hiding its head, ostrich-like, in the sands of self-satisfaction and with the same old bag of tricks to delude the very elect, should carefully avoid reading the speech made by Charles Sumner Bird at the progressive convention in Faneuil hall last week. In that speech, or that part of it which refers to the old guard, Mr. Bird voices no new political belief and gives voice to no superlative wisdom, but he punctures the gas bag of republican hypocrisy neatly and convincingly. Those who have read the negative, meaningless and altogether harmless platform of the Massachusetts republicans before reading Mr. Bird's speech will appreciate the full force of the progressive leader's reasoning.

In answer to the republican claim of being awake "to new truth and new duty" and acquiring "leadership among loftier paths," Mr. Bird asks if the chairman of the republican state committee, who made the claim, referred to Fenno, on whom comment is unnecessary, or to Cannon, "the embodiment of the stand-pat doctrine: the man who was defeated for the speakership by the members of his own party, and yet had the support of Mr. McCall, who once suggested him for the presidency?" He then goes on to enumerate other indications of a revival of the stand pat policy, and says of the "new" leaders of progressive republicanism: "These republican leaders . . . have, as it were, arisen from the grave and these are the men who have been selected by the republican machine to lead the republican party along 'loftier paths.'"

A little reflection on these facts and others not mentioned will convince the disinterested student of political affairs that "the republican leaders have not seen 'new light' or 'new truth'; they are still the party of special privilege; of high protection; of broken pledges." Apparently hoping that the usual political reaction has arisen against the democratic party they wear only a thin veneer of progressiveness and march on to the fray with the old discarded policies and under the old discarded leaders. The lesson of progressive defection has been badly learned, and the things mentioned by Mr. Bird stand between his party and a return to their ancient fold. One may differ with progressive policies, but they are at least honest; where is there any honesty in the republican platform or policies?

PRETEXTS FOR WAR

The pretext advanced to excuse the present war by those held generally responsible throughout the world are so flat and illogical that they can scarcely be believed by the apologists themselves. Despite any and all explanations there seems to be a general feeling in this country that the war is absolutely unjustifiable. Some comparatively trivial occurrences may have served as the match that set fire to the passions of the nations but underlying all is the conviction that the war is the result of long and careful plotting—the fruition of a positive preparation. On one point at least there can be little difference of opinion; that point is the tragedy of Belgium's position. Prosperous, peaceful, progressive, industrious, this splendid people dwell in harmony and domestic virtue until an arrogant power, mad with militarism, invaded their neutral territory and caused them to rise in a patriotic protest. Now their fields have been devastated, the villages depopulated, their cities laid in ruins, the fruits of their culture scattered, their people plunged in sorrow, facing all manner of privation and mourning for thousands of their heroic dead. When time collects the crimes of the nations one against the other there will not be a darker blot on the whole record than the present fate of Belgium, which is weeping in vain for Louvain, Liege and Terebronde and is today waiting anxiously with tearful eyes on the fate of Antwerp.

BETWEEN TWO FIRES

Like many another great man, President Wilson is blessed in his enemies. Those who opposed him on tariff grounds helped to gain popular support for the bill; those who mocked, ridiculed and calumniated him for his peaceful attitude towards Mexico killed their own cause by over-vehemence; those who at first condemned the currency bill talked themselves out of arguments and finally jumped on the Wilson wagon to save their face. At the present time he is being condemned by two groups of opponents who serve to show up the inconsistency of the criticisms in the most delightful manner. On the one hand we find some malicious critics insinuating that the president has surrendered to the trusts because of taking the personal responsibility clause from the Clayton anti-trust bill, while the critics of this region accuse him of destroying business because of the same bill. Neither side can deny, however, that as governor of New Jersey, President Wilson made his greatest reputation by his anti-trust agitation, resulting in seven bills which were accepted as models by many states in the Union. His anti-trust reputation did not prevent his going to the White House and there is no indication of business ruin in New Jersey. In this case he can be judged by results far better than by the paradoxical accusations of his opponents.

ESCAPING THE PENALTY

A Chicago committee which has been investigating the relation between crime and its punishment in that city has made some important discoveries. It finds that the proportion of those punished to those that go free—considering only those arrested—is one to thirty. Unfortunately it is not according to common sense to assume that the 29 who escape out of 30 arrested are innocent; the natural reflection is that very many who commit crimes in Chicago escape through some technicality, the skill of lawyers or lack of evidence. In this connection the following quotation from the Lynn News hits the nail on the head:

"Courts in small communities stand behind the fact fairly well and make their work easier by passing out quick and adequate punishment for offences. Courts in larger cities are not always so sure. And in the cases where municipal courts do justice there is altogether too much of a chance that higher courts, removed from the scene of the offence and with crowded dockets, will be too lenient with offenders and too harsh on society. To do not half so much need new laws or even reformed laws as we need the quick and sure enforcement of the laws we have. Criminals ought to know that the chances are against them instead of with them."

THE DRY PLANK

The prohibitionists have a real live grievance, and who, knowing the reason, can blame them? Without word of warning some wily political thieves crept out in the shadows and stole the dry plank, their platform. Now the prohibitionists who had become much attached to their platform, regarding it in fact as their legitimate property, must either come before the people without any platform at all or else play second fiddle.

The possible aerial invasion of England did not sound unpleasant to those who imagined Zeppelins soaring over Antwerp and raining down bombs on the distracted inhabitants, the great guns sending immense shells over the forts the while. At this formidable city the war seems to have condensed its most terrible efforts and the world may be prepared for anything henceforth. Count Zeppelin, in his well-known devotion to German ideals, probably feels that the struggles of his life have been well repaid but Antwerp will forever curse his memory.

Judge Murray of the Boston municipal court condemns the present method of dealing with inebriates. It is certainly a reproach to Massachusetts—a fact which anybody will understand who sees a wretched woman sentenced to jail for the twentieth time, the judge meantime knowing that she'll be back for her twenty-first sentence in three months.

Where are all the comments of yesterday about the immorality of the new dances? Does the fact that they are no longer new make them any better?

What's this? Street car men strike in Mexico City! Sure sign of returning civilization.

There's a murderer running around loose somewhere still.

And after Antwerp?

POLITICAL ADVERTISING

A pole erected by a public service corporation should not be utilized as a billboard in this or any other city. The approach of the campaign brings to public notice many cards of candidates tacked up on the poles about the city, which are offensive to the eye, a contribution to the clutter of the street and a violation of tidiness which ought not to be tolerated.—Lynn News.

IN THE EAST

Germany has lost a torpedo boat destroyer, and some islands in the Pacific ocean, neither of which are of great value to Germany's war effort; figure it out which is the greater loss.

Most of the islands and the Caroline Islands, where the seizures were made by Japan, are small in land and small in population.

The United States need not be alarmed; neither may it depend on to prevent the use of the islands in a way unfriendly to this country.—Lewiston Sun.

PURE FOOD

The most practical way to bring about pure-food reform is to patronize those who sell the food which is under suspicion. It is by this means, generally put in effect, that competition will be forced, not so much in the matter of price as in that of quality; and when the final balance is struck, whether or not there is any economy in more ways than one. This is a subject for every individual household, who is concerned, as she should be, with household economy and with the good health and welfare of the family, to ponder seriously. It is a question with which she shall consent to be bothered when she shall realize that it counts for a great question for herself and for every member of her family.—Manchester Leader.

AUTO TAXES

Congress is having trouble in getting the war revenue bill into shape. It is now proposed not to tax automobiles and gasoline, a sensible and equitable decision. Automobiles are now doubly taxed; with a tax on sales on horse power and on gasoline they would be taxed five times.—New Bedford Standard.

HARD ON HOGAN

A Boston man has asked the courts to permit his family to change their name from Hogan to Hoggans, and a prominent citizen of the latter name has entered an objection to such a change. The bulk of sentiment, no doubt, will be with Hoggans, as no one can blame him for objecting to becoming a namesake of such a person as Hogan seems to be.—Fall River Globe.

HIS MASTER'S VOICE

"I won, all right, in the progressive primaries, but was counted out," says Plain Bill Suter. Didn't Col. Roosevelt say something to the same effect after the republican national convention in Chicago in 1912?—Springfield Union.

THE SPELLBINDER

The Complacent Citizen in the Courier-Citizen thinks that because there is a vacancy in the list of deputy sheriffs sought after by democrats, the demmies will withhold their criticism of the county ring, and presumably the County Commissioner Gould. Just what connection the appointment of a deputy sheriff has with the election of a county commissioner is a little too hard to fathom. The sheriff, who is elected by the people, and not appointed by the county commissioners, has his own political fences to look after, and is not taking up the cause of the county commissioner or anyone else.

By the way, are you a candidate for deputy sheriff? Most everybody else is. A day or two ago The Sun called up Sheriff Fairbank and asked him if he had decided upon an appointee as yet. The sheriff replied negatively, stating that it would take some time to look over the qualifications of the candidates. If he attempts to look into the qualifications of all of them, in detail, it will take the poor man the remainder of his natural life.

Earlier in the evening mentioned about a dozen of the candidates in this column and was subsequently "called down" by the friends of about two dozen more for not mentioning them. Thus in order to be entirely fair in the matter I shall publish all names sent in for publication, without comment for the moment, according to report, are Eugene Cantin, son-in-law of the late Alphonsus Elbeault; Joseph H. McGrath, custodian of the postoffice; Cornelius F. Cronin, assistant city messenger; Cornelius F. Sullivan, keeper at the Lowell jail; Constable Ezra Mansur; Martin D. Sullivan, insurance agent, and a few others. "Former Mayor" Brown is a receptive candidate.

The position of deputy sheriff looks like a sinecure from the road; nothing to do but serve papers on people, backed up by some lawyer's say-so, and sit within a fine looking uniform at the sessions of court with good people coming in, into the bargain; and that's why there are so many candidates in the field. But the deputy sheriff has a great responsibility and few of them ever escape without getting in bad at some time or other, even if they do finally win out. A deputy sheriff must know some law, must be able to handle the duties and the limitations of his authority, and for any mistakes he may make through ignorance, carelessness, or any other cause, he or his bondsmen must settle.

Mr. O'Connor Opens Headquarters

J. Joseph O'Connor has opened headquarters in Merrimack street with a popular hustler in charge in the person of Reginald J. O'Connell. Mr. O'Connor is not at all terrified over the republican majority of the district or the activity of Congressman Rogers and his press agents, and will conduct an active campaign. Mr. O'Connor believes that this district should have a congressman at Washington who is in sympathy with the administration, and furthermore he believes that as this is a district of working people, those people should be represented in congress. At the present time only a few financial interests, the cotton mills, are represented there, and it is in their interest that Congressman Rogers is at present making such a fight on the labor conditions that exist in the southern mills, which are the dangerous competitors of the northern cotton interests. And it seems strange to all that if the republican party is so interested in the welfare of the working people of the south it did not enact legislation aiming at the betterment of their condition long ago, as it has held undisputed sway in congress for decades and the labor conditions in the south have been in vogue for a number of years. Mr. O'Connor undoubtedly has heard on the stump and will have some interesting material to offer for the consideration of the voters of the district.

Republican City Committee

Ex-Senator Horton M. Hilton, who was ever a hustler in politics, having been given the rather empty honor of chairmanship of the republican city committee, is starting out boldly to ascertain whether or not there is any thing to the statement, "they do come back," for he is going to attempt to revive the republican city committee and make the machine effective in state politics, at least. "Horton" has some task on his hands but his friends think him well. An attempt to revive the republican city committee reminds me of a meeting of the old Lawrence Debating club of long ago, at which the subject of discussion was that of the resurrection. One old atheist, speaking for the negative, asked the question: "Suppose I was out on a cautioning bill and was cooked up and eaten by 10,000 savages, how would I ever come together again?" The republican city committee has been cooked up and eaten by some 10,000 voters and the feast took place a couple of years ago. But "Horton" believes that by getting the old machine working again he can do something for McCall for governor, and he's going to try it at all events. An appropriate motto for the revived city committee would be: "Let the dead bury their dead," with particular reference to the creditors of the old organization.

Mayor's Quiet Trip

On Wednesday, Mayor Murphy disappeared from city hall and the reporters and other members of the municipal council, from all accounts, were at a loss to account for his whereabouts. The following morning the Boston Herald solved the mystery by the publication of the following item:

"At the weekly session of the recess committee on city charters at the state house yesterday, Mayor Murphy and City Solicitor Hennessey of Lowell were held in executive session. They decided that the city charter of Lowell is working well in the main, but they would suggest some changes. The first desired was a power and fast track for a four year term of office for the executive instead of two. They stated that the finances of Lowell are in better condition now than for some years back."

There was no need of His Honor making a secret of his trip to Boston. He had a perfect right to appear before the recess committee of the municipal council, so that it can't be said that he was trying to slip anything over on them, unless some unkind critic might take his action to mean that he wanted to impress the committee with the belief that he was the city of Lowell's best friend, as others have done recently, when they were out of town. The fact that His Honor believes that the mayor should have a four year term, instead of two, may cause some to believe that he is about to revive his promise not to run for a second term, which would be only in line with the general revision of promises that has taken place of late. His Honor stated that the finances of Lowell are in better condition now than for some time past, despite the fact that the municipal council only a few weeks ago was in such financial straits that it attempted to borrow the city's trust funds, but it is not likely that he informed the committee that the present tax rate of Lowell is the highest in its history.

But relative to giving the mayor a four year term and more power, Mayor Murphy is not alone in the opinion. While as a general proposition the present city charter is way ahead of the old form of government, as His Honor states, there is room for improvement. It is believed by many that the mayor should have more power, for at present, while he is named as the executive head of the city and as such is looked to by citizens generally, he has absolutely no executive power. He is but a commissioner with a little more salary and another title. He is hindered, however, for the shortcomings of the government in which he is but one of the directors as it were. Cities in the south and west that have had more experience with the present form of government are looking with favor on a new form of charter that makes the mayor a business manager with the municipal council as his cabinet. He is given great power with a four year term while he retains the right to be re-elected.

The charter makes the mayor the city's executive head in fact, and with a four year term and the Boston charter appears to be working out well. Years ago republican influences had the Lowell charter amended so as to give the mayor much more executive power than he ever had before and it was argued as the best thing for the city. Immediately after the adoption of the amendments the electorates of Lowell placed the late Hon. William F. Courcy, a democrat, in the mayor's chair, and the very republicans who had advocated the new idea firmly believing at the time that their party would be successful in the next election, went back to the legislature and had the amendments withdrawn or revamped or amended, at any rate they took away the mayor's executive power, so he had an opportunity to try it out. While all sorts of suggestions as to the best changes in the charter are heard from time to time, many hold to the view that the mayor should be elected as executive head, with executive power, with a municipal commission of his members to carry out the work of the different departments, all answerable to the mayor, and the latter to the people. A well known weakness of the present charter is the fact which permits the election of the heads of departments by the entire council instead of by appointment by the commissioner, recently responsible for those departments. Already we have had two instances of a clash over this section; in the case of former Mayor O'Donnell and Mr. Martin Conley under the previous administration, and the Morse-Putnam controversy of recent date. In his address before the League of Municipalities at Buffalo, N. Y., former Mayor O'Donnell called attention to this weakness of the Lowell charter and the matter caused considerable discussion among the delegates some of whom came from other cities where they were operating under similar provisions. It was agreed that if a commissioner is to be held responsible for the conduct of certain departments he should be permitted to name the heads of those departments. But as I said before, with whatever faults may lurk within its 61 sections, the present Lowell charter is a big improvement over the old system of government and most of its present apparent weaknesses are not those of the instrument itself, but of the men who are attempting to apply or misapply it.

Candidate Dunn a Busy Man

Henry P. Dunn, of West Lynn, the bustling democratic candidate for senator in the seventh district, was in town yesterday passing through after a tour of the country towns. "Did you ever take a trip through this district?" was the first question asked me by the candidate. Upon replying negatively, he said: "Well, it's some district to cover. It's about as big as territory. And between now and election day, Mr. Dunn will have traversed about every inch of it. Mr. Dunn proposes to hold two hall rallies in this city, one in each of the two wards in the district while he is here, also make a brief noonday speech later on at the American Hotel and Leather company, and at the plant of the Lincoln Electric company. Among his speakers at the rallies will be ex-Rep. Kiley of Lynn who made a most favorable impression in this city when he spoke here before. A few minutes of conversation with Mr. Dunn will convince one that while a resident of Lynn which seems far removed from the remainder of the district, he is quite familiar with the people and conditions, even to the most obscure corner. He is an active and enthusiastic lieutenant in Walter Cressmer, of Lynn, a well known member of the democratic state committee. Mr. Cressmer will cover the district for his friends. Mr. Cressmer asserts that once the people of the district became acquainted with the candidate, the latter's election is assured. Mr. Dunn has sent out a campaign card on which is the following extract from a speech made by him in Lynn, before the caucus: "My platform is short; just two words—Humanity." It may seem rather narrow but really it covers the very widest area. I am for the common people, the 'great 99 per cent' who make the real commonwealth of Massachusetts."

Is the Eighth District

Senator Draper is going along quietly, but effectively personally soliciting support and fixing the fence where he thinks they need fixing and his chances look every bit as good as they did a year ago. In fact many prominent republicans concede his election, believing it impossible to make the attempt. Others of the same party while believing that the republican candidate has no chance are looking forward to the election of Dr. Livingston, on the assumption that those straight-laced republicans who are not favorable to Marchand but who would vote a democrat under any circumstances will vote for the third candidate, George E. Marchand, the republican candidate appears as smiling as if the votes had already been counted and a favorable verdict announced. He figures on a tremendous French-American vote and points to his legislative record for the support of the remainder of the party.

Another Secret Conference

The spirit of the charter was flagrantly violated last evening, if never before, when the municipal council and the municipal city employees held a secret conference, from which both press and public were barred. If the municipal council were come to such a state that it dares not conduct its deliberations in the open then it is time to get men at city hall who will take the taxpayers into their confidence; men who are not afraid of public criticism, men who dare face the right and do it in full view of the public.

INQUEST HELD TODAY ON THE GINGRAS MURDER

Judges Enright and Pickman Visit Scene of Murder at American Hyde & Leather Co.—Many Witnesses Testified at Hearing

The inquest on the death of Charles Gingras which was scheduled for nine o'clock this morning was delayed for two hours owing to the fact that Judge Enright, senior justice of the local court, and Judge Pickman, the associate justice sitting at the inquest, wished to visit the scene of the Gingras tragedy.

The two judges went to the beam house of the American Hyde and Leather Co., where Gingras was murdered and minutely inspected the premises. Every possible factor which might have entered into the Gingras case was taken into consideration by the two judges.

Shortly after eleven o'clock Judge Enright convened police court, while Judge Pickman sat on the inquest. The inquest was private and no one except the witnesses was allowed in the court room. Among those summoned to testify at the inquest are the three workmen who were in the building at the time Gingras was assaulted. The two workmen who found the dying man, Medical Examiner Meigs, Officer Crocker, Captain Brozman, Lieut. Freeman and several others were on hand when the inquest opened. All of the witnesses were not examined today and the inquest was continued until Tuesday morning.

NO CRIMINAL NEGLIGENCE

On Part of Railroad in the Death of John T. Connors, Which Occurred on Sept. 10

The report on the inquest on the death of John T. Connors, aged 37 years, who was killed on Sept. 10, by being struck by a passenger train in the railroad yard, south of the Middlesex street station, was submitted to the office of the local police court today by Judge John J. Pickman. The report explains the details of the fatality and concluded as follows: "I find that on Thursday, the tenth day of September last past, about four o'clock in the afternoon, that John T. Connors, who resided in Lowell, in said county, and was employed in said city by the Boston & Maine railroad, while in the discharge of his duties, walking in the passenger railroad yard of said Boston & Maine railroad, that is south of the Middlesex street bridge, was struck by a locomotive engine that was attached to a passenger train that was running in said yard, and was thereby thrown down and run over, sustaining injuries that soon afterwards caused his death.

"I find that the death of said John T. Connors was not caused by the criminal negligence of said Boston & Maine railroad, nor of its officers, agents or servants.

ENORMOUS CROWDS WITNESSED WORLD'S SERIES GAMES BETWEEN THE BRAVES AND ATHLETICS

1. GOING TO THE GAME—

lost the first game to the Giants and afterward won the championship easily. Bender's defeat was especially disappointing to local fans, as they had counted on him as a sure winner. It was generally admitted, however, that even if the Indian pitcher had been at his best it would have been difficult to beat the Braves with Knudolph working as he did and the other members of the team backing him up at every stage of the game.

There seemed to be little doubt in the minds of any of the Athletics' followers that if Manager Mack saw fit to use Plank today, sundown would and the series tied at one game each. Expressions of satisfaction in the showing made by Whitted, a mere youth, during the three and a third innings he pitched for the Braves yesterday were heard on every side.

Youngsters to Get Chance

Bressler, another youngster who has been coached by Plank and has showed great effectiveness during the regular American league season with a cross fire delivery similar to that of his tutor, was considered a likely pitching selection for one of the contests. Shawkey, a third member of Mack's younger pitching staff, also was picked by some to figure actively in the fight for the stellar championship of 1914.

The ticket speculating fraternity won a legal victory when habeas corpus proceedings forced the release of those arrested for vending admission tickets yesterday. Few tickets for today's game, however, were in the hands of the speculators when the hour for the staging of the contest arrived. Many purchasers secured bargains in tickets yesterday when at the last moment the holders found that they would be unable to use the high priced pasteboards. Everyone who had a

POLICE SEEK HARMON BUSINESS IS BETTER

CHARGED WITH FORGERY IN SOUTHBURIDGE BY ROGERS CHECKS

SOUTHBURIDGE, Oct. 10.—Chief of Police Napoleon Gironx has received a warrant charging William G. Harmon, claiming Wichita, Kan., as his home, with forgery.

Harmon has been in town for less than a month and purported to be in the employ of a Worcester piano firm, it is said. He passed a great deal of his time about the hotels and it is claimed, passed worthless checks aggregating $150 on at least three hotel proprietors. Chief of Police Gironx said last night that Harmon has not been seen here since Tuesday.

All the bogus checks were drawn Sept. 29 on the Worcester National bank. Inquiry at that institution by the police revealed the fact that the company for which Harmon claimed he worked never carried an account there. The police of surrounding cities have been notified to be on the lookout for Harmon.

FIRST HAD EFFECTS OF WAR HAVE PASSED, SAYS PRESIDENT WILSON

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—Business conditions throughout the country are improving, according to reports reaching President Wilson yesterday, and democratic speakers are to be instructed to dwell on this fact during the fall campaigns in answer to the expected charges by republicans and progressives that the new tariff has brought financial disaster.

The president was informed that many orders for American goods were being received from abroad and that the first bad effects of the European war on American industry had passed. Mr. Wilson has decided also to accept an invitation to speak in Pittsburgh Oct. 24, on the 70th anniversary of the founding of the Y. M. C. A. While he will not make a political speech, he will go at the invitation of Representative Palmer, candidate for senator, and his appearance is planned to assist Mr. Palmer.

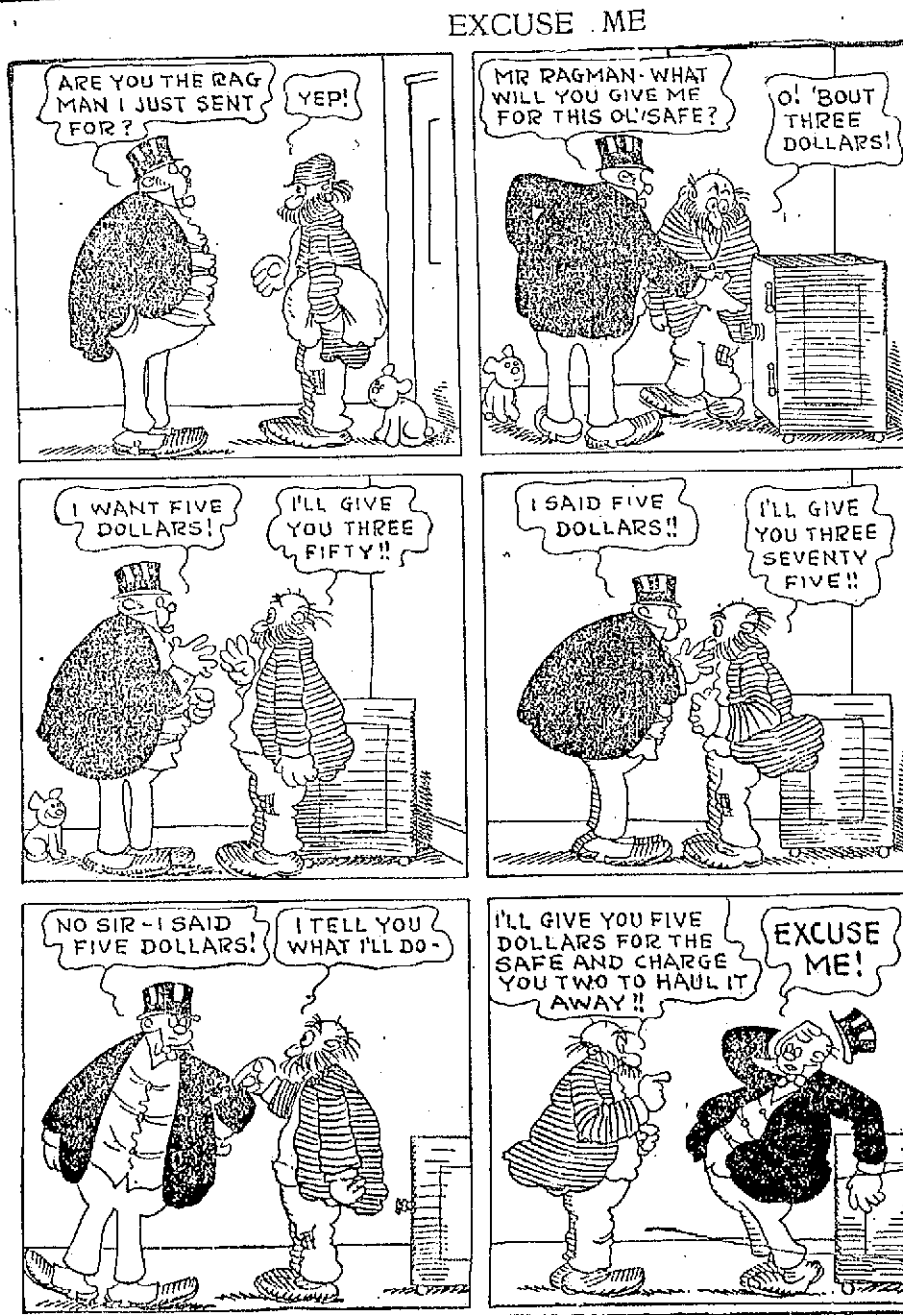

YOUTHFUL DUKE WILL FIGHT TO RETAIN WIFE TWICE HIS AGE

DUKE AND DUCHESS DURAZZO

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—When Miss Elizabeth Frances Hannan, fifty-three years old, married the Duke de Major Durazzo, twenty-four, on Feb. 17, in this city her relatives declared he was no "boughten duke," that he had signed an agreement relinquishing all claim to his bride's estate. This was important, as the bride was a member of the wealthy Hannan family, manufacturers of shoes. The couple started on a long bride's trip, and, according to a petition just filed in Westchester county, the husband was arrested in Monte Carlo on the night of May 5 on a charge of disorderly conduct and was recognized by a police as a man wanted in Paris for theft from his employer. In her petition, which asks that the marriage be annulled, the duchess says that she has never lived with her husband since learning that he was a thief. He was taken to Paris, where he was tried, convicted and released on a suspended sentence. The duke, who is living at 12 East Forty-fourth street, denies his wife's charges. He also says that, as he and his wife are citizens of Italy, American courts have no jurisdiction. He says that the Hannan family offered him $25 a week for life, but adds: "What is $25 a week for life, but a wife." He says that the trouble in Paris was due to a misunderstanding and hints that there is another person for the Hannans to wish to be rid of him.

Excuse me

(ticket today seemed determined to use it to see the game or had friends who would.)

The builders of miniature grandstands on house-tops overlooking the grounds also scored in a legal set-off with the police and building inspectors when it was discovered that they could not be forced to tear down their stands.

Stallings to Change Lineup
Interest in the series seemed accentuated, if that was possible, by the victory of the Braves. Before yesterday's game was ended a new line had been started outside the bleacher entrance in anticipation of today's game. At nightfall scores of determined fans were in the line, which increased as the victory of Shibe Park was in the vicinity of Shibe Park anxiously awaiting the opening of the gates and an opportunity to purchase bleacher seats.

All were curious whether the batteries of the Boston visitors which had been so efficacious against the speed and curves of Bender would be as potent when opposing the baffling cross fire of Plank, who is expected to start on the mound in an effort to even up the series. In anticipation of the starting of Plank by Manager Mack, however, Stallings announced a change in his lineup, putting in several hitters who are more effective against left-handed pitchers.

Most of the enthusiasm at yesterday's game was supplied by the Boston visitors. In the grand stand the greater part of the spectators looked with polite surprise at the manner in which the former celebrities hummed the offerings of the suppers which had been forced to leave the game many expressions of sympathy were heard. Even supporters of the beaneaters felt for the hero of former series when Mack was forced to disregard precedent and pull him from the mound.

FRENCH AMERICAN VOLUNTEERS
Will Hold Biennial Convention in This City—One Hundred and Twenty-five Delegates Will Attend

The biennial convention of the French American Volunteer Brigade of the United States will be held in this city next February. The members of the local guards of the brigade, Georges Fontaine, Honneur, Sacre Coeur, Jacques Cartier and A. G. Cadets will hold a meeting next week and appoint a committee to look after all the details for the convention of the delegates who will come from all parts of New England.

It is expected that about 125 delegates will be present. The affair in all probability will be held at the C. M. A. C. hall and will open on a Sunday. Plans have not yet been formulated, but it is believed the opening of the convention will consist of attending a solemn high mass at St. Joseph's church. A banquet will probably be held in the afternoon and the opening of the convention proper will be in the evening. The convention will last three days and during that time the various delegates will be entertained by their Lowell friends.

100,000 AMERICANS

STILL ABROAD AND LOOKED AFTER BY RELIEF COMMITTEE

LONDON, Oct. 10.—In the last two weeks the American Relief Committee has given financial assistance to 219 persons, making a total of 9595 to date. During this period, something like 6000 Americans were embarked from the islands for the United States, bringing the total of departures up to more than 100,000 since war was declared. "It is evident that the American tourists have pretty well returned home," said H. C. Hoover, chairman of the committee today. A small but steady stream of people, however, have been marooned in obscure corners of the world.

"For example, in the last day or two one man had been helped along by American authorities from as far as Mosambique, another from Astrakhan, and a third from Calcutta. This small stream of American travelers will probably be flowing into London from out of the way places for some months.

"Another situation, however, has presented itself to the committee which will require its activities throughout the war. A resident colony of about 100,000 Americans in Europe, comprising officials and professional and mercantile classes, are nearly all able to take care of themselves, but a considerable number employed in minor occupations have suffered from a serious dislocation of their resources. They will be on their feet again, though, as soon as there is any revival of business.

"As all European nations have a sufficient drain upon them in looking after their own countrymen, the care of such Americans must rest on our citizens, for we cannot see our countrymen and countrywomen starve. The distress in this connection probably will increase throughout the war, and so far as we can see, the committee is going to have as much as it can deal with.

"Such a large part of the more well-to-do Americans has left the continent that this committee is compelled to assist some of the local committees there in their local problems, and we have, therefore, been obliged to extend our field beyond Great Britain itself. "Our resources are already overstrained and we shall need to appeal to our countrymen at home for assistance."

BENDER, FIRST ATHLETIC PITCHER TO BE FORCED TO QUIT IN SERIES

PHOTOS BY AMERICAN PRESS ASSOCIATION

Chief Bender, the famous Indian twirler who has pitched Connie Mack's Philadelphia American team to so many victories and who, before yesterday's game, was looked upon as a sure winner in whatever games he started in the world series now, met with a terrible bombardment at the hands of the Boston Braves.

The leader of the Athletics' pitching staff was hammered savagely, yielding eight hits in five and one-third innings. In the sixth session, after Mack had watched his delivery batted all over the lot, so to speak, he was derided from the mound.

Besides the humiliation of being knocked out of the box in a world series contest Bender also suffered the additional sting of being the first Athletic pitcher to be driven from the rubber in a world championship game.

In spite of what the Braves did to him yesterday it is safe to say that the famous Redskin will be seen in action in another game in the series.

COLUMBUS DAY EVENTS

Local Knights Observe Day—Will Parade in Haverhill—Program of Parade in Afternoon

The 422d anniversary of the discovery of America by Christopher Columbus will be observed in an informal way in Lowell Monday. This being a legal holiday practically all business in the mills and other manufacturing concerns, as well as the clerks with the exception of those employed in meat and provision stores, will be given an entire holiday.

The city hall clerks will enjoy their liberty from noon today until Tuesday morning. The mail carriers were informed to remain at home all day Monday, while the clerks in the post-office will be kept busy from 8 to 10 a. m.

Haverhill will celebrate the day on a large scale and a large number of Lowell people will journey to the city to participate in the celebration. The entire membership of the Lowell council, Knights of Columbus will go to Haverhill, escorted by the Lowell Cadet band and will take part in the monster parade to be held under the auspices of the knights of that city.

Local Observance

However, the Lowell knights did not want to let the day pass by without having a celebration of some sort in this city and accordingly they have made arrangements for a brief parade and church service. According to the program the knights will assemble in their quarters in Anne street at 9:15 a. m. and fifteen minutes later, headed by the Lowell Cadet band, they will march to St. Peter's church in Gorton street, where a high mass will be celebrated at 10 o'clock by the chaplain of the council, Rev. W. George Mullin, who will also deliver the sermon.

A pretty ceremony will be held in the church prior to the mass, when a handsome large American flag will be blessed. The flag was recently purchased by the council and arrangements were made to have the national colors blessed as soon as the knights reach the church. The officiating clergyman at the exercises will be Rev. Fr. Mullin. The new flag will be carried in the parade at Haverhill.

At the close of the mass the members will repair to their respective homes for dinner and are all to return to the hall in Anne street at 12:30 o'clock. The line will again be formed and the procession will proceed to the Middlesex street station, where at 12:45 o'clock a special train will be boarded for Haverhill. The friends and relatives of the knights who would like to go to Haverhill on Monday are invited to ride on the special train as arrangements have been made for cut-siders.

Sports

In the forenoon a football game will be played at Spalding park between the Lowell high school team and the Lawrence academy five. The game will be called at 10 o'clock and it is believed the contest will be a live one.

Golf Tournaments
The Vesper Country, Longmeadow and Mt. Pleasant clubs will hold golf tournaments in the afternoon. At the Bunting club grounds in South Lowell a football game and field athletics will be held at 2:30 o'clock.

World's Series

The world's series game in Boston will attract many fans from this city, who have been fortunate enough to secure tickets, while The Sun announcing and bulletin service will give the details to the fans who stay at home.

The Haverhill Observance

With plans completed by the various committees and invitations accepted by councils of the order in several cities of the New England States and New Hampshire it is expected that the parade of the Knights of Columbus to be held in Haverhill Monday in honor of the discoverer of America will be one of the best of its kind ever held in Essex county. From reports received from the councils to whom invitations to join in the parade had been extended about 1200 men will be in line. The parade is being held under the auspices of Haverhill council No. 202 which has made elaborate arrangements for it. ON CHARGE OF PERJURY

REV. FRANCIS PALMER GIVES $1000

BONDS IN SACO, ME., FOR APPEARANCE NEXT FRIDAY

SACO, Oct. 10.—Rev. Francis Palmer of Trenton, N. J., who was arrested a week ago on complaint of his brother, Clinton C. Palmer, a lawyer of Biddeford, was in court yesterday on charge of perjury, but by agreement of both parties the hearing was continued until next Friday at 2 p. m. Rev. Mr. Palmer furnished $1000 bonds for his appearance.

The case is the outcome of litigation over the estate of Elizabeth C. Palmer, mother of Francis and Clinton. She died in Kennebunkport in 1907 leaving considerable property. Rev. Mr. Palmer, Chase Palmer of Washington, D. C., and Chase Dastman of Boston were executors of the will.

The statement, on which the charge of perjury is based, was made about three years ago, when a hearing in connection with the estate was being held. A number of witnesses have been summoned.

BOSTON RESERVE BANK

BOSTON, Oct. 10.—Alfred L. Allen, president of the Worcester National bank, has been selected as governor of the federal reserve bank of Boston, it was announced today. Mr. Allen will assume his new duties immediately. Temporary offices of the federal reserve bank have been opened at 101 Milk street.

IN POLICE COURT

Police court this morning was of short duration, but few cases being upon the docket. It was an easy day for the court officials.

Frank (Phiney) Doyle, the local pugilist, charged with assault and battery upon an old man several months ago, once more appeared on continuance today.

The old man upon whom the alleged assault was committed, is still in the hospital.

Michael F. O'Hair, a husky young citizen, will neither work nor keep sober, said his father this morning, when the son was arraigned for drunkenness.

Judge Enright gave the young man a lecture, telling him to keep away from his father and imposing a suspended sentence of six months in the house of correction.

Alimony Tye, counsel for the defense, asked for another continuance. The Boyle case will again be brought up on Oct. 17.

There were as usual several drunks who were disposed of in the usual way.

BODY FROM RIVER

IDENTIFIED TODAY AS THAT OF WILLIAM GAUTHIER OF SWIFT STREET

The body of the unknown man found floating in the Merrimack river last yesterday afternoon has been identified as that of William Gauthier, aged 30 years, of 53 Swift street, this city. Gauthier was reported missing about a week ago and all efforts on the part of the police and relatives to locate him were fruitless. A description of the man found floating in the river tallied with that of Gauthier and last night a brother of the missing man, Fred J. Gauthier of this city, identified the body at a Lawrence morgue. Deceased was a weaver by trade and was a member of Court St. Antonio, C. O. F. He is survived by three sisters and a brother.

THE R. I. PROGRESSIVES

TWO FACTIONS OF PARTY HAVE

CANDIDATES—HUGHES MEN TO CARRY FIGHT TO THE COURTS

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Oct. 10.—Progressives led by Albert H. Hughes, the party candidate for governor in 1912, arranged today for state and congressional conventions tonight. Another faction of the progressives made nominations a week ago.

The Hughes men planned to endorse republican candidates. They announced their intention of carrying to the courts the fight to decide which of the progressive tickets should be placed on the ballots.

ST. MARGARET'S PARISH

WILL HOLD CONCERT AND DANCE

ON MONDAY EVENING—PROGRAM OF CONCERT

St. Margaret's church will hold a concert and dance in Lincoln hall on Monday evening, Oct. 12, and from the interest being shown throughout the parish and, in fact, throughout the city, a real good time is anticipated. The concert program is as follows: Selections by the orchestra; songs by Joseph Eagan, Vera Moody, Richard Donahue, Linwood Knapp and Anna Latham; piano solo by Louis N. Guilbault; character dance by Miss Ethel Howard, and an exhibition of the modern dances by Miss Blanche Perrin. Following the concert, general dancing will be enjoyed until midnight. William E. Hennessey will be chairman of the evening.

GUILD TO TAKE STUMP

WILL SPEAK WITH McCALL AT

FORMAL OPENING OF REPUBLICAN CAMPAIGN

BOSTON, Oct. 10.—Arrangement of rallies and speaking dates completed by the republican state committee provide for the appearance of ex-Gov. Curtis Guild on the same platform with Hon. Samuel W. McCall, candidate for governor, in the rink at New Bedford next Tuesday night, when the campaign officially opens. Mr. Guild will also appear at the annual dinner of the Republican club at Natick, to be held Thursday night, Oct. 22.

Wednesday night J. F. Lockett of Boston will address the Rockland Republican club, and the same evening local candidates will speak at a smoke talk in Ashland. Congressman Samuel E. Winslow will be the chief speaker at a rally in Hopkinton, Oct. 19.

MATRIMONIAL

Mr. Earl Revere McLeod and Miss Gertrude Jane Anderson were united in marriage at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James K. Anderson, 208 Moore street, by Rev. J. E. Dinsmore, assistant pastor of the First Baptist church. The bride was attended by Miss Agnes Fallow of Lawrence and the best man was Mr. Joseph W. McLeod of Wentworth, N. H., brother of the bridegroom. Following the reception a supper was served, after which Mr. and Mrs. McLeod left on an extended wedding tour.

DUTTON—JONES

Harry A. Dutton, formerly of Chelmsford and Miss Carrie Josephine Jones, of Quincy were married Wednesday, the ceremony being performed at the home of the bride in Quincy by Rev. Mr. Sayre. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Ethel Ball, while the best man was a brother of the bridegroom, Charles H. Dutton. The couple will make their home in Quincy.

BIG SHARK KILLED

Hull Fisherman Fired 7 Shots Into It—Desperate Battle

HULL, Oct. 10.—A shark, at least 10 feet long, was killed in the waters of Gun Rock Cove, a popular bathing resort, yesterday noon by Edwin Hatch after he fired seven shots into it. Hatch noted the fin of the shark protruding from the water near the shore. Seizing his gun the fisherman leaped into a skiff and rowed toward the huge fish, firing a shot at it. This wounded the shark, which promptly attacked the skiff, overturning it and throwing Hatch into the water. The fisherman succeeded in climbing into the boat and the battle was renewed.

Those members of the summer colony who still go in bathing at Gun Rock Cove declare they would never bathe again in such dangerous waters.

INDICT ELOPER EISMAN

GRAND JURY REPORTED 30 TRUE BILLS—STATE FARM COMMENDED—TRUE BILL IN AXE MURDER

PLYMOUTH, Oct. 10.—After being in session all the week, the Plymouth county grand jury reported last yesterday afternoon with 30 true bills, 17 of which were important.

Among the bills was the case of Louis Eisman of Hull, charged with abducting Fern Hallinan, daughter of John Hallinan, July 24, 1914.

The complaint under which the case went to the grand jury was made by Joseph Hallinan, and charged Eisman with enticing from her home Fern Hallinan, an unmarried woman.

Commends State Farm
A number of people curious to know the result of the grand jury's deliberations including several members of the present. Still another matter of importance was among the findings, the investigation began about six months ago, by District Attorney Albert E. Baker in the matter of alleged cruelties and misconduct of the officials of the State Farm.

A paper signed by each member of the grand jury was filed with Judge Hugo A. Dubuque stating that after careful investigation no evidence of any nature tending to support the allegation had been found and further stating that the Brigadier state farm was a credit to the community and commonwealth.

Indictment of Murder

An indictment of murder was found against Peter Goncalves of Halifax, charged with the murder of his brother, Vincent Goncalves with an axe August 16.

A bill was also found against John L. Butler of Boston, charged with assault with intent to murder Mary A. Gaudin at Brockton July 23. This case is one that caused quite a stir in Brockton at the time.

Miss Fielding was found in a room at Hotel Victoria bleeding profusely from razor slashes in her wrist. Butler was arrested and charged with the deed, evidence supporting the complaint being secured tending to show that the couple had come to Brockton and registered. It is alleged.

Court will convene Tuesday with one of the largest dockets on record in Plymouth county.

CHINESE REPUBLIC FLAG

FLOATED IN SUNSHINE TODAY

FROM SUN BUILDING FLAG POLE

Under the Stars and Stripes that floated from the top of The Sun building this morning waved a smaller flag that at first glance looked like a duplicate. Closer scrutiny, however, revealed that the smaller flag had no stars and that its bars were five in number and colored respectively, from top to bottom, red, yellow, blue, white and black. It is the flag of the new Chinese republic and the colors symbolically represent the five ancient races that comprise modern China: Chinese, Manchus, Mongols, Tibetans and Mohammedans.

Today is the third anniversary of the outbreak of the revolution at Wu Chang from which modern China dates its independence. Last year the occasion was celebrated with great pomp and ceremony through the flowery kingdom, but today China feels oppressed by the European war and is facing a serious situation. It is not probable, therefore, that the holiday will be observed with the usual solemnity, but those who fought and won Chinese liberty will be encouraged to protect what was so dearly gained. Since the outbreak of war in Europe the flags floated from The Sun building have taken on a new significance as is evidenced by the many personal and telephone enquiries that come to the Sun office.

ACCUSED OF ASSASSINATION

VENICE, Oct. 9, via Paris, Oct. 10.—The trial of persons accused of the assassination of the emperor of Austria, Francis Ferdinand and his consort, the Duchess of Hohenburg, will begin in Sarajevo on Monday before superior court Judge Von Curniald. It is expected to last about three weeks. There are 26 prisoners, most of whom are Serbians. Ten of the prisoners are under 20 years of age.

The indictment covers 27 printed pages and charges high treason. It further alleges that evidence obtained proves that the assassination of the archduke was only the means toward other treasonable ends.

COSTS $5 TO CHANGE MIND

BOSTON, Oct. 10.—Harvard university will place a tax on every student who changes his mind after 1 o'clock this afternoon, and those who wish to withdraw from any of the college courses or enter new ones must signify their intention of doing so before the bell sounds at high noon, or they will be charged $5 for every change made after that time.

Today marks the end of the second week since the opening of college, and by this time all students are supposed to know whether they wish to continue in the college courses they elected to study the first day college opened. Those whose minds are made up at an hour later than 1 o'clock will have to contribute $5 to the university's exchequer for each change of mind.

BOWLERS ACTIVE

Lamson League Contests Proved Interesting—Other Matches

The Nonpareils took their game from the Sweep Offs and the Preferred defeated the Pneumatics in the two Lamson league contests rolled at Klitredge's alleys last night. Pauley was high man.

In the Lawrence Co. league the Tarn Dept. won from the Stocking Knit in a well bowled match. The Paper Box Five won from the Hose finishers while Team One took the measure of Team Two. Pigeon and Trudelle did some sterling rolling in the first mentioned game.

The Single Men lost a close match to the Married Men and the Olympics defeated the Climbers in another good contest. Moran's 287 was high in the latter match. The scores:

SLEEPYTIME TALES

THE TIMID CHICKS

Once upon a time there was a very pretty looking little bantam hen which had a family of six of the cutest bantam chickens you ever saw. They were not bigger than very small mice and were also nice and fluffy.

When they were born it was a beautiful and warm day even though it was late in the Fall and the chickens thought that this world was nothing but sunlight, and happiness and warmth.

One night, however, when they were tucked up under mother's wings, the weather grew very, very cold and when they awoke it was freezing. This was the first time the chickens had been at all cold so they didn't know what to do.

Mother hen told them it was coming winter and they would have to get used to the cold weather if they wanted to live.

The first morning it was cold they went out with their mother and were very surprised to find the ground all covered with a slippery shiny coating which their mother told them was ice. They were very timid about going on the ice because when their little feet touched it out they went from under them and down they would come, bang! on the glassy surface.

Then they would run to mother hen crying: "Peep, peep, peep!" to be kissed and cuddled until they forgot the awful bump on the ice.

After a while they got very brave and would not only step on the ice but would take a long run and slide almost three or four inches, which to a little bantam chicken, you know, seems as long as a big slide to you.

They had a very nice time and after that every time it was cold they would tease their mother very hard to go out and slide on the ice.

LAW FIRMS BILL AGAINST THE PARKER ESTATE—WILL WAS CONTESTED BY DR. GAY

BOSTON, Oct. 10.—In the final account of the New England Trust company as special administrator of the $500,000 estate of Benjamin W. Parker, molasses broker, whose will was contested by his nephew, Dr. Frederick P. Gay of California, the law firm of Taylor, Corneau & Ames asks for $62,500 for services. The contest is ended, having been abandoned after a jury upheld the will.

The firm charges $3750 for drawing the will, $2750 for advice and services to the Trust company as special administrator and $50,000 for defending the will in the probate, supreme and superior courts. Michael J. Dwyer, former assistant district attorney, acted for the firm.

Dr. Gay was cut off in the will with $500. A compromise by which he was to receive $100,000 was reached among the heirs, but the Trust company as executor objected and was upheld by the courts.

BUNTING CLUB SPORTS

Fine weather on Columbus day is all that is required to make the athletic carnival at Bunting park, given under the auspices of the Bunting Cricket club, a big success. The management has completed arrangements to handle the thousands of people who will visit Bunting park Monday afternoon to see one of the greatest aggregations of star runners ever seen at any athletic meet held in New England this season. If the weather is good fully 50,000 people will be in attendance. A full report by innings of the baseball game between the Boston Braves and Philadelphia Phillies, will be given by megaphone to the crowd, so that baseball fans can go to the races and get the latest returns while watching the sports.

THE TIMID CHICKS

Once upon a time there was a very pretty looking little bantam hen which had a family of six of the cutest bantam chickens you ever saw. They were not bigger than very small mice and were also nice and fluffy.

When they were born it was a beautiful and warm day even though it was late in the Fall and the chickens thought that this world was nothing but sunlight, and happiness and warmth.

One night, however, when they were tucked up under mother's wings, the weather grew very, very cold and when they awoke it was freezing. This was the first time the chickens had been at all cold so they didn't know what to do.

Mother hen told them it was coming winter and they would have to get used to the cold weather if they wanted to live.

The first morning it was cold they went out with their mother and were very surprised to find the ground all covered with a slippery shiny coating which their mother told them was ice. They were very timid about going on the ice because when their little feet touched it out they went from under them and down they would come, bang! on the glassy surface.

Then they would run to mother hen crying: "Peep, peep, peep!" to be kissed and cuddled until they forgot the awful bump on the ice.

After a while they got very brave and would not only step on the ice but would take a long run and slide almost three or four inches, which to a little bantam chicken, you know, seems as long as a big slide to you.

They had a very nice time and after that every time it was cold they would tease their mother very hard to go out and slide on the ice.

LAW FIRMS BILL AGAINST THE PARKER ESTATE—WILL WAS CONTESTED BY DR. GAY

BOSTON, Oct. 10.—In the final account of the New England Trust company as special administrator of the $500,000 estate of Benjamin W. Parker, molasses broker, whose will was contested by his nephew, Dr. Frederick P. Gay of California, the law firm of Taylor, Corneau & Ames asks for $62,500 for services. The contest is ended, having been abandoned after a jury upheld the will.

The firm charges $3750 for drawing the will, $2750 for advice and services to the Trust company as special administrator and $50,000 for defending the will in the probate, supreme and superior courts. Michael J. Dwyer, former assistant district attorney, acted for the firm.

BUNTING CLUB SPORTS

Fine weather on Columbus day is all that is required to make the athletic carnival at Bunting park, given under the auspices of the Bunting Cricket club, a big success. The management has completed arrangements to handle the thousands of people who will visit Bunting park Monday afternoon to see one of the greatest aggregations of star runners ever seen at any athletic meet held in New England this season. If the weather is good fully 50,000 people will be in attendance. A full report by innings of the baseball game between the Boston Braves and Philadelphia Phillies, will be given by megaphone to the crowd, so that baseball fans can go to the races and get the latest returns while watching the sports.

GIRL HURLED FROM AUTO LANDS IN TRAIN'S PATH

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 10.—Earl Hamilton, pitcher for the St. Louis Americans, and five girls were seriously injured in an automobile accident on the East St. Louis end of the Eads bridge here early today.

Hamilton suffered a scalp wound, three broken ribs and other internal injuries. One of the girls was thrown clear of the bridge falling onto the railroad tracks, 40 feet below. She fell directly in the way of an approaching train and would have been ground fine but for the prompt action of a flagman, who saw her fall, signalled the train to stop and then pulled the unconscious girl from the track. Two of the girls gave their names as Pearl Kelly. The others were Misses Rose Burke, Nellie Wallace and Evelyn Roy, all of St. Louis. All of them suffered internal injuries and together with Hamilton were taken to a hospital in East St. Louis. Hamilton was to play in the city series here today. The accident occurred when the automobile owned and driven by Hamilton crashed into the heavy wooden partition separating the upper deck of the bridge from the railroad tracks. The machine was demolished.

GERMANS TAKE BELGIAN STRONGHOLD AFTER TEN DAYS OF BOMBARDMENT

LONDON, Oct. 10.—An official message from Berlin states that Antwerp has fallen, according to a Central News despatch from Amsterdam. The siege of Antwerp which culminated in its fall yesterday, began on Sept. 23, so that the Germans took just ten days to reduce the formidable fortifications which surrounded the temporary capital of the Belgians. The Germans had, however, for a long time previously prepared the way for the attack on Antwerp by taking a number of towns in its vicinity. The first direct attack on the Antwerp fortifications was that against the forts at Wassen and Yverre-St. Catherine. These were reduced in a couple of days by the aid of the big stake guns. Meanwhile, the forts at Lierre and Kookshoyck had also been attacked and these and others of the outside line of fortifications were taken last week. The last few days have seen the fighting advance to the inner line of forts and along the Scheldt, principally at Schoonmeers. At the last named place severe fighting occurred for several days but the superior artillery of the Germans gradually forced the Belgians back until in the last day or two the fighting had reached practically to the suburbs of Antwerp. On Wednesday, Oct. 7, came reports that the Belgian government was moving to Ostend, and that the population was fleeing in terror and panic toward the Holland frontier. Zeppelin bomb attacks which did much damage and killed scores of people added to the terror of the inhabitants.

The German forces who have taken Antwerp are said to consist of five army corps. They were under the command of Gen. Hans H. Von Beseler, a veteran of the War of 1870, who was taken from his retirement to do the work of reducing Antwerp. General De Guise was in command of the Belgian defenders. King Albert aided them by his personal direction almost to the last, having quit Antwerp according to reports yesterday morning, probably when the end was seen.

BIG PAVING BLOCK CONTRACT AWARDED

The contract for 250,000 paving blocks, more or less, has been awarded to the Hildreth Granite Co., of Graniteville. Commissioner Morse called for two sizes, 8 to 12 inches and 8 to 12 inches. There were only two bidders, the Hildreth company and L. P. Palmer. The bids were as follows: Hildreth Granite Co., on 8 to 12 inch blocks, $37 a thousand; 8 to 12 inch, $18 a thousand. L. P. Palmer, 8 to 12 inch, $43.50 a thousand. It was optional with Mr. Morse as to which of the two sizes he would accept and he decided upon the smaller, the 8 to 12, and that turned the scales in favor of the Hildreth Granite Co., despite the fact that Palmer's bid on the large block, the 8 to 12 inch, was $4.50 below the Hildreth company's bid, while the Hildreth company's bid on the smaller sized block was only $1 a thousand below Mr. Palmer's bid.

The price paid last year was $1.19 a square yard, pretty nearly 4 cents a block, while the price per block this year is about 3 cents and 7 mills. The bids were opened in the purchasing agent's office this forenoon in Agent Foley's office, the purchasing agent, and the city solicitor. The following is a copy of the specifications: Sealed proposals addressed to the purchasing agent will be received at his office in city hall, Lowell, Mass., until 10 a. m., Saturday, Oct. 10, 1914, for furnishing and delivering 250,000 paving blocks, two hundred and fifty thousand (250,000) paving blocks, more or less, the price to be paid for the same to be ascertained by the city solicitor, according to the following dimensions and specifications: The paving blocks to be of the best quality granite blocks and to be from eight (8) inches to twelve (12) inches in length, ascertained by the city solicitor, and to be from four (4) inches to four and one-half (4 1/2) inches in width, and from four (4) inches to four and one-half (4 1/2) inches in depth. Also to be from six (6) inches to twelve (12) inches in length, ascertained by the city solicitor, and to be from four (4) inches to four and one-half (4 1/2) inches in width, and from four (4) inches to four and one-half (4 1/2) inches in depth. All edges to be straight and sharp; faces of the stone to be at right angles with each other. All faces to be straight and free from blemishes or depressions, and each and every block to be finished so as to make good work when laid.

THE SUN SERVICE

Lowell Fans Cheered Simultaneously With Those in Shibe Park

Hank Gowdy had hardly put his foot on second bag in the second inning of yesterday's Philadelphia-Braves game in Philadelphia, when several hundred fans standing with eyes riveted on the distributing end of The Sun's big megaphone in Merrimack square, were cheering him lustily. Of course Hank couldn't hear the cheering at that distance, but he got the absent treatment from the assembled Lowell fans, as did the Rabbit a moment later when he scored Hank with his single across second. Straps as it may seem the fans in Lowell were cheering simultaneously with those in Shibe park, 350 miles away. The Sun's service on the game yesterday could not be improved upon for speed and accuracy. Within the short space of a minute the copy of The Sun's baseball extra at the plays that occurred in Philadelphia were made known to the crowd in Merrimack square from the beginning until the last man was out, and then before the crowd had time to get away from The Sun building the baseball extra with the full score was being circulated among them by an army of bustling newsmen. The crowd in Merrimack square received the news of the different plays before thousands of people right in the city of Philadelphia, through the medium of The Sun, and the same excellent service will be given throughout the series. Get down to The Sun building before the game starts so as to follow each play, for the megaphone artist opens up the moment the umpire announces: "The batter for today are, etc.," and he is continually on the job until the last man is out, while directly under him an energetic youth keeps you posted by means of a blackboard on the score by innings and the board on the score together with inter-esting gossip thereof. Later the 7 o'clock edition comes out, with not only a complete account of the game, but also the official box score. Come down and hear the returns and get a copy of The Sun's baseball extra at the conclusion of the game.

CHILD DROWNED

Louis Hionakos, Eight Years Old, Fell Into Canal From Bridge

While leaning over the railing of the Market street bridge last evening, eight-year-old Louis Hionakos, son of Mr. and Mrs. Pierros Hionakos of Dummer street, fell into the waters of the Suffolk canal and was drowned before residents of that vicinity heard of the accident. A search for the body was begun by Undertaker Albert, but it was not recovered and the search was resumed this morning.

Several children who were sailing small boats in the canal were the only witnesses of the drowning. They claim that Louis was sitting on the bridge railing watching the boats sail about when he suddenly lost his balance and fell onto the banking and then into the water. The boys did not realize the danger of the situation and failed to notify the men who were gathered about the stores in upper Market street. When he failed to appear, however, the news was spread, but it was then too late to save the boy's life. Several volunteers dragged the canal, but their efforts were fruitless.

Louis was the only child of Mr. and Mrs. Pierros Hionakos, the former a well known Market street barber.

WALTER E. GUYETTE, Auctioneer OFFICE 53 CENTRAL STREET, LOWELL, MASS. TELEPHONE 2415 PUBLIC AUCTION SALE OF A TWO STORY HOUSE, BARN AND ABOUT 7000 SQ. FT. OF LAND ON THE CORNER OF "C" AND POWELL STREETS, BEING NO. 7 ON "C" STREET On Saturday, October 17, 1914, at 3 o'clock I have instructed the auctioneer to offer at absolute auction sale my two story house and stable, situated very attractively on the corner of C and Powell streets, containing seven large rooms, besides bath, hot and cold water, sewer, gas, city water, etc. The property is in A-1 condition. The stable has a large stall and plenty of carriage room. The lot has a combined frontage on the two streets of about 170 feet and the total area of about 7000 square feet. On the lot is an abundance of fruit of all kinds. The location is exceptionally good, the property being but three minutes' walk of the Chelmsford street line of electric. It is also close to the well known Shaw hosiery, and in the heart of a quiet residential section, where about everyone owns his own home. The fact that the property lies on the corner of two wide streets makes the place present a most attractive appearance. If you are contemplating the buying of a home and wish to have a good garden spot and be in a first class locality where it will require but a little money you should surely attend this sale. A most rare mortgage can remain. Terms: $300 must be paid to the auctioneer just as soon as the property is struck. Make all inquiries at the office of the auctioneer. LILLA F. HOLMAN.

C. F. KEYES Auctioneer OFFICE, OLD B. & M. DEPOT, STOREHOUSE AND COMMISSION ROOMS GREEN STREET, TELEPHONE 1485

Next Saturday, Oct. 17th, at 3 o'clock A VERY CHOICE BUILDING SITE AT THE CORNER OF HIGH AND SHERMAN STREETS, CONTAINING 7800 SQ. FT. OF LAND On the premises, regardless of any condition of the weather, I shall offer for absolute sale the above lot, with a frontage of 65 feet of High street and 120 feet on Sherman street, making an area of about 7800 square feet. It is high and dry. This is one of the best improved lots in this section of the city. There is ample room for a house, facing High street, and also one on Sherman street, and that was the intention of the present owners. If you want to locate in Belvidere, here is your opportunity to purchase a nice lot. Terms: $200 to be paid as soon as struck off. C. F. KEYES, Auctioneer.

Next Saturday, Oct. 17th, at 3.30 o'clock ADMINISTRATOR'S SALE OF THE SULLIVAN ESTATE, NO. 38, 40 AND 42 KEENE ST., 2 1/2 STORY HOUSE, SLATED ROOF; 2 STORY COTTAGE HOUSE AND ABOUT 4100 SQ. FT. OF LAND IN ONE PARCEL By virtue of a license granted to me by the Probate court, I shall offer for absolute sale on the premises, regardless of any conditions of the weather, the above property. Two tenement house, No. 38 and 40, is two and a half story, slated roof. Each tenement has six rooms, bath, pantry, set tubs, hot and cold water cemented cellar, separate front doors and lighted throughout by gas. This house was built by the late Mr. Sullivan a few years ago and is in excellent shape inside and out. It is occupied by two first class tenants and rents for $235 a year. HOUSE OF NO. 42—Two story cottage, with six rooms to one tenement and seven to the other. This rents for $192 a year, making a total of about $528 a year. Now, then, here is chance for the home-seeker of the speculator, one that would prove a safe and sound investment. Tenements in this location always rent well, as there are many large industries located within 10 minutes' walk of the property. Terms: $450 paid to the auctioneer as soon as struck off. JOHN E. SULLIVAN, Administrator of the Estate.

O'Sullivan Says:

I consider the "buy a barrel of apples" proposition has more significance to Lowell and vicinity than the "buy a bale of cotton" slogan of the South.

To start this "buy a barrel of apples" proposition the Merrimack Clothing Co. has arranged to give a barrel of selected Baldwin apples delivered at your home free within the limits of Lowell, with every man and boys' suit or overcoat at any price from $5.00 upwards. You understand, of course, that $5.00 applies to the boys' suits or overcoats; men's suits and overcoats are practically from $10 upwards, the exception being the all hand made blue serge rough rider suits at $9.50.
